Assessor Asks Big Pay Boost

Wheeling Township Assessor John T. Peters asked the township board of auditors Tuesday night to raise his salary by $3,500 a year—from $7,500 to $11,000, the maximum allowed by law.

Peters' request was presented to the board by his father, Albert C. Peters, who is township supervisor.

The board, after discussing the request and hearing comments both pro and con from one of two private citizens attending the meeting, voted to table the request. Mrs. Ethel Kolerus of Mount Prospect, the auditor offering the tabling motion, explained that it would "give the board time to think about it."

Her tabling motion passed 2-1, with Auditor Merle Willis of Wheeling voting to table and Auditor Robert Cagann of Arlington Heights opposing the delay.

CAGANN HAD offered the motion that would have raised the assessor's salary to $11,000. Willis seconded Cagann's motion, but said he was doing so in order to have it discussed.

Assessor Peters has been serving a four-year term at a salary of $7,500 per year. This salary was fixed by the board of auditors before the term began and was the maximum which could be paid by a township of this size at that time.

His new term, to which he was elected in April, will begin Jan. 1, and the board of auditors must set his salary at least 30 days before the term begins. They could approve the present salary for another four-year term, or raise it to $11,000 — the maximum possible under 1963-approved salary ranges based on the township's present population. Or they could set an in-between amount.

TOWNSHIP ELECTORS last April approved the younger Peters' job at $7,500 for the fiscal year ending Feb. 28, 1966.

Before the motion on the salary raise was tabled, Willis asked both Peterses to give him information on what salaries other "comparable" townships provided for their assessor.

The younger Peters told him that boards of auditors in both Palatine and Elk Grove Township had already approved assessor's salaries for the next four-year term. He said both had set the salary at the maximum allowable by law.

THE CITIZEN who commented, Herbert Andersen of Wheeling, said at first, "That's a pretty good raise for a part time job."

Told stiffly by Assessor Peters that he devoted full time to his job of assessing personal property — and had "for over two years" — Andersen said, "If that's the only job it's not enough. I don't see how you do it."

"It's been tough!" he was told by the assessor.

Eight Lots Rezoned for Business

Business zoning for eight 25-foot lots on Arlington Heights Road, south of Central Avenue, was approved Tuesday by the Arlington Heights Village Board. Annexation of six of the lots currently outside the village also was approved.

Two of the lots, 50 feet south of Magnolia Street, are owned by a Chicagoan who eventually plans to build an office building there.

THE OTHER six lots, between Central and Magnolia, are owned by Arlington Heights interests who plan to build a chain store. Atty. Eugene Schlickman, representing the owners, said they plan to start on construction this year.

Request for a zoning variation to permit the structure is pending before the zoning board of appeals, and a public hearing has been scheduled at 8 p.m. Sept. 27. Schlickman explained the 100-foot deep lots would not accommodate the building unless a back alley is considered in meeting requirements for transitional yard between zoning districts.

The owners also have requested a variation in off-street parking requirements.

Township Okay Needed for Thomas Paving Assessment

Getting Thomas Street improved by a township special assessment, if the township board of auditors aren't enthusiastic, may be more complicated than Hasbrook Civic Association leaders think.

A new state law, just passed by the General Assembly and signed by Gov. Kerner, gives a township's board of local improvements — made up of the supervisor, auditors and highway commissioner—a "virtual veto" over special assessment projects in unincorporated areas.

So the Wheeling Township Board of Auditors was told Tuesday evening by its attorney, Thomas J. Houser of Arlington Heights.

Improvement of Thomas Street from Wilke to State Road has been a major goal of Hasbrook Civic Association, the homeowners group representing the largest subdivision north of the street.

ALTHOUGH the street runs through Arlington Heights it also abuts unincorporated land under township jurisdiction, and the township and villages have been talking informally about getting the street paved—some way or other—since the spring.

A village engineering study set the Thomas Street improvement cost at $167,840, $99,564 to the township and $68,275 to the village. Adjoining property holders would bear much of the cost, but both township and village would have to provide a "public benefit" share of the financing.

A Hasbrook group determined to see Thomas Street improved has been advised by the Arlington Heights Board of Local Improvements (BOLI) that the township can undertake such a paving project. Members of BOLI told Hasbrook Civic Association president W. E. Morrison that a township special meeting, called by a 15-signature petition, could get the project under way.

No one from Hasbrook was at the auditors meeting to hear Houser explain the new state law.

HOUSER said under the new legislation a special assessment project must be initiated by resolution, either from the township board of local improvements or, he said, "involuntarily," by a petition signed by 50 per cent of the unincorporated property holders abutting the street to be improved.

When the resolution is received, the township BOLI calls a hearing to consider the request. If, after the hearing, the township BOLI approves the project, an ordinance initiating the special assessment proceedings must be passed by electors Apartments at McDonald Rd.

Decision on a 28-acre apartment complex at Rand and Camp McDonald Roads was postponed by the Arlington Heights Village Board Tuesday. But the board scheduled a special meeting at 8 p.m. next Monday to consider the development.

Pending is the planned development layout proposed by developer Joseph Bernstein and approved by the plan commission in a 5 to 2 vote Aug. 25.

The layout includes five four-story and eight two-story buildings with a total of 420 units.

Trustees agreed to settle two questions before voting on the development. One, which caused the split plan commission vote, was over location of one four-story building across the street from a single family residence district.

THE OTHER question was over the donation of cash in lieu of land for public purposes —schools and parks. The tract is in Prospect Heights Elementary District 23 and High School District 214.

The board agreed to the special meeting Monday after a spokesman for the Zale Construction Co. said his firm is "ready to go" on the first phase of the three-stage apartment project, bounded by Camp McDonald, Rand, Olive, Waterman and Dale.

When trustees questioned the location of the one four-story building, architect Gerald Brim of Morton Grove explained, as he did before the plan commission, he felt changing the building location would destroy the balanced, open space aim of the layout. Clustering two of the four-story structures too close together, he said, would give a high rise appearance to the project.

TRUSTEE Frank Palmatier told him, "It seems to me you're asserting only your own interest" and not that of nearby property owners. Brim replied neighbors of the development would benefit from a balanced appearance.

Trustee Roy Bressler, who suggested the continuance, said it would give trustees time to assess the impact of the building on neighbors oustide the village in Prospect Heights.

The cash donation question was raised by Bernstein, who said when the land was annexed earlier this year "the only condition for annexation was that we get a planned development layout approved." The plan commission's favorable recommendation of the layout, however, was hinged on a "suitable offer of money in lieu of land."

VILLAGE PRES. John G. Woods said he believed Bernstein's recollection of the annexation agreement was correct, but he suggested Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel be contacted to verify that.

(In a separate action, District 23 Supt. Louis P. Pansino told the Prospect Heights School Board Tuesday he had informed the village administration the schools hoped for a cash dedication from the project.)

Woods told the trustees they should keep in mind the annexation and development "ties in" with the nearby Old Orchard development. That project, approved by the former Mount Prospect village board and being fought by the present board there, calls for a 1,000 unit high-rise complex.

Bernstein's layout calls for 280 one - bedroom and 140 two-bedroom units. A separate 9.6-acre strip along Rand, zoned for business, is not included in current proposals.

Theft from Building Site

A 34-year-old Arlington Heights man has been charged with the theft of building materials from a construction site at Haddow Avenue and Maude Street shortly before midnight Saturday.

Officers Walter Schreiber and Francis Bischoffer said that while on patrol they saw the man, Kendall D. Jeffries, 1327 E. Thomas St., loading plywood into the rear of a station wagon. The home under construction belongs to the John Stoltzner Construction Co.

Jeffries was released on $25 cash bond, with a Circuit Court hearing set Tuesday on the theft charge.

Vandals Desecrate Historic Cemetery

One of the village's most historic spots — the Arlington Heights Wheeling Township Cemetery — has been the target for several attacks of vandalism.

Seventeen gravestones were overturned and smashed in the third of a series of vandalism strikes cited in a letter in today's Fencepost from the cemetery trustees.

Most recent desecration was in July; cemetery trustees preferred no publicity at the time in case police might catch the vandals returning.

VANDALS HAVE chosen as popular targets some of the oldest and frailest stones in the cemetery, which originated in 1841. Newer stones, however, have not escaped damage.

Cemetery trustees have asked police to arrest anyone found in the cemetery after closing at sundown on a charge of trespassing. They have decided to padlock the gates during closed hours and run a high wire fence around the north, east and west borders.

The cemetery's face, along Euclid, is enclosed by a wrought iron fence. It is located south of Rolling Green Country Club, east of Waterman Avenue.

THE CEMETERY contains such historic names as Dunton, Guild, Banta, Muller, Klehm and Kennicott. It apparently started as a family burial plot for the Kennicotts, with the first burial for Jane Kennicott in 1841.

The Hill Cemetery Association was organized in 1852 to operate the cemetery for the benefit of residents of the town of Dunton, as Arlington Heights was known. In 1875, it became the Dunton Cemetery Association and later the Arlington Heights Cemetery Association.

Its operation subsequently has been turned over to Wheeling Township. There are still lots open in the four-acre, elm shaded tract.

Among the bank of Dunton family markers is a stone for William H. Dunton, credited as the village's founder. The cemetery also holds a Balaam Lee marker. Lee, one of only two Negroes known to have lived in Arlington Heights, was a former slave who came to the village with a returning Civil War veteran and worked on the Klehm farms.

NEITHER THE Dunton nor the Lee markers were disturbed by vandals.

But some older tablets, whose markings have nearly weathered off, were smashed, overturned or loosened. According to one trustee, Elmer Crane, some of the tablets cannot be repaired.

They will be laid flat on the ground. Others will be patched as well as possible.

The Fencepost letter, from Trustees Crane, Henry Schuettler and Claude Williams, urges residents who see vandalism at the cemetery to report it and promises to keep their names confidential.

Tool Company Set to Start

Permits were issued by the building department this week for a start on the new Arlington Heights home of Buhrke Tool & Engraving Co.

The Mount Prospect firm will construct a 25,000 square foot plant between Algonquin Road and the Illinois Toll Highway, west of Arlington Heights Road. The village board in July annexed a 13-acre parcel to accommodate the plant at the request of Fred Buhrke, owner.

Legion '9' Is Fifth In Nation

Arlington Heights finished fifth in the American Legion World Series in Aberdeen S.D., with one victory in three games.

Charlotte, N.C., and Omaha, Neb., the two finalists, posted the victories over Coach Lloyd Meyer's Arlington squad.

Charlotte, runner-up in the World Series in 1964, captured the championship Monday evening with a 2-1 victory over Omaha.

Team members were given a noisy reception when they returned to the village Sunday. Through a din of auto horns and sirens, their caravan led to the Arlington Heights Municipal Building for brief welcoming ceremonies.

Details on the tournament will be found in the sports section.

Colonial Shoppe To Reopen Soon

Schneller's Colonial Shoppe, out of business since May, will be reopened in about 30 days at 31 S. Dunton Aven.

And owner Joseph Schneller hopes to have plans ready to announce by year's end for the development of a department store-tpye complex and high rise at the site, adjacent to his contemporary furniture store.

Schneller acquired the Dunton Avenue property under a long-term lease Sept. 2, after the Von Sydow Allied Van operation's lease expired. The property has been the focus of controversy since last September when the van agency moved there in violation of village zoning ordinances.

The zoning board in January ordered Von Sydow to move out by April 8; when the firm failed to do so, the village took it to court on a zoning complaint but lost its case.

NEIGHBORING merchants complained of the truck traffic in the area.

Schneller, who expected to acquire the building in April, has had his Colonial Shoppe furniture in storage since then. He sold his former Colonial Shoppe at 15 N. Hickory Ave. to the Knights of Columbus.

Schneller was given a Chamber of Commerce commendation for his $65,000 remodeling of the other half of the former Lattof garage, facing S. Evergreen Avenue. Preparation of the interior of the new Colonial Shoppe, he said, should take a month.

Planned are new flooring, partitions, carpeting, heating and lighting. Exterior improvements will be tied into the future development of the site. Schneller eventually plans 50,000 square feet of retail and warehousing space. (A

Lions Give $2,000 to NW Hospital

A $2,000 donation to the Northwest Community Hospital building expansion fund was made by the Arlington Heights Lions Club Tuesday night.

The check was given by Zone Chairman Joseph Schneller to Nicholas Lattof, general fund raising chairman for the hospital, and Ed Baker, Arlington fund chairman. The check was the first payment toward a $5,000 pledge made by the Lions to help finance current expansion. The club donated $10,000 for the original hospital building. (A

Planners Dubious on 2 Bedrooms Plus Den

A hearing on a petition to rezone a small parcel north of Hampton Court apartments from M1 (limited manufacturing) to R5 (multiple family) has been continued to Oct. 6 by the Arlington Heights Plan Commission.

Seeking the change is McHugh Construction Co., developers of Hampton Court. The parcel is 166 feet east of Ridge Avenue and is bordered on the north by the North Western Railway right-of-way.

Plan commission deliberation stalled on the number of units the firm could build on the parcel; a previous vote had ruled out the number requested by McHugh in its planned development layout. The company wanted two buildings with a total of four efficiency units, four one-bedroom units, 16 two bedroom units and eight two-bedroom units with dens.

The plan commission agreed to accept the zoning and dedication of street right-of-way for Eastman and Walnut, removing them from buildable lot area consideration. Commissioners also agreed to regard the efficiencies as one-bedroom units. Efficiencies are not mentioned in the R5 zoning ordinance. The planned efficiencies would have a 925-square-foot size, well over the 600 required for one-bedroom units.

But the commission refused plus-den units as two-bedroom units, deciding they were to be regarded as three-bedroom units. Since required lot size is greater for the larger units, the permitted number of units was reduced by the commission's ruling.

ATTY. FRED Weber representing McHugh, sought the continuance. He said the wall separating the den from the living room might be eliminated and dividers used instead if the commission would classify the units as two-bedroom models.

Of the six three-bedroom units in the existing Hampton Court complex, Weber said, all are currently occupied by couples in their middle ages who use the second bedroom as a guest room and the third bedroom as a den. Dens are in strong demand by such couples, he said.

Weber said the parcel has not been salable for manufacturing purposes, though it has been on the market for some time. It is presently owned by Klehm family interests. (A

Blind Kids' Camp Gets Lions Gift

A gift of $2,500 has been made to Illinois Camp Lions, Inc., by the Arlington Heights Lions Club to rejuvenate a cabin at the Lake Hastings summer camp for blind children.

The camp, near Lake Villa, Ill., gives blind children from throughout Illinois a chance to attend week-long camping activities, including boating, swimming, fishing and trampoline. It stresses self-reliance and physical activity not normally aiailable to blind children.

The cabin will contain a plaque honoring the late Dr. Elfeld, a member of the Arlington Lions Club. Part of the funds for the cabin will come from a scholarship fund Dr. Elfeld established. (A

Southminster Adopts Two-Session Schedule

To meet the demands of a growing congregation and a rapidly expanding program, the Southminster United Presbyterian Church will inaugurate two morning worship services and two sessions of its Sunday Church School. The new schedule goes into effect Sunday, according to Dr. William T. Jones, pastor.

Provisions will be made at the 9:30 o'clock hour for all age groups from crib to adult, and at the 11 o'clock hour for all from crib up to and including sixth grade children. Registrations indicating which session the pupil chooses to attend have been received over the past two weeks by Mrs. F. M. Brasch, 1909 Bonita St., Mount Prospect, secretary of the Sunday School. Further registrations may be made at the church this Sunday.

Newsletter Features Downtown Renovation

Plans for renovation of Arlington Heights downtown area are featured in the Illinois Department of Business and Economic Development Newsletter for August.

The newsletter cites renewal plans unveiled by the Tec-Search professional planning firm and the Downtown Action Committee in June. Hearings on the dramatic plans, which recommend depression of the North Western Railway and Northwest Highway, adoption of a new street pattern and enticement of new developments, are tentatively scheduled for October by the plan commission.

"THE CENTRAL business district of Arlington Heights," the newsletter asserts, "consisting of 60 acres strategically centered at the heart of the village, was rapidly deteriorating because of traffic congestion, auto-pedestrian conflict, unattractiveness, obsolete structures and lack of specialty retail establishments."

Comments the newsletter, "Aside from the dramatic physical features of the downtown plan, the most enlightening and encouraging part of the program is the fact that the business and civic leaders of the village took the initiative in getting the study made and will carry it through by the use of private funds. Plans are already under way (in preliminary discussions between leaders of Action and businessmen) to implement the program through the formation of a nonprofit development corporation of business interests in the community."

Pathologist Lists Reasons

Autopsies Benefit Community, Family

(Editor's note: This article is part of a continuing series prepared with the assistance of the medical staff at Northwest Community Hospital.)

After death, closest relatives are usually asked for permission to do an autopsy. A question frequently asked by the family is, "Why an autopsy?" It is even occasionally asked by the family doctor.

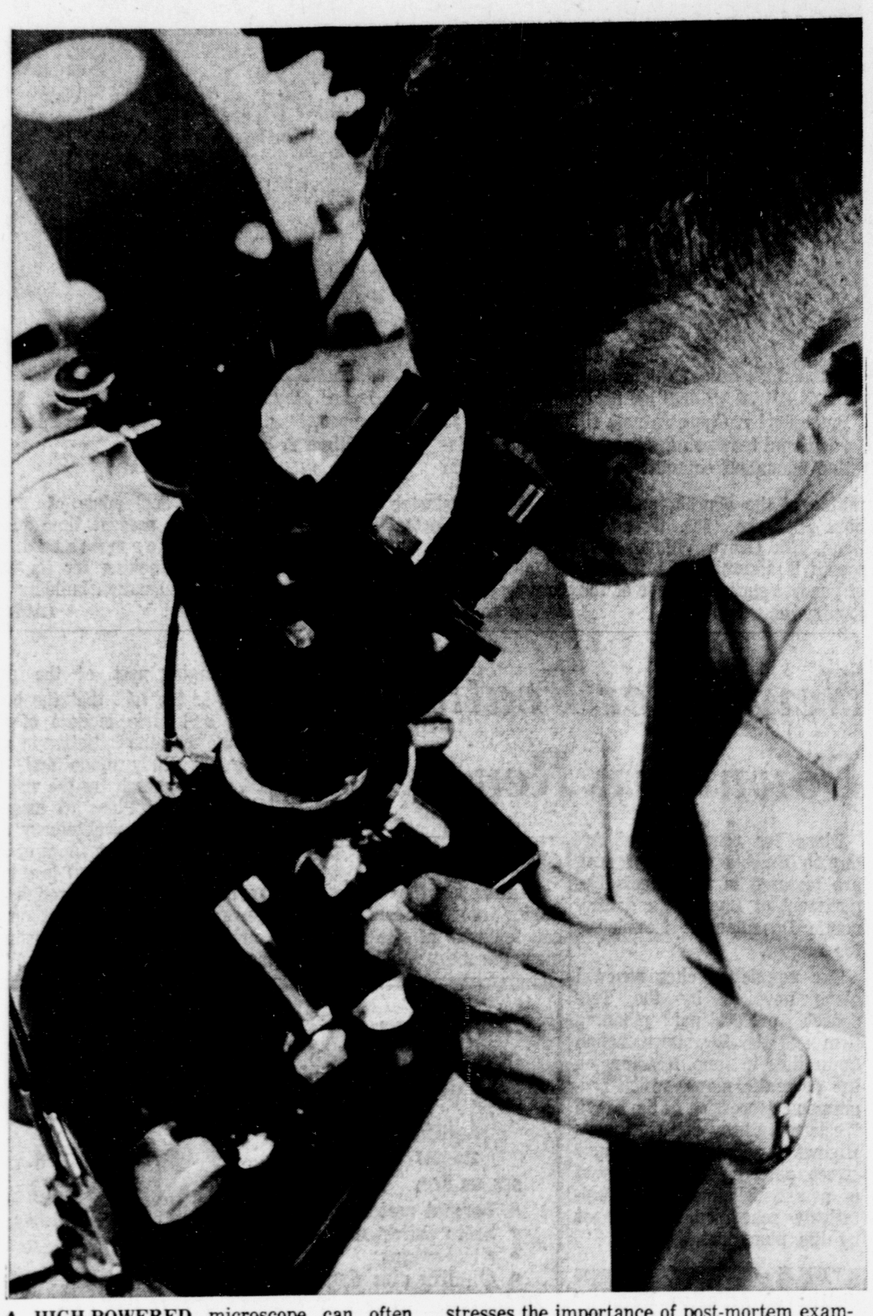
Medical men see a number of reasons. Dr. Thomas Harwood, pathologist at Northwest Community Hospital, answers the question "without attempting to go into the social and psychological aversions" which he says plague everyone.

"AN AUTOPSY IS a scientific search into the immediate cause of death," Harwood explains.

"This is a creditable reason for doing an autopsy, but there are many more important things which are the direct result of an autopsy. We shall discuss these in the approximate order of importace to the community as a whole, the family and the individual.

"First, the autopsy or post-mortem examination is a research and education project. Without autopsy studies medicine would still lag many years behind. The high status of Germanic medicine in the pre-World War I days was credited to a state law that every death required an autopsy.

"It is important in the understanding of the causes of disease. Much of our present knowledge about different diseases has been obtained by intelligent observations at the autopsy table.



A HIGH-POWERED microscope can often make visible the cause of death not readily apparent to physicians. Pathologist Dr. Thomas Harwood of Northwest Community Hospital stresses the importance of post-mortem examinations to the community and family of the deceased. (Staff Photo) (A-15

"MUCH OF WHAT we know about tuberculosis, typhoid fever, cholera and other infectious diseases has been gained by observations made at the time of post-mortem examination.

"Most of what we know about cancer and heart disease has been the direct result of observation at autopsy, in some cases, followed by intelligent animal experimentation.

"An example is the present state of medical knowledge about poliomyelitis. Our first knowledge came with reliable data accumulated at the autopsy table. We found that the primary problem was destruction of certain nerve cells in the spinal cord and brain stem.

"We next found that the causative organism was a filterable agent which we now call a virus. We had to wait until leading autopsy pathologists showed us how to grow viruses before we could go further.

Another pathologist then grew polio virus in tissue cultures of monkey kidney and received the Nobel Prize for his work. Subsequently Sabin and Dr. Jonas Salk prepared vaccines which enable us to control this crippling disease of children.

"Here we see the good of autopsies for the whole of humanity.

"A SECOND reason for autopsies is the good of the local community.

"A person who dies of undiagnosed tuberculosis may have had contact with many members of the community. What sort of disaster might occur if this were not discovered?

"Today the public health service (both United States and local) is constantly battling for the betterment of the health of all of us. They should have the support of local hospitals, doctors and the public.

"A third reason is the health of the family unit.

"In many ways we are the product genetically of our ancestors. More and more diseases are now known to be hereditary or at least to have some sex-linked traits.

"IT IS CERTAINLY for the betterment of the family group to have some knowledge of those disease traits which might be passed to others of the family. Examples are diabetes, rheumatic fever, certain types of cancers and possibly even heart disease. An even better example of hereditary disease is hemophilia which may be present among some of us.

"Through autopsy findings the family also could be prepared to guard against an infectious disease if knowledge of the disease were present before it struck.

"There also is the necessity of post-mortem examinations by a medical examiner. These examinations are done, or are supposed to be done, in all cases which affect the community as a whole.

"UNFORTUNATELY, in Illinois, this means only 'violent death.' In spite of the fact that the community may be more affected by the unexplained death of any individual than the murder of a citizen, our coroner's system deems it necessary to restrict itself to 'violent deaths.'

"Sometimes a question of religious conviction arises, but nowhere in any of the writings of the world's major religions is found any prohibition of post-mortem examinations.

"It is a fact that a post-mortem examination cannot be performed without the consent of the person responsible for burial, usually the next of kin. Our law is based on an old English common law which states that the body of a deceased belongs to the next of kin, and anyone touching the body of a deceased individual without permission is liable for prosecution for assault.

"This is the reason for autopsy permits. The only exceptions are those covered under the coroner's system or medical examiner's system.

"THESE ARE the main reasons your family doctor should ask for permission to do an autopsy.

"In a certain sense, every autopsy is one more brick in the wall of medical information to improve our existence on this earth.

"We may all benefit from the concept that the dead contribute to the knowledge of those they leave behind." (B10

Scout Describes Five Days on Mountain Trail

Raid by Bears Is Highlight of Hike

(Editor's Note: This summer a group of Boy Scouts from the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council made a special trek to Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico. Each paid his own way, including transportation, equipment, uniforms and ranch fees. In the group was Bill Balaz Jr., 15, a sophomore at St. Viator High School and an Eagle Scout, who lives at 1106 Milburn, Mount Prospect. In the following article he tells of the mountain hike he and his fellow scouts took through the rugged New Mexico terrain.

by BILL BALAZ JR.

I impatiently spent most of the summer anticipating the fun I hoped to have while at Philmont. Even on the plane ride out to the Air Force Academy, everyone was becoming more and more eager to reach Philmont. The reason why scouts from all parts of the United States go to Philmont is because of the challenging, rugged adventure it offers.

Upon our arrival, we were greeted by Ros Paine, the ranger who would be our guide for two days. Once we had checked in, the whole crew put their gear in the tents we were assigned to. The rest of the afternoon was spent in touring the camp, having our medical rechecks, getting trail equipment, and being photograhed. The campfire that night was an introduction to the history of New Mexico and Philmont.

THE NEXT MORNING, we took a bus to Ponil Base Camp. It was from here that we started our five-day trek. The whole crew was in great spirits. However, the first half mile, which was just about straight up, changed that. Once we reached the top of the peak, the rest of the trip was easy, all downhill.

After we set up our tents, everyone took off to explore the area. A few of us went down to the creek and cooled off our feet. When lunch was over, the crew participated in the program, which was archeology. We spent the afternoon looking at pictographs the Anazasi Indians pecked into the rocky canyon walls, their houses, and a skeleton that was left the way the archeologists found it.

After dinner, a few of us including Ros, the ranger, climbed up a cliff. We sat at the top, silently admiring the panorama, and then we talked for a while. After a full day on the trail, it felt pretty good climbing into the old sleeping bag. Our last conscious memory would be looking at the Milky Way through the plastic tents.

THE NEXT MORNING we got up at 5:30 a.m., so early that we saw two does and one fawn grazing right behind our tens. After breakfast, we started a seven-mile hike to our next Camp, Dean Cow. The first 4½ was on level ground, but the remaining 2½ was straight up. When we reached the top of the canyon wall, we just stood and breathed a sigh of relief because we were going down into Dean Canyon, where our camp was located.

At Dean Cow the wrangler gave a talk on Western lore and, in advanced dutch oven cooking, made doughnuts. We had a fuel problem until a few of us went up a cliff to bring down the wood up there. For the next hour or so, you could see this wood come bouncing down the side of the cliff.

That night Ros Paine gave us the last part of the Ranger training in snake bite treatment, map reading and compass, camp sanitation with water purification. Now we were ready to go on by ourselves.

THE HIKE FROM Dean Cow to Harlan was just horrible because we climbed up about 500 feet and then for two or three miles went down-hill. The back breaker was a 1,000 foot-climb up a good-sized mountain. After this little climb, we had to walk up 160 feet straight up to reach Harlan, our next camp site. Considering we had to just about carry each other up that first 1,160 feet, we made rather good time, 3½ hours for seven miles as the crow flies.

At Harlan everyone just collapsed and rested for a half an hour. Finally, we erected our tents and prepared our food. At this camp additional food for the next three days was received and distributed among the crew's pack loads. The rest of the afternoon everyone did as they pleased.

Our hike the next day was the only one that we didn't have to climb at least 500 feet. The trail was easy and we stopped several times, mainly to look at rock specimens, take pictures and, so our crew chief could rest his blistered feet.

IT WAS AT Clark's Fork that we had the most fun of the whole trip. Our campsite was raided by hungry bears. About nine o'clock, a mother bear and her two cubs were attracted by the smell of food in the tent of Ted Krasnesky. While they were occupied eating, the scouts sneaked their sleeping bags and personal belongings out of the tents. We took the balance of the food up to the commissary cabin for safe keeping.

After we returned, half of us slept by the huge, roaring fire and the other half slept by a lean-to. Around midnight, the second wave of bears, black this time, came through the camp, narrowly missing stepping on some of the scouts around the fire. This attack caused everyone to move to the safety of the lean-to.

ing, more cubs came through camp sniffing and exploring our gear. After they left, everyone tried to get a few hours sleep. Even though we spent a nearly sleepless night, everyone agreed this was the highlight of the whole trip.

THE NEXT morning, tired, we reclaimed our food and tried to determine how much we had lost. We would be eating two light lunches the next two days. The whole crew worked on a conservation project for about four hours, and then after lunch we started climbing up to Shaffer's Pass.

At the next trail camp we set up our plastic tents and began to cook dinner, since it was about four o'clock and the sun was just visible on the canyon wall.

We all went to bed right after the campfire. There's nothing in the world to compare to sleeping on a rocky slope. It is real comfortable providing you can defy the force of gravity, because our sleeping bags would slide on the plastic tent floors. It seems that no one slept this night due to the wind that sounded like an express train.

Morning finally arrived and everyone got up in a 5:30 a.m. daze. We started our last day on the trail immediately after cleaning up the breakfast dishes. The trail was another 800 feet to the top of Shaffer's Mountain, which was on the crest of the Tooth of Time Ridge, the way to Base Camp. The hike was difficult, but the view from the top of the mountain was worth every ache and pain.

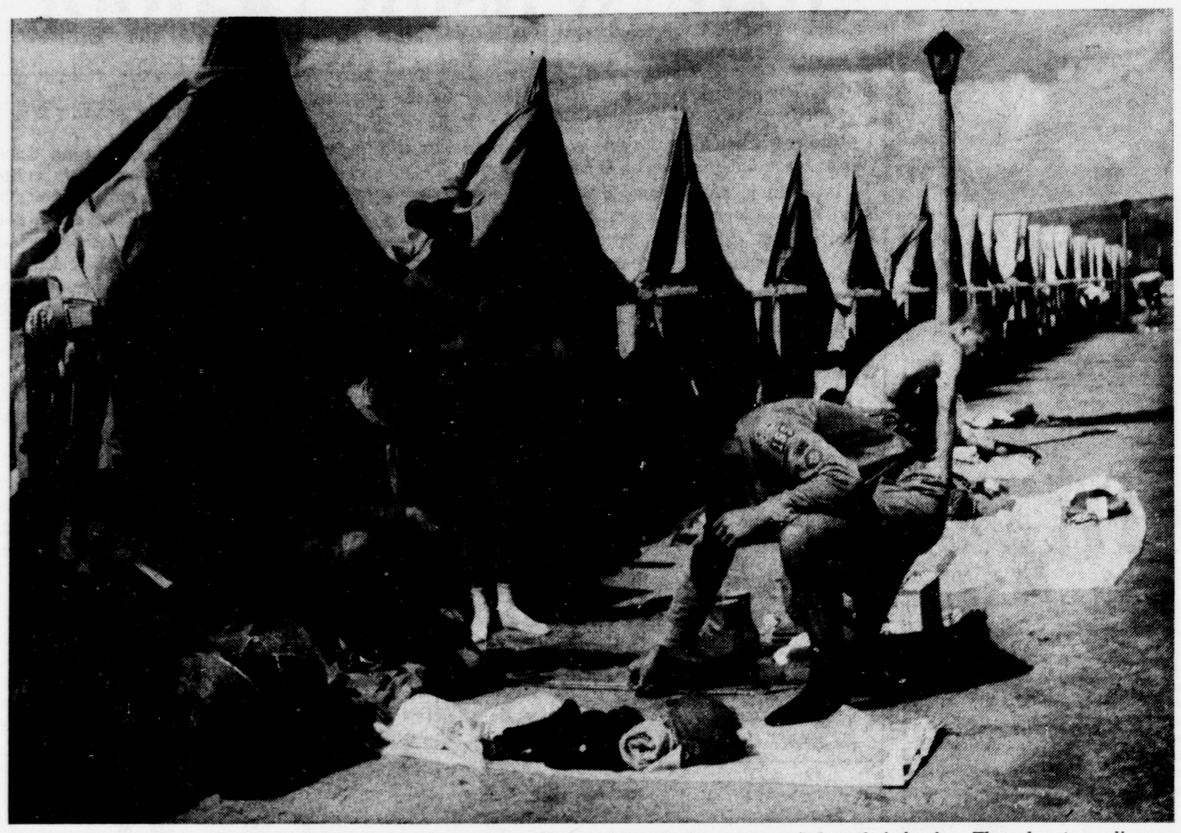
WHEN WE REACHED the Tooth of Time, everyone took off his pack and climbed to the very top of the Tooth. The view was terrific. You could see for miles, the miles of canyons we had hiked the past four days to reach this grandstand of nature. The hike from the Tooth down to Base Camp was fun, although treacherous, many of us sliding on the loose gravel. Finally we reached Base Camp. What a welcome sight for our sore feet.

For our last campfire, we sang songs and the staff entertained us with guitar playing, witty dialog and more singing. At the close of the campfire, the M.C. called down all the adult advisers and their crew chiefs to thank them for coming to Philmont. The crew chief gave to his adviser the small American flag carried on the trail.

Friday morning, the entire expedition went to Kit Carson Museum at Rayado. The curator explained to us the nature of adobe construction, the Indian relics prior to the influence of the white man, the white man's coming in the 1500's and the single efforts of Kit Carson to work for peace between the two races. Our next stop was at Villa Philmonte, former home of Mr. and Mrs. Waite Phillips, a fine example of the Mediterranean style of architecture.

AFTER LUNCH, we were ready to leave Philmont. The entire expedition agreed that Philmont should be visited by all Boy Scouts. Why? So they can have the experience of hiking through the mountains, carrying their home on their backs, being raided by bears, earning blisters and aching feet while developing self-reliance, love of the outdoors and comradeship.

All this makes Philmont what it is, Scouting fun. (A 15



BOY SCOUTS PACK UP THEIR GEAR in preparation for their rugged five-day hike through the mountains on Philmont Scout Ranch. Everything the youths used for eating, sleeping and other needs they carried on their backs. The adventure climaxed months of planning for the Northwest Suburban Boy Scout Council members who made the trek to New Mexico.

ONE SCOUT FINDS the view from the top breath-taking, especially when he looks back over the difficult trail he and fellow scouts followed to get there. Worth every ache and pain, they agree.

Reject Apartments Near Wilson School

Multiple family zoning for a 2.9 acre parcel in northern Arlington Heights was rejected last Wednesday by the plan commission.

The commission's unfavorable recommendation will go to the village board for its action on Sept. 20.

Involved is an irregularly shaped parcel south of Palatine Road and west of a shopping district which fronts on Arlington Heights Road. The commission voted 7 to 1 against the change from R-3 (single family) to R-5 (multiple). One member passed is vote.

Zoning fhange was sought by Wheeling building contractor Harold Eberharde, who said he acquired nearly 17 acres in the area, east of Wilson School, in foreclosure court three months ago.

EBERHARDE PROPOSED to use the western portion of his land for a single-family development known as Arlington Highlands. He has been negotiating with the District 25 school board for a land swap which would result in extension of Highland Avenue north to Palatine Road.

He said he wanted the apartment zoning to act as a buffer between the existing business area and the planned single family development, adding he felt it was the highest and best use of the land. Eberharde planned 48 townhouse units.

About 10 residents of lots nearby in Arlington Heights and in the unincorporated Arlington Knolls subdivision to the south objected to the R-5 zoning. They said when they purchased their homes the area was zoned single-family, and they wanted it to retain that character. One resident said much of the traffic generated by he multiple units would enter through the residential neighborhood because of access problems for eastbound motorists on Palatine Road.

EBERHARDE said he would not pursue his tentative agreement for the land swap with District 25 if the multiple zoning were not granted. Commissioner Charles O. Bennett, who is also on the District 25 board, replied the schools "seem to be involved as a political football."

Bennett indicated the swap would improve the value of Eberharde's land south of the school. It was Bennett who abstained on the final vote.

Clyde Ferry, the one commissioner voting against rejection, said he did not know how residents could protest the multiple use when some of their properties border a filling station in the business zone.

Chairman Harold E. Carlson said if multiple family zoning were granted the village would be committed to similar zoning for two additional parcels, not owned by Eberharde, which extend into his development.

Two-Wing Addition

Dedication Sunday At Lutheran Home

Dedication services will be held Sunday for the $1,250,000 addition to the Lutheran Home and Service for the Aged, 800 W. Oakton St., Arlington Heights.

The two-wing addition is nearing completion. It will increase the home's capacity from the present 118 to approximately 203 residents.

Services will be at 3 p.m.

THE NEW WINGS represent the culmination of nearly a decade of work by member churches of the Lutheran Home corporation. The need for expansion was recognized a few years after the dedication of the present home in 1953.

In 1958 and 1961, the Northern Illinois District and the Extension of the Association of the English District gave unanimous approval at their conventions for collection of funds. Funds are being raised through a contribution of $1 a year per communicant member over a 10-year period.

Rooms in the new wings are adapted to the needs, handicaps and desires of the aged. Resident rooms have southern, western or eastern exposures for maximum sun and light. There are three all-season sun rooms.

FACILITIES ALSO include administration offices, three club rooms, two dining rooms and diet kitchens, public toilets, bath facilities, kitchenette and dinette for residents, a staff lunch room, sewing room, occupational and physiotherapy rooms, day center with lobby, library, smoking, lunch and activity rooms and other facilities.

The home serves aged members of the church living in the northern one-third of Illinois.

Supreme Court to Hear Village, Bank Case

Oral arguments will be heard by the Illinois Supreme Court Tuesday on a 1963 suit brought by the Arlington Heights National Bank against the village over the vacation of Davis Street adjacent to the bank.

The bank won its Circuit Court case against the village last September, and the case went to the Supreme Court on appeal by the village.

ACCORDING TO to Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel, the court normally hands down rulings two months after it hears arguments. That would bring a final decision around Thanksgiving.

In dispute is the validity of a village ordinance vacating the street, between Evergreen and Dunton Avenues. The November 1963 ordinance imposes restrictions not included in an earlier agreement between the village and the bank. Most notable is a nine-foot height limit on a structure planned over the vacated street to house four drive-in windows.

Under the terms of the agreement, the bank constructed and dedicated Commuter Street to the north of Davis.

STILL PENDING before the Cook County Circuit Court are two subsequent suits.

The Arlington Heights Federal Savings & Loan Association last September started proceeding against the village and bank in an attempt to nullify the original agreement, and the bank in March brought a $2 million damage suit against the savings and loan association, claiming it was responsible for the village's imposition of restrictions in its vacation ordinance.

Driver Dies as Car Hits Bridge

An Arlington Heights man was killed early Friday when his car veered off Highway 58 and struck a bridge abutment for the Illinois Toll Highway.

Pronounced dead on arrival at Northwest Community Hospital was Lonas A. Lindgren, 21, of 29 S. Reuter Dr.

Illinois state police said Lindgren, who was alone in the car, apparently fell asleep. The accident occurred at 1 a.m.

LINDGREN SERVED two years in the Marine Corps after his graduation, in 1962, from Arlington High School. He has been employed as a roofer for the Rosenow Roofing Co. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Lindgren.

Services were held Tuesday, with burial at Lake Street Memorial Park Cemetery, Elgin.

Speed-Up Asked on Near North Paving

The Arlington Heights village administration Tuesday was asked to "light a fire" under contractors doing work on the near north side paving project.

Several trustees took advantage of a lull in Tuesday's village board meeting to lament the length of time it is taking to complete the work.

Involved is a $117,337 project which includes segments of Chestnut, Elm, Euclid, Fremont, Hawthorne, Highland and Mitchell. The board awarded the job to the Arcole Midwest Co., Evanston, in June.

TRUSTEE JACK Walsh, who said he drives through the area daily, asked Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson if he could "turn on the pressure" to get the project moving.

Hanson replied that if "nature could turn off the showers" the project would move ahead.

Walsh insisted, however, that "skeleton crews" were being used and "you see people working there only occasionally."

Trustee Carl Mees said crews had been at work for a considerable length of time at State and Euclid, and Hanson told him they were telephone company crews.

Sigwalt Gets Emergency Stop Signs

Emergency stop signs to ease traffic detoured from Campbell Street onto Sigwalt Street were approved by the Arlington Heights Village Board Tuesday.

The four-way stops on Sigwalt, at Ridge and Yale, will aid in handling traffic routed around the Campbell Street paving area, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson told the trustees. Hanson said he may request their removal after Campbell paving is completed, if traffic counts drop below levels justifying stops.

On Hanson's recommendation, the board approved a third four-way stop intersection at Kennicott Avenue and Fairview Street. The manager said traffic counts in the area have risen, with development of Catino Estates, to the point where the stop was justified.

In no case, said Houser, can the township improve more than its share of the road, nor can it assess against land within village limits.

Houser said the law providing for all this has not yet been tested in court. Neither has the law that allows villages to go into special assessment projects involving some unincorporated area, and it was this lack of court approval that caused the Arlington Heights BOLI to decide not to take on the Thomas Street project itself.

HOUSER, noting this, told the Wheeling auditors, "I don't blame them."

Although Mrs. Ethel Kolerus admitted she and other auditors were unenthusiastic about tackling the complicated and expensive special assessment procedures, she did suggest that a first step be taken — that of formally organizing a township BOLI group.

She asked Township Supervisor Albert C. Peters to call an organizational meeting of a township BOLI in about two weeks, after Houser has had a chance to review the legislation further.

"We could consider how else the road can be improved," she said. (AF

Trip to Europe Is Graduation Gift for Girl

Tours Continent With Grandmother

by ETHEL K. DUNN

For the majority of folks a trip to Europe is only a dream, but for 13-year-old Diane Leschinski of Elk Grove Village, the dream came true.

The trip was a graduation gift from her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Leschinski of 30 Woodcrest Lane, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hagstrom of Chicago, assisted in part by Diane's babysitting earnings from the past year.

Following her graduation from Grove Junior High last June, Diane, a pretty, blue-eyed blonde, joined her grandparents aboard the U. S. S. Kungsholm, bound for Sweden.

The ocean voyage was filled with fun-packed programs day and night plus endless eight-course meals and in-between snacks.

"IF YOU were bored for a minute on that ship, it was strictly your own fault," said Diane. "There was so much to do all the time, you couldn't possibly keep up."

Nine days later they arrived in Guttenberg, Sweden, to stay with an aunt, Mrs. Sara Melin. Diane was impressed by the country's greenness and cleanliness but even more by the need to shop daily for food. The old-fashioned icebox used by her hostess could barely hold enough food for one day. Diane's aunt might buy a couple of carrots or a few potatoes at a time compared with the bags of groceries her mother totes home weekly.

"PEOPLE just aren't grateful enough for all the wonderful conveniences and the great variety of everything in the States," remarked the young traveler.

Many things are done differently in Scandinavia as Diane discovered when she wanted to put mayonnaise on a sandwich. After looking for the kind of container to which she is accustomed and failing to find it in the icebox, she learned it came in a tube, to be used as needed.

When it came time to travel on to Norway and Denmark, Grandfather Hagstrom decided to remain in his native Sweden for the entire vacation, visiting with the many relatives he had not seen for 50 years. Diane and her grandmother returned later to Stockholm and stayed with Inga and Arnie Carneholm. Inga, associated with an American travel bureau, mapped a complete itinerary for her guests through the other countries they planned to visit.

THEIR FIRST stop was the famous Tivoli Gardens in Copenhagen. They traveled next to Austria, using their Eurailpass, which entitled them to unlimited train rides with unlimited stopovers. In Vienna, the two travelers were impressed by the famous Lippizzaner horses, particularly the stable, which Diane said resembled anything but a stable.

"It was a beautiful huge edifice, so immaculate, and the horses were treated like people," declared Diane.

The teenager admitted her favorite country was Switzerland. She ran out of words trying to describe its scenic Alpine splendor. In Geneva she and her grandmother saw the gigantic clock made of flowers, even the pendulum that ticks off the time.

IN FLORENCE she picked up a hand-made lacy yellow sweater for herself for 1,500 lire, $2 American money. Diane had to exercise strict control of her pursestrings not to "go completely wild on a buying spree," but she did bring home elegant sweater souvenirs for all the members of her family.

On their Italian visit Mrs. Hagstrom and Diane also saw the Vatican, the Sistine Chapel and other famous places. The 13-year-old also was introduced to opera in Italy at the ancient Noctural Coliseum where "Aida" was being presented.

Although the original marble was stolen from the building many years ago, the old stone structure still remains.

"IT IS THE most gigantic building I ever expect to be in," she commented. "It made me feel like a tiny ant."

"Paris wasn't as lively as I thought it would be," Diane remarked, "but it still was exciting and beautiful."

Among the sights she and her grandmother saw in France were Montmartre, Eifel Tower, Cathedral of Notre Dame, Nice and the French Riviera, which they viewed by night with countless lights shining on its black waters that are so very blue in daylight.

Their last stops were in Belgium where they visited Amsterdam first and then Ostend where they boarded a ferry boat bound for Dover, England. Arriving there early in the morning, the travelers went on to London and in the short time left before their jet flight home, they watched the changing of the guards ceremony and saw Buckingham Palace.

"A SUDDEN pang of homesickness hit me when I arrived in London and realized how long I'd been away from home and that thousands of miles separated me from my family," said Diane.

"It's real good to be back home, but I had the most marvelous time of my whole life. I was a lucky girl, wasn't I?"

Diane wasn't the only one glad she was home. Sixteen of her girl friends just couldn't wait to see their traveling friend and surprised her with a "welcome home" party. (A15

Keep Healthy

While the cost of living doubled during the past 25 years, hospital charges have quadrupled.

SAVE TIME AND MONEY LATER —WITH A watch check-up now!

Here's why it's so important to get a check-up by a qualified, professional watchmaker. A good watch is made to work constantly, for years. But jarrings, dust, dirt or humidity can sometimes throw off its intricate, hard-working mechanism. Of course, your watch may be working fine, but if you bring it in for a check-up now you may avoid possible costly damage later.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels L. Rydberg, 912 N. State, returned August 29 from a vacation which took them from Connecticut to California. They began the vacation by flying to Hartford, Conn., where they attended the Aug. 14 wedding of their son, Gerald, to Miss Roberta Gregson of Hartford. They were joined in Hartford by their son and daughter-in-law, the Wayne Rydbergs from the University of Chicago, who had taken a week's vacation to attend the ceremony.

On Aug. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Rydberg flew to Phoenix, where they spent a week with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hopkins and Tyler. After a side-trip to the Grand Canyon, the Rydbergs flew to Tustin, Calif., where they stayed for a week with Mr. Rydberg's sister, Mrs. Bill Rauland, and visited with Mrs. Helge Sudstrom, another sister.

BOB MELOEN of Haarlem, the Netherlands, former Arlington High School exchange student who has been spending the summer in the home of the L. K. Smiths, 611 W. Wing, departed Sept. 1 for New York. There he boarded a ship to return to his third year of study at the University of Amsterdam.

On Aug. 30, Rob was guest of honor at a farewell party given in the Smith home and attended by 14 of his former high school friends. Rob hopes to return to the United States in several years, and to obtain his doctorate in an American university.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Bedford and son, Dan, 1302 W. Sigwalt, were called to Texas two weeks ago by the death of Mr. Bedford's brother-in-law, Mr. Cal Mostad. VIRGINIA TERRACE

Returning Wednesday from a two and a half week vacation, most of which was spent in Nebraska, were Les and Jo Rozdalovsky and daughters, Shirley and Mary Jo, 1321 N. Race. They left for Lincoln on Aug. 15 to visit Les' parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rozdalovsky. They visited friends in Hastings and spent some time with Les' sister in Pilger. One of the highlights of the vacation, especially for the children, was attending a county fair and seeing a rodeo.

On the way home, the family stopped in Milwaukee to visit Jo's parents, the Joseph La Prestis, and her brother and family, the Ned La Prestis, and to visit the new museum.

Shirley Rozdalovsky celebrated her 12th birthday while on vacation. She was honored at family parties in Nebraska and Milwaukee.

The family returned home in time for Les to get a little rest before school begins. He attended the University of Illinois for extra credits during the summer—returning home the day before leaving for Nebraska. He is now ready to resume his teaching duties.

THE TERRACE bids farewell to Robert and Joyce Anderson and children, Kris, Mark, Karen, Scott and Eric, who moved Saturday from 1234 N. Yale to 17 N. Prindle. Original Terace residents, they had lived at the Yale address for 10 years.

Present at a family party Sunday were her grandparents, the Charles Lincolns, aunt, Terry Lincoln, and uncle, Jim Lincoln, all of Arlington Heights, and aunt, uncle and cousins, the Kenneth Koehler family of Chicago.

Mara Jones, daughter of the Bill Joneses, 1227 N. Illinois, was 8 Aug. 31 and a party for her was attended by Kathy Roden and Karen Pedersen. The girls had lunch and then attended the movie, "Mary Poppins," at the Cinema Theatre in Mount Prospect.

She celebrated with a slumber party attended by Loni Larson, Dawn Lamar, Sheri Reichert, Frannie Schmidt, her cousin from Palatine, and her sisters, Vicki and Barbara. The girls went out for pizza and bowling and then returned to the Schmidts' for the night.

DEIRDRE MARSON, daughter of Bill and Freya Jones, 1227 N. Illinois, was baptized Aug. 22 at St. Simon Episcopal Church by Father Keyes. Sponsors were ex-Terrace residents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Maustakis, however, they were not present since they recently moved to Alaska. Guest speaker at the Sunday services the day of the baptism was Father Keith Leach, curate at an Episcopal church in Evanston and a long-time friend of the Joneses.

After the ceremonies the Joneses hosted a party attended by Father and Mrs. Leach and daughter, and Deirdre's grandfather, Charles Peterson of Lake Forest, and her sister and brother, Mara and Matthew.

Steve will be 4 Sept. 21; Jimmy was 3 on Aug. 29. Guests were their aunt, uncle, and cousins, the Robert Jones family from Peabody, Mass., who were on their way home from Florida where Mr. Jones had been working on the recent missile, and their grandmother, Mrs. John Miller of Chicago.

Genevieve Galloway remained home with daughter, Debbie, and new son, Stephen. Her mother, Mrs. Evelyn Posel of Berwyn, spent the weekend with her.

Kenneth Massa, son of the Dominick Massas, 1710 W. Olive, was 12 Sept. 2. To celebrate, Ken, his parents and Mark Larson went to Simonini's in Algonquin for dinner.

Notes from Arlington Acres

Marie Marshall CLearbrook 5-2936

California's lure was the strogest when the James Evanger family, 436 S. Forrest, considered possible vacation spots. Jim, Mary Ellen, Mike and Laurie arrived in San Francisco by train and lost no time in visiting that city's famous landmarks, including Fisherman's Wharf and Chinatown. Whenever it was possible, they reached their destination by their favorite mode of transportation—cable car, and before they left they had ridden on all three lines.

They rented a car and drove south through Monterey and Carmel and on to Beverly Hills, Hollywood, Santa Monica and Long Beach. Highlights included a day at Disneyland and a trip to Marine Land of the Pacific.

On the Evangers' return home last week, Mary Ellen entered St. Francis Hospital in Evanston for surgery and is expected home some time this week. Their friends and neighbors are wishing her a speedy recovery.

BEST WISHES to to Mr. and Mrs. George Williams, 424 S. Waterman, on their Aug. 8 wedding anniversary. They and their son, Mike, were among the many Canada bound vacationers this summer, and toured the provinces of Quebec, Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa.

For Mr. Williams it was the second trip to Canada this year, as he had recently returned from a Hudson Bay tour with his brother-in-law. The trip was one of two scheduled each summer by train from Winnipeg. Although some fishing is involved, the tour is mostly for sightseeing purposes.

To wind up the summer fun before returning to school, Mike spent Labor Day weekend with friends in Fond du Lac, while his parents were guests of the Jack Moores of Park Ridge at Eagle River, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Longrie, 429 S. Forrest, celebrated their Aug. 29 wedding anniversary by joining close relatives and "doing" Old Town.

Recent houseguests of the Jack Donovans, 524 S. Prindle, were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Donovan and an aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Ryan, of Syracuse, N. Y. Local sightseeing was in order, as was dining out. Vonnie, with Jack's mother and aunt, attended a session of Don McNeil's Breakfast Club, then joined Jack, his dad and Kevin and Kelly for lunch at "Club on 39." The senior Mrs. Donovan, as an early fan of Don McNeil, found herself being interviewed on the show, and since it is taped, had the unique experience of hearing the interview on the radio the nest day.

BEFORE returning home, the Donovan guests helped Jack celebrate his Aug. 28 birthday at a cocktail and buffet supper party for 30 guests.

Seaman 1.C Tom Curtin arrived home Friday to spend a 10-day leave with his parents, the Jack Curtins, 420 S. Forrest. Tom is stationed on board the USS Windlass which he left in Bermuda. After his leave, he will rejoin the ship at the Davisville base in Rhode Island.

By just a few days Tom missed joining the rest of the family in celebrating his dad's birthday, Aug. 28, and his mother's Sept. 1.

Mrs. Raymond Ahrens, 417 S. Gibbons, was hostess at an evening coffee Tuesday of last week to introduce Mrs. Dan Switzen, her new next door neighbor to other neighbors. Joining Dorothy Ahrens in making Mary Ann feel welcome were Eloise Brittain, Arlyn Miner, Elaine Spagnoli, Joan Bayuk, Sue Morgan, Marge Ashbrook and Isabelle Curtin.

The John Brunsfeld family, 416 S. Phelps, are Civil War buffs, and as such decided to spend their vacation in a section of the country rich in Civil War history—Virginia. History was relived at Williamsburg and Gettysburg, and after spending some time at these spots, John, Joan, Mike, Steve and Susan drove on to Washington, D. C. After taking in all the sights there, they resumed their tour of Virginia, driving down the coast to Norfolk.

T WAS FELT that Gail Brunsfeld was too young to appreciate the trip, so she was left in the care of Grandma and Grandpa Kettler, but her family returned home in time to help celebrate her third birthday Aug. 29.

A party to mark the event was given Sunday afternoon for Randy Fritz, Patty and Barby Thorstad and Bonnie Lucas. Following the party, the family was invited to the senior Brunsfelds' in Chicago for a birthday dinner.

The Howard Richardsons and their children, Linda, Jim and Bruce, 520 S. Phelps, also spent their vacation visiting scenes of American history. Tours of Williamsburg and Gettysburg were climaxed by the grand tour of Washington, D. C. which indluced its memorials and government buildings.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hanson, 429 S. Prindle, spent their vacation closer to home and found it thoroughly enjoyable and relaxing. Because Mark's summer job kept him from getting away earlier, Bob and Joann with their daughter Cathy spent the first week in Geneseo, visiting Joann's mother, Mrs. William Love. When Mark was able to get away for the second week, the family left to spend the balance of their vacation at a hotel at Lake Geneva, a favorite spot because of its swimming pool.

MR. AND Mrs. Louis Schultz, 528 S. Waterman, with their daughters, Connie and Janet, and son, Steven, rented a cabin in the Rhinelander area to enjoy a week of swinning, fishing and taking life easy.

Recent houseguests of the Schultzes were Norma's brother, Ivan Garrett and his family. When they returned to their home in Charleston, Janet accompanied them and came back later with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Garrett of Windsor, who spent a few days visiting the Schultzes.

Best wishes go to Mr. and Mrs. James Moller, 16 S. Prindle, who were married nine years Aug. 25. No special celebration took place because plans were being made for the christening of 6-week-old James on the following Sunday.

GUESTS AT dinner following the christening at Faith Lutheran Church in Arlington Heights were the baby's godparents, Mrs. Joan Kempke and James Hudec and their families of Cicero, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moller of McHenry. Arriving later in the day were an aunt, uncle and cousin, the Merel Marine family of Brookfield.

Greta Hermanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gust Hermanson 437 S. Forrest, received belated birthday congratulations on her 13th birthday Aug. 17 at a dinner for several friends on Wednesday of last week. Guests who enjoyed feasting on fried chicken and the trimmings were Marcia Longrie, Barby Jenko, Pat Henrickson and Pat Gallagher of Arlington Heights and Marianne Niesen of Rolling Meadows.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Beem, 412 S. Waterman, celebrated their 21st wedding anniversary Stpt. 2, quietly at home.

Eastwood Events

Don and Peggy Sweeney are back home at 603 E. Euclid after a delightful month's vacation in Don's home state of Oregon. They flew both ways and stayed for the entire month in a cottage on the shore of the Pacific Ocean. The children, Barbara, Christi, Bruce and David especially enjoyed horseback riding on the sands of Cannon Beach, where real cannons may be seen. Swimming in the ocean also gave the Sweeneys many hours of pleasure.

As the family was staying near the end of the famous Lewis and Clark Trail, they visited the Lewis and Clark Salt Cairn where the explorers boiled ocean water on a stone furnace.

Labor Day weekend found the family unpacking and getting ready for the new school year. Peggy can look forward to a busy PTA year, with children in three different scholls, and the responsibility of being room mother for Christi's junior high school class.

Last Tuesday Arthur Hassell, 315 N. Hickory, drove his son, Gary, to the University of Dubuque to begin his freshman year. Gary, who is not one to be idle, spent the summer washing and polishing cars of many Eastwood residents.

FRIDAY evening Joseph and Vi Corcoron, 507 N. Hickory, attended the Armed Forces Football game at Soldier Field after dining at the Como Inn in Chicago.

Sunday they spent the day with their friends, Charles and Mathilda Zimmerman of Brookfield, and Emily Kotchka of Berwyn. They all drove to La Fox, Ill., to visit Gloria Slavik, who attends Broadview Academy there. Miss Slavik stayed with the Zimmermans for many months after she immigrated to this country from Europe. In the late afternoon, the Corcorons served a barbecue to their guests.

James and Joan May and their daughter, Mary Ann, 401 Beverly Lane, recently enjoyed a long weekend drive to Memphis, to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brickels, who were their former neighbors in Columbus, Ohio.

In July, Mary Ann, and her friend, Kathy Schafehen, 936 N. Mitchell, spent a week at Brown's Lake, Wis.

As president of the Northwest Suburban Alumni Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority, Eleanor Cullison, 511 N. Hickory, was busy attending two coffees last week given in honor of new members. The first was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Juckett in Park Ridge. Thursday evening one was held in Arlington Heights.

ELEANOR'S mother, Mrs. Jacob Wilkins spent the weekend in Eastwood, as she drove from the home of another daughter, Mrs. Sam Witter, in Kenilworth to her home in Gary.

Labor Day weekend Albrecht and Yvonne Koch and their sons, Peter and Frank, celebrated Grandmother Mercier's birthday in Evanston. A two-day visit in Evanston gave the family time to enjoy an end of the summer visit to Wilmette Harbor and the beach.

Tuesday Peter joined his Eastwood playmates, Susan Bartolone, 408 N. Hickory, Billy Glader, 407 Beverly Lane, and Eric Pederson, 215 Beverly Lane, for a first day's experience in kindergarten at North School.

Sunday afternoon Jerry and Avis Schoendorf invited a group of Lincoln Laners to a Bratwurst party at their home at 302 Lincoln Lane. as Labor Day holiday gave this reporter an early deadline, it can only be hoped that the weather allowed them to serve the 20 guests outdoors.

TWO EASTWOOD mothers will find themselves extra busy as the new school year begins. Barbara Prellberg, 738 N. Hickory, and Georgia Buxton, 502 N. Hickory, spent eight weeks last spring attending a Junior Great Brooks Leadership Course, and in October, they will work as co-leaders for a discussion group of interested fifth graders of North School. Bonnie Prellberg and Jeff Buxton will be among the students in the group.

Barbara is also busy helping her sorority, Alpha Gamma Delta, with a Christmas card project to augment their charity fund.

by THE ARLINGTON HEIGHTS FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fire can happen to you. This year, on the basis of national averages, a home in your general neighborhood will be involved in fire. It could be yours. Every minute of the day an American home is destroyed or damaged by fire. Every day, 17 people—mostly the young and the aged—die in these fires. Four deaths occur when the simple rules of fire safety are violated—smoking in bed, leaving children alone in the house, allowing youngsters to play with matches.

The yearly dollar cost to American home owners is over $300,000,000. But facts and figures can't describe the headache of fire damage to your home, the heartache of injury, sometimes death, which fire may bring. Every home fire represents a failure—failure to correct hazards, to take precautions. Take action—family action now. Inspect your home for fire hazards and then eliminate the hazards at once, better still, call the fire department and have a qualified fire inspector check your home for you. Keep your home safe from fire.

DIABETICS MUST TAKE CARE OF THEIR FEET

Elevated blood sugar levels make them easily susceptible to infections. They should bathe their feet daily with lukewarm water and a mild soap. Never wear shoes without wearing stockings. Avoid the intense heat of electric pads or heat lamps. Tight shoes should not be worn and corns, callouses, bunions or in-grown toenails should not be self-treated.

By following a physician's advice, diabetes can be easily and comfortably lived with. We carry in stock everything any physician, even those from distant cities, may prescribe or advise those with diabetes to use or take.

YOUR DOCTOR CAN PHONE US when you need a medicine. Pick up your prescription if shopping nearby, or we will deliver promptly without extra charge. A great many people entrust us with their prescriptions. May we compound yours?

Elmer and Bernice Carlson, 1711 Oakton, daughter, Joan, and her friend, Mary Fisher, spent their vacation in the east and Canada. They saw many historical spots in Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts, but especially enjoyed Boston. In Canada, they visited Quebec, Montreal and Toronto. On their return home, they stopped in Detroit to see Elmer's sister, Mrs. Margaret Peck.

While they were gone, Richard was vacationing in Seattle with a boy friend. He graduated last spring from the University of Illinois and this fall he will attend graduate school there to major in journalism.

GEORGE AND RUTH Predick, 1022 N. Race, chose Michigan for their vacation. They and the children, Paul, George and Diane, spent a weekend visiting friends in Detroit and then toured Sault Ste. Marie, Mackinac Island, Iron Mountain and Traverse City.

The Richard Clarke family, 921 N. Patton, spent a week of their vacation camping in a national forest at Porcupine Mountain in Michigan's upper peninsula. The weather was generally rainy and cool, but they enjoyed rock hunting, hiking and relaxing.

Charles and Ella Mae Steiner, 817 N. Harvard, and son, Kurt, returned recently from a two-week fishing vacation in Bemidji, Minn.

Best wishes go to Bill and Joan Grady, 818 N. Harvard, and their sons, Kevin, Paul and Peter. They will soon be moving into a new home in Arlington Heights.

Devil's Lake, Wis., was the camp site chosen by John and June Herrmann, 910 N. Illinois, and their four children. During the two-week vacation, they took side trips to the Wisconsin Dells and the Circus World at Baraboo.

WEEKEND guests of Vernon and Gwen Jensen, 935 N. Kaspar, were Gwen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James R. Love of Madison, Wis. They brought Bobby home after a week's visit with them.

The Duane Kroll family, 918 N. Chicago, spent August on various camping trips. Jan and the four boys go it alone some of the time and Duane commutes to the camp site as often as possible. The first two weeks were spent at Green Lake, Peninsula State Park, Rhinelander and Roche A Cri State Park, with a day at the Wisconsin Dells thrown in. After three days at home, they spent the rest of the month attending an Indian powwow at Timber Lake.

A birthday dinner was held Sept. 4 for 12-year-old Richard Elsner, son of Ralph and Marie Elsner, 819 N. Kaspar. Present were his parents, sisters, Shirley and Kathy, brothers, Bill and Charles, and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Sayre of Chicago.

BARON AND SALLY Zoellick, 912 N. Kaspar, and their four children spent the first week of their vacation visiting Zoellick relatives in Minnesota and the second week at Paddock Lake, Wis.

Kerry, son of Don and Joyce Mohr, 927 N. Fernandez, was 8 Sept. 4 and celebrated with a family party.

Karen and Michael Schafer, 712 N. Fernandez, and children, Kathy and Mickie, spent 10 days in Minneapolis, as guests of Karen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy W. Hensen.

Arlington Greens

The Ken Jahnke family of N. Belmont Ave. vacationed in the east during their recent 10-day holiday. First stop for Ken, Evelyn, Debbie, Sandy and Ruth was Niagara Falls. After a two day stay to see both the Canadian and United States sides, they headed for Boston's suburb of Westwood, to visit the Hal Warman family. Their week's stay was filled with sightseeing the historic tourist haunts, swimming in the Atlantic and reminiscing with their hosts and former Greens neighbors.

More recent vacation returnees were the Don Helblings of E. Clarendon. Their 10-day summer cottaging site was Douglas Lake, near Johannesburg, Mich., for fishing, swimming, boating, relaxing and lots of fun. On Sept. 1, Don and Marie hosted a dinner party, marking the 42nd wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Helbling of Spring Grove. Joining them for the occasion was another son, Neil and his family of Kansas City, Mo.

A MOTOR TRIP home Thursday for Mary and Jim Coleman of N. Beverly Lane ended a four-day visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Harold Yetter in Rochelle. Mary will begin her sophomore year at St. Norbert's in West De Pere, Wis., next Thursday.

Twenty-one youngsters, ranging in age from three to eight, gathered in the Kargol yard on E. Clarendon last Wednesday afternoon for refreshments, a peanut hunt and other games. The affair officially ended the "Wednesday Afternoon Sit," a summer project for Ellen and Jeane Kargol, their aids Donna Zaborowski, Trudy Sedlak and the Lockhart sisters, Peggy and Mary.

During each of the eight sessions, the neighborhood youngsters were kept busy with handcraft, making costumes and playing games, while their mothers had the opportunity of an afternoon off.

Inlet Called Hazard To School Children

Pinehurst Homeowners Association has written County Board Chairman Seymour Simon, Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson and a subdivider, citing the hazards to children of a storm water inlet near Dunton School in Arlington Heights.

Association secretary Richard L. Randle urged parents of children attending the school to caution them about the opening, on State Road a few hundred feet north of Cypress Avenue.

RANDLE SAID there are two openings at ground level, two and three feet across. One of them drops sharply a short distance from the opening.

He said the pipe, installed two weeks ago in connection with the development of Realcoa's subdivision, are storm cistern overflows and are used in drainage.

$966 Benefit Given Pine-Grove Project

Continued priority to the Pine Avenue - Grove Street paving project was given by the Arlington Heights Village Board Tuesday when it agreed to absorb the $966 difference between project estimates and the low bid of Mayer Paving Co.

The $29,566 project will extend Grove Street east a little more than a block from State Road and Pine Avenue across an intersection with Grove. Trustees agreed to pay the $966 from the public benefit fund after learning the board of local improvements (BOLI) otherwise would have to respread assessments against adjacent property owners — a time consuming process.

IN EARLIER attempts to speed the project to a start in construction this year, BOLI agreed to settle out of court with property owners who had filed objections, absorbing 10 to 12 per cent of their assessments.

And the village administration authorized use of a tax supported public benefit fund, rather than state motor fuel tax monies, for the public benefit portion of the project after the state rejected bids. State engineers said they would have to approve plans before bids were let, a procedure the village did not observe. (A

Asks Developers Share Utility Cost

Arlington Heights trustees Monday will consider whether an attempt should be made to get the Realcoa subdivision developers to share in the cost of acquiring Citizens Utility Co.

Robert Walsh, president of the Arlington Heights Gardens Homeowners Association, appeared at Tuesday's village board meeting to raise the question. He had written to all board members a week ago.

WALSH NOTED when Arlington Gardens was annexed residents had to take on a special rate schedule to pay for the private utility which served the subdivision. Lack of capacity in the system helped spur the annexation.

Arlington Gardens since has been connected to the village system, and the new Realcoa subdivision south of Arlington Gardens gets its connection through the former Citizens lines. Trustee Carl F. Mees said the matter was complicated and suggested taking it up at a special meeting previously scheduled for Monday. Walsh agreed. (A Annexation of four lots was approved Tuesday by the Arlington Heights Village Board.

Two of the lots, in Lynnwood subdivision, face Thomas Street. The other two, in Scarsdale Estates, face Rockwell Street. Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson said the basic reason the owners sought annexation was to obtain village sewer and water. (A

the Word

"The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart."
—Deuteronomy 30:14

The Apostle Paul reminded the Romans that in his heart man believed in righteousness and with the mouth confessed unto salvation.

As Christians, we know right from wrong. If we follow the dictates of our heart we will always do what we think is right. Our conscience usually tells us when something is wrong.

As Christians, we should not hesitate to show evidence of our belief and faith in God. It is not necessary that we shout our faith from the street corners. The manner in which we live our lives, conduct ourselves in business and in our relationship with others is evidence enough.

Okay 21-Foot Width For Marion Paving

Arlington Heights Village Board has advised the board of local improvements (BOLI) to pave a 400-foot stretch of Marion Road the same width as other streets in Sherwood subdivision, even though the width does not meet current village standards.

BOLI had sought direction from village trustees while considering whether to undertake a special assessment program for a 400-foot stretch of Marion east of Yale Avenue. The balance of the subdivision is either developed or currently under development. In both cases, streets are 21 feet wide, without curb or gutter.

BOLI asked the board whether the 400-foot Marion stretch should be paved at 21 feet or at the present village minimum width of 28 feet, with curbs.

Village Pres. John G. Woods said he favored the 21-foot width, and the board backed him. Woods explained he felt the strip was an isolated case and it would be "out of character" with Sherwood as a standard street.

Village Mgr. L. A. Hanson agreed, noting the village "has no conceivable plans for changing the area." (A

by ED LANDWEHR

We're often asked at LANDWEHR TV, 218 N. Dunton, Arlington Heights, about UHF and VHF, and wonder if there are many people that don't know the difference.

It is simply this . . . VHF (Very High Frequency) does not allow for enough stations in the United States without overlapping TV waves. Interference in the fringe areas would constantly spoil reception.

UHF (Ultra High Frequency) opened 70 additional channels in a higher frequency area and allowed for more coverage.

Phone CLearbrook 5-0700 and ask us. We'll assure you satisfaction, too, if you need TV or radio services.

Long Grove Church Resumes Old Schedule

Sunday marked the beginning of the regular two-service worship schedule at Long Grove Church. Services will be at 9 and 10:30 a.m. Church school classes will also convene at those hours. Nursery care will be offered during both services.

At a meeting held Wednesday evening at the church, parents of seventh and eighth graders were given an introduction to the study to be conducted at their children's mid-week class. The first session will be Sept. 22.

A dedication service for parents and the teachers of the church school will be conducted during both services this Sunday. This will be the last Sunday that the summer choir will sing, most of its members soon going off to college. Therefore, it is hoped many will attend the coffee hour following the 10:30 service to say goodbye to our youth, to greet newcomers and to renew friendships that have ebbed because of vacation absences.

A SINCERE wish to the new church school faculty that they may know many rewarding moments during the opportunities opened up for them in their teacher-child associations. Mrs. Fred French will serve as leader of the seventh and eighth grade classes, with Craig Anderson, Mrs. Floyd Gustafson Mrs. Kingsley Karnopp and Mrs. Alfred Williams assisting as teachers. Mrs. Joseph Klemeyer will be eighth grade assistant. Teachers of the nursery, kindergarten and primary group are Joyce Didier, Janet Hurley, Mrs. Martin Wulff, Mrs. William Grasmick, Mrs. Franklin Bivins, Sara Webster, Mrs. Robert Krause, Laura Hurley and Mrs. Loren Prescott; lower juniors, Mrs. Raymond Jorgensen, Mrs. David Edmunds, Mrs. Whitford Kuhn, Patricia Hartman; upper juniors, David Edmunds and Mrs. Alfred Williams, and the nursery will be headed by Eileen Jungbluth and Mrs. Orvel Leibert. Tots in the pre-nursery group will receive in-the-home supervision by Mrs. William Hahnfeldt.

The women who attend the Guild coffee Sept. 15 at Mrs. Floyd Gustafson's home, they'll hear about their hostess's month-long vacation in Penticton, B. C. She, her son, Kevin, and Burt Schell Jr. returned last week, bringing Keith home with them. He worked all summer on the ranch run by his sister and family, the William B. Rogers. Main project was to lay the pipes of a huge irrigation project to insure a good hay crop.

Asked what she liked best about the vacation, Emmy says it was the feeling of being away from home routine, also the sight of deer in one's driveway every morning, the beautiful scenery, and, of course, her granddaughter, Crissy's fourth birthday party. Though the days have been hot nights were unusually cool, a frost coming too soon and nipping the beginning of the tomato harvest.

BURT SCHELL Jr. caught a 26 inch kamloop, a trout, that is, enough to feed nine for dinner, while there. "Fishing is great," they say, with the nearby Lake Okanagon, 130 miles long, known as the second deepest lake in the world. Their going and coming plus the side trips totaled 6,000 miles on the Gustafson's speedometer by the time they reached Long Grove.

Something new is about to sprout up in the way of Long Grove activity and fellowship. That something is the once-a-month book discussion, using a book with direct or indirect religious interest. Couples will meet in one another's homes, the discussion to be preceded by a potluck dinner. The host or hostess will serve as the moderator. The first meeting, with "Franny and Zooey" as the choice for discussion, will take place in October. Interested Long Grovers may call the church office to sign up, either as a couple or as an individual participant.

Ideally, it is hoped that the response to the venture will be so great that many small groups will be formed, members rotating from one group to another, to discuss a variety of exciting and controversial fare.

AT A meeting Aug. 31 at the home of Community Club President Mrs. Stewart Richmond, board members approved a proposed budget of $2265, which they'll present to the membership at the Sept. 16 meeting at 8 o'clock. Lorrie says she hopes the meeting will be "a get acquainted night," and urges newcomers especially to attend. At the board meeting Mrs. Harold Bauer, rodeo fund chairman, reported that total receipts realized by Long Grove amounted to $159.40, the figure including a percentage of ticket money plus donations.

Board members heard an announcement that Mrs. Gladys Busch, kindergarten teacher, would appreciate items of small-fry dress apparel for the room's dress-up department. The request is for dolls, doll clothing, little girls' hats, purses and small high heeled shoes.

Members also gave approval to the decision of High School Dist. 125 to seek to extend its present bond issue by referendum. The need is foreseen as a result of Stevenson High School having become a four-year school instead of a two-year institution as initially expected. The referendum is to come up this fall.

Chairmen Mrs. Hartley Bell and Mrs. Jon Henricks have put their heads together to plot the dazzling scenery for the Parisian dinner dance slated for Sept. 24 at Long Grove Country Club. Ticket promoters aren't having too much trouble getting rid of their quota when they remind residents that funds raised will go toward continuing the Kildeer Countryside School District's share of counseling services as contracted through Family Service of South Lake County.

WITH schools so soon to claim them, our young people have been deluged in a stream of picnics. If the 35 Youth Fellowship members who traveled to Zion State Park Aug. 29 for a beach party could think of nothing else except how hungry they were, it was perhaps due to the brisk breezes wafting in from the lake. Making the trip by bus, they were accompanied by Mrs. Richard Ireland, Craig Anderson and Bill Miller. Baseball and a few other games made it a picnic.

The "Kastelles" from Lake Zurich provided the music at the high school Youth Canteen held Friday evening at Long Grove Church social room.

The regular Long Grove Church adult choir is ready to swing into its schedule to take up where the summer group has left off. The faithful "regulars" will meet Sept. 15 at 8 p.m. at the James Korbelik home. During the vacation absence of Director Mrs. Arthur Edmunds, Mrs. Korbelik will serve as director in addition to her duties as organist. If you like to sing, why not join them?

From former Mardan Woods residents, the Chris Jenkins, comes word they wish to say goodbye to all their friends here, whom they've enjoyed knowing the past nine years. According to Lee, they are now settled in their two story "older home" on 4 Orchard Lane, Golf. David and Leanna are already becoming acquainted with next door playmates.

THE AUSTIN Hawleys of Mexico City, whose acquaintance Mrs. Bea Whitney's sister, Ann Sloscher, made 25 years ago when they visited her in a Mexico hospital during her seige of pneumonia, were visited recently when Bea, her son, Dick, and Ann spent four weeks on the road. Stopping places included Guadalajara, also the resort town of Acapulco, the area around Lake Chappalo and Melaque, a suburb of Barra De Navidad, the latter a picturesque scene of Indian villages.

To their delight, the highways have been widened and made much safer since their previous journey.

Bitburg, Germany was Junior Robert Pruitt's destination when he boarded a plane at O'Hare Saturday which plunged him back into Air Force duty after a 30-day leave. Bob's leisure was crammed full of movies, baseball, bowling and catching up on news from his many friends. He also gave a hand with preparations at Stevenson School's library, its facilities being one of his mother's present concerns. While he was home, the Pruitts drove to Gary, Ind., and Slinger, Wis., to visit friends and relatives.

Home at last is Judy Wilmes, after a ten-month trek through Europe and Morocco. Scarcely had she unpacked her luggage when a friend whose acquaintance she had made in Glasgow, Scotland, Dr. Jean MacPhail, knocked on her door. The guest is serving her internship in a Grand Rapids hospital. The Wilmeses are looking forward to seeing the large collection of colored slides Judy brought back.

FROM THE George Spoerleins' daughter, Judy and husband, the Frank Keoughs, comes word they are settled in their new home in Sunny Vale, Calif. Sunday the Spoerleins were among the 25 guests who gathered to shower George's sister, Miss Evelyn Spoerlein of Arlington Heights, with birthday wishes.

From Greeley, Colo., came the Arthur Pottses' relatives, the R. Fords recently, the Pottses hosting a dinner in their honor; other guests were Art's mother, Mrs. Nick Potts, the Harold Van Bergens of Libertyville and the Melvin Towners and Carl Potts. Former Long Grover, Mrs. Robert Nordstrom Sr. of Palatine spent a recent Thursday at the Pottses'.

There hasn't been a dull moment at Mrs. Cora Herschberger's home since her daughter and family, the Nick Herffs, arrived from Eagle Rock, Calif. The Elmer Haseman home in Arlington Heights and the Carl Tonne residence in Lake Zurich have been the scenes of many family get-togethers in honor of the visitors.

Bryan, Ohio, was the destination of the Victor Jacobs family recently when they motored to visit Jenny's sister and family, the Harry Connellys.

In addition to fishing for bass while at Hayward, the Stewart Richmonds were able to be on hand for the 46th wedding anniversary of Lorrie's parents, the Wesley Beckers, which was observed Aug. 22.

Julie Fournier received her first look at San Francisco, the scene of her mother's girlhood home, when Mrs. Willard Fournier, Michael, Patty, Julie and the baby flew back home this summer. "Yes, 'twas foggy and the Pacific looked real clean," says Julie. They also flew to Los Angeles to visit relatives.

THE John Petersons' friends, the Sulle Langes of Des Plaines and the Al Matthys of Fox Lake made it a Saturday night dinner party at their home. The following day John and Marge hosted the John Otts of Des Plaines.

One must learn to take the mosquitoes along with the wild blueberries Rushton and Earnest Williamson and their dad learned during their 250-mile canoe trip around Hunter's Island in the Quetico region of Canada. Taking off July 31 from Ely, Minn., where they outfitted themselves with appropriate outfits at the store of a long time sportsman friend, they chalked up 25 miles a day in their canoe. Via their trek through the wilderness of birch, pine and cedar, they saw 10 deer, some muskrats and a beaver. Each night pitching their three-man tent, they cooked their meals over a wood fire, living on ham, spaghetti, peas, canned meat and stew.

For Rushton this has been the eighth summer at Quetico, their dad, a well seasoned camper by now, his seventh summer of roughing it.

Lutheran Church in Lincolnwood was the scene of the Sept. 4 wedding in which James, son of the Fred Westneys of Checker Road, took for his bride Miss Virginia Anderson of Edgebrook.

Birthday wishes go to Bill Park, Sept. 9; Diane Kieser, Cheryl Stramaglio and the latter's father, Arthur Potts, 11th; Leslie Turner, 12th and to Harold Evans, 14th. Anniversary wishes go to the Ed Rodewalds, Sept. 14.

And a fond goodbye to the Jack Walgrens who are renting a home in Lake Forest and to Twin Orchard members, the Morrie Kellmans, who have spent the summer in their Long Grove home and are off to their winter quarters in Lincolnwood.

Someone has lost a little white poodle. Following a Twin Orchard golfer a few weeks ago and looking very forlorn, it was picked up and taken to her home. For more information, call this reporter. (WP Neighbors bid farewell to the Robert Cowan family last week, as they moved to Palos Park, having sold their home at 157 N. Linden.

And greetings this week come from former residents at 157 N. Linden via this reporter and her two sons who stopped to see Millie, Ted and Mary Ellen Palmer in their Wilmette home on Sunday.

The Ronald Penkalas, 156 N. Linden, spent the holiday weekend visiting relatives who live on farms in the Guttenberg, Iowa, area. This was great fun for 2½-year-old David, but of little concern to 6-week-old Bradford. But this weekend is being planned in Bradford's honor. If all goes according to schedule, he will be baptized on Sunday. More about that next week.

THIS WEEK it was difficult to get from one street to another. There just wasn't enough time, especially when there is activity such as that at the Wallace O. Ramberg home, 49 N. Linden. Their daughter, Susan, is arriving at O'Hare Airport tonight, Thursday, following a 12-week tour of Europe and England, the last four weeks of which, according to her letters home, have been the most picturesque.

In their travels, Susan and three girlfriends have toured Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, France, Spain, Italy, Switzerland, Austria and England being covered these past four weeks. For two of the weeks they were accompanied by Susan's cousin who is stationed at Roto, Spain, with the U. S. Naval Air Force.

Susan will barely have time to tell of her travels and numerous experiences before she takes off on the weekend for her senior year at Kansas University in Lawrence, the first semester of which she will have practice teaching.

THEN THERE is the activity at the William Noland home, 26 N. Linden, where Michael, now of legal voting age, as of his 21st birthday Sept. 6. He spent the day attending the Corvette Rally at Elkhart Lake, Wis. There was a family celebration for him on Sunday, when his grandmother and aunt, Mrs. Charles Noland and Miss Mary Noland came out from Chicago for dinner and the day. And in another week Mike will accept Uncle Sam's draft call by reporting to Des Plaines induction center to begin two years of Army duty. He will be on a leave of absence from a steel concern for which he has been in sales since last February.

The end of the same week, Sept. 19 Brian Noland will leave for his freshman year at St. Ambrose College in Davenport.

This doesn't mean that the girls in the family haven't been active. Nine-year-old Margie, an avid swimmer, brought home four ribbons from Sunday's swim meet, three of which were firsts in diving, backstroke and crawl.

PALANOIS PARK gained another voter, as of Sept. 3, when Donna Hughes was 21. She leaves Friday to begin her senior year at the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

Whether her brother, Gordon Jr., starts his freshman year this semester or next will depend on weekly blood tests. For the past two weeks he has had complete bed rest after the doctor's diagnosis was "mono." He was to have left Tuesday for Freshman Week at Wisconsin, and this was hard enough to forego. There is still a chance that he will get his release in time for classes. At least he has enough of us pulling for him.

When Mrs. Roy MacIntosh left 120 S. Linden on Friday evening, she crowded lots of activity in between then, when she took off by plane from O'Hare Airport for Denver, and her return flight Sunday morning.

SATURDAY morning Jane attended the wedding of her niece, Nancy Rekosh, daughter of the Frank Rekoshes of E. St. Louis. In addition to the wedding festivities and visiting with the family, she also took time for a sightseeing tour of Denver.

Mrs. Byron Finegan, 32 S. Rohlwing Road, and the boys, Scott and Jan, returned from their summer spent at their cottage near Drummond, Wis., in time to welcome the boys' sister, Linden, home from a seven-week stay in the east with former neighbors, the Carl Lewins.

Linden drove east with the Lewins who left Palanois Park due to a company transfer for Carl and she returned by plane. While in the east, Linden visited Vermont, spent time at the summer cottage of Carl's family in New Hampshire and was also with the Lewins' daughter, Joan and her husband, Cone Beckham. In addition to all of the other activities, Linden also celebrated her 14th birthday.

News of the Lewins is that yesterday, Wednesday, they were to move into their new home in Wilton, Conn.

Getting back to the cottage near Drummond, Byron was able to spend a couple weeks vacationing with the family.

SPENDING a few days in that area, also, were Bill, Betty and Billy McKinlay of 44 S. Rohlwing Road. Their week's vacation provided a variety of stopping off spots. They also drove to Sault Ste. Marie and on to Ontario, Canada, back down to Mackinac Island and Muskegon and then home.

Tuesday morning Billy McKinley was among the younger set who attended kindergarten class for the first time. His comments weren't available that evening, as he and his mother had not yet returned from a ride to Whitewater, Wis., where they had gone with Bill's aunt to deliver her son to the university there.

Best wishes went with the Wilbur Harris family as they moved last week to Connecticut.

In celebration of the sixth birthday Sept. 6 of Robby Piotrowski, his parents, the Lincoln Piotrowskis of 250 S. Elmwood, entertained at a family dinner party. Among the guests were his grandparents and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Piotrowski and Dr. Pola Piotrowski from Barrington.

EARLIER activities included a date at Pheasant Run Playhouse and dinner for Lincoln and Mary. The play was "Never Too Late," starring Don DeFore.

A family adventure some weeks ago included a day's tour of Mr. Piotrowski's alma mater, St. Joseph College in Rensalear, Ind. Not only did they get to sit in on indoor and outdoor classes sessions, they also witnessed a practice session of the Chicago Bears.

It has also been reported that Steve Blundstone is home on leave from Naval Air Force duty, but more about that next week. Time has run out.

However, birthday wishes must be extended to Deanna Rein, Sept. 2; Fred Koller Jr., Sept. 3; across the waters to Marine John Rein, Sept. 4; and belatedly to Lori Anne Nesmith, 3 Aug. 27.

Parking Added at St. Paul's Church

Beginning Sunday, Sept. 12 double sessions of church worship services and church school classes will be resumed at St. Paul Church, Palatine.

Complete graded church school classes will meet at both 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. All high school classes will meet only at the 9:30 a.m. session.

New parking facilities have recently been added to handle 80 additional cars at Oak and Slade Streets. The newly blacktopped area with new grass and bumpers is now surrounding the lot, 182 feet by 165 feet. An additional lot of 145 feet by 138 feet to the east of the present lot was recently purchased and will be filled and developed in the future.

THESE FACILITIES can be added to the present facilities of the Chicago Avenue parking lot and to those along the west side of the church building between Chicago Avenue and Slade Street.

The new facilities at Oak Street will be used by the students and faculty of the Wood Street High School on week days during their construction of an addition.

The facilities on Chicago Avenue have been used by commuters for several years as arranged with the Village of Palatine. (P

Backed a Loser

John Charles Fremont, in 1856, became the first Presidential candidate of the newly formed Republican Party.

How many times have you made a pledge or a promise that you knew would never be honored? How many times have you agreed to something openly and secretly whispered to yourself that you didn't agree at all?

Honor a pledge and a promise. Be true to yourself, to God and to your fellow man. It is far better to say "no" and mean it than to say "yes" and know that you speak a lie. We cannot argue with truth and our conscience, unlike our friends, refuses to accept excuses.

We can keep faith, with ourselves and with others, by a simple dedication to honesty. It is not always the easiest way. Sometimes it sets us apart from the crowd. None of us like to stand alone, but none stands with his feet more firmly planted than the man who has the courage to stand on a conviction.

There is a reward for honesty, for keeping faith. It is a feeling of richness, an awareness that life can be beautiful and clean and good; it is a feeling of peace and a sense of courage strong enough to face whatever tomorrow may bring.

OLD DUTCH MILL
Built in 1850

The DuPage County Historical Society presented an AWARD OF HONOR to Mount Emblem in 1956 for preserving the Old Dutch Mill as an educational and historic exhibit.

Visitors to the Old Dutch Mill are always welcome.

Mount Emblem is distinctively different.

Here is the expression of an ideal-Nature's eternal loveliness transformed into a memorial of Living Beauty. Natural beauty-unmarred by artificiality or perishable structures. This is the keynote of our landscape policy. Objects of nature are real, their appeal is universal, continuous through time.

When you visit you will be aware of the meticulous maintenance. You will find that our prices are moderate. It costs no more to own the best.

Everybody is harnessed to something — driven by an idea, or the concept of life he holds. If it gives you a glimpse of God, then your harness is Truth, and it guides to the only freedom and fulfillment man can know. Cowboys Still Lead a Rough 'n' Tough Life

Today They Ride The Rodeo Circuit

by TOM EDWARDS
Staff Writer

Horses and danger rather than cows are the making of a comboy, at least the modern day cowboy.

And there are modern day cowboys. Most of them can be found riding the rodeo circuit.

Some of the more successful are just what the American public would imagine a real life cowboy to be —lean, leathery, rough and tough.

For the rodeo circuit is a grueling one and a precarious existence, both financially and physically. A cowboy who is trying to make a living at it may travel perhaps 1,000 miles or more on a weekend to enter perhaps two rodeos and spend a total of one minute on horseback or picking himself up out of the dust.

MORE NOWADAYS are weekend cowboys, holding full-time jobs during the week and hitting as many rodeos as they can reach from their home via the nation's highways.

About 10,000 people turned out last week to witness cowboys compete with animals at Arcadia Farms riding stable on Arlington Heights Road west of Buffalo Grove.

A number were asked how they got started in their bone jarring occupation or avocation. All said they had either practically grown up with horses or had otherwise worked around them as youths.

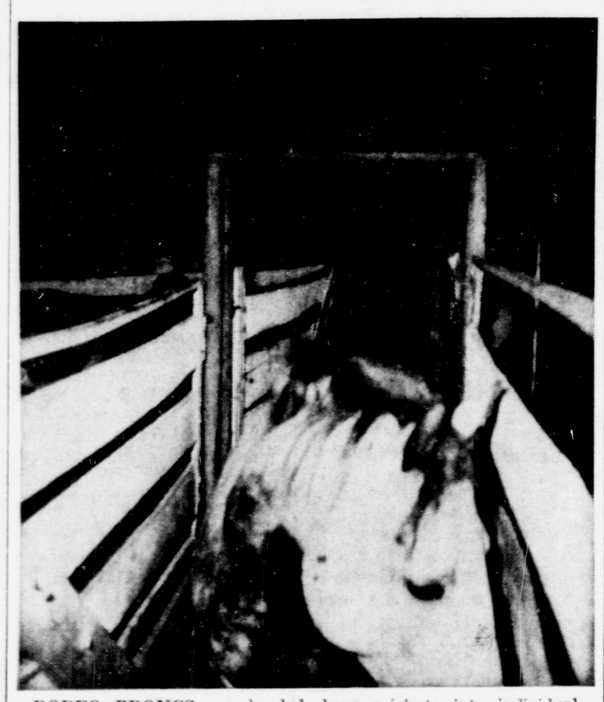
Today's cowboys may be from the north, south or east as well as the west.

Rather than beef ranches, riding and racing stables are now their main training grounds. There are also "rodeo schools" today, particularly valuable for learning calf roping and steer wrestling.

Like the whole world's, a cowboy's imagination is probably caught up with the romance and life of the old and wild west. But so are his energies, also.

For rodeos in particular, it is the excitement of man facing a brute challenge and possible injury that would seem to be the main crowd pulling attraction.

DANGER IS THE element which the announcer, nattily dressed in western attire, carefully plays up before the bronc and bull riding events.



RODEO BRONCS are herded down a chute into individual pens, where they are mounted by the cowboy and then a gate swung open to the arena. If the cowboy is able to stay on the horse eight seconds, he is judged on the quality of his ride. How hard the horse bucks is taken into account in the judging.

It is dangerous. Bones crumble when hit by a galloping or thrashing hoof of such a large animal.

Perhaps it is an attempt to conquer fear as well as the prize money that draws men into this arena.

Fear is probably the cowboy's worst enemy. A rigid cowboy would fall off practically any horse let alone a bucking one.

And there is no getting away from the fear. It rides with them. You can see it building up in the groups of cowboys hanging around the corrals waiting for the rodeo to begin, forcing strained laughs.

They drag hard on cigarettes like in the Marlboro advertisements, and many swaggeringly keep a cud of tobacco stuffed in their mouths, waiting to challenge an animal that is their physical superior.

Their whole psyche is pinpointed for that bucking ride of about eight seconds duration. It is their moment of glory, their admission into the gruff fraternity of other riders.

Yet the danger of a rodeo is almost exclusively man-made. Although many of the broncs are "rebels" of sorts, they are usually placid, beat-up, and suffering from malnutrition. Their one distinguishment is spirit and a strong will to survive.

A "BUCKING" rope is tightly clinched around the hind end of the animals to help make sure they buck, and they are goaded with electric prods.

Until banned this year, they were usually raked by sharpened spurs which cut into their hides. In fact, well placed spur cuts were said to be of an assist in getting a high score from the judges.

The goal of the animal is to escape rather than injure.

Just as dangerous as the animal is the rigging put on him. In the saddle bronc riding there is always the spectre of "hanging up" in the stirrup and being dragged under the pounding hooves.

One of the chief dangers in bull riding is that the animal very often spins in a circle while bucking, thereby greatly increasing the chance of his rider being kicked, or gored.

Probably most accidents, however, occur when the animals inadvertently run against a fence with their riders.

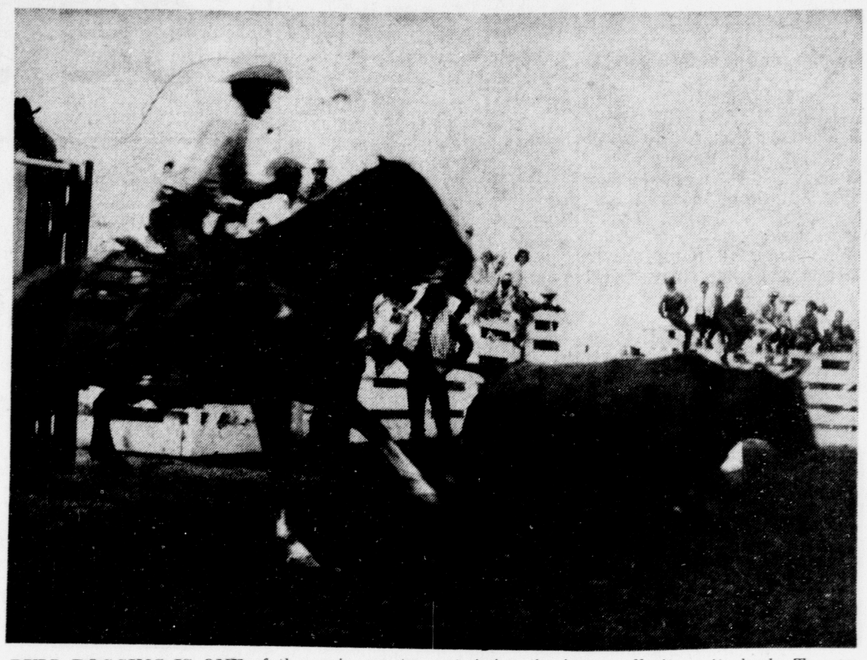
All cowboys aren't heroes. Like any group, there are the hangers-on and those who follow the rodeos mainly for the wild parties that often take place afterwards.

For some it is the association of this cowboy life with virility that maybe attracts them.

SOME ARE skinny kids looking for manhood and adventure.

Many of those who own calf roping horses, quick and highly trained animals, are well-to-do businessmen who simply enjoy the thrill and exhilaration of the competition.

In their general dealings with the public, the cowboys are known as a courteous group. eyb Ma it is tocompensate n Maybe it is to compensate and balance the brute, rugged aspect of rodeo competition. (B-10



BULL DOGGING IS ONE of the main events in a rodeo. From the back of his horse the cowboy makes a diving grab at the steer's horns, brings the animal to a halt, then by twisting the horns rolls it on its back. To win first place, a cowboy would probably have to catch and throw the steer within eight seconds. (B10

Modern Etiquette

Q. When a man is invited by a woman to escort her to a dance, banquet, or some such affair, is he supposed always to bring her a corsage?

A. Only if the affair is a formal one, and he knows she will be wearing an evening dress.

Q. How can a divorced woman who is using her maiden name prefixed by "Miss" word the invitations to her daughter's wedding?

A. For just such social reasons, she should not be using "Miss" in front of her name. However, in this case, she can put "Mrs." in front of her maiden name, then give her daughter's full name in the invitations.

Q. Should a dinner hostess keep on eating as long as her guests do?

A. Yes. A thoughtful and tactful hostess will notice which guests are a little slow, and she will so manage to pace her own eating with her slowest guest.

Q. How do the wordings differ in the formal wedding invitation and in the invitation to the reception?

A. The wedding invitations "request the honour of your presence," while the reception invitations "request the pleasure of your company."

YMCA Plans Handicapped Swim Class

Northwest Suburban YMCA is now taking reservations for adults and children in the handicapped swim program, which begins Sept. 29 and continues each Wednesday from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at the 'Y.'

This is the fourth year that this community service is offered to adults and children who cannot participate in normal physical activities.

Since the class is limited, parents are asked to register their children early. They must have a doctor's certificate to show they can participate.

HEADED BY MRS. Thomas Crouch of Palatine, the program has taught hundreds of handicapped children and adults to swim for pleasure, and many have gone on to advanced swim programs.

Each handicapped person has an individual instructor for all classes. Further information is available at the 'Y' by calling CY 6-3376. (B10

Suburban Retail Growth Plan Suggested

Study Relates Future Needs

The need for a metropolitan plan to give guidance and direction to retail growth was suggested in a study released Wednesday by the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission.

The study of the retailing system in Chicago's suburban area describes the future needs of that part of the metropolian area and was presented to the public by the commission vice-president, John W. Baird at a morning press conference held in the planning organization's offices at 400 W. Madison, Chicago.

"Dramatic changes are taking place in the structure and organization of commercial facilities in the Northeastern Illinois metropolitan area," said Matthew L. Rockwell, executive director of the commission. "This study seeks to analyze these changes and to identify the major underlying forces at work. It will provide the planning commission with some of the data needed in the preparation of a comprehensive plan for the area.

"IT IS OUR hope that it will be of use also to other public agencies and business firms in developing their plans and programs," Rockwell said. "The commission is indebted to Prof. Brian J.L. Berry of the University of Chicago, who directed the preparation of the report, and to the many organizations and individuals who contributed to the study."

An earlier work by Prof. Berry provides comparable data for the City of Chicago.

Dr. Berry, professor of geography, described the 201-page planning commission publication, entitled "Commercial Structure," as a study of an interrelated system as it is adjusting to differences in relative growth of various parts of the metropolitan area.

"The report deals with business centers and with business ribbons. It considers the way in which equilibrium between demand and supply is shifted as changes take place in both income levels and consumers." Berry said.

"THERE ARE TWO main themes: new growth and growth requirements and the adjustments in older, inner areas as properties age and markets which are served change."

Rockwell said information in the report will be useful to those interested in preserving the economic health of the older business district as well as those interested in new shopping center development.

"There has been a tendency in recent years to write off some of the older business districts completely," Rockwell said. "I think this is a mistake because we have evidence of strong action in many communities to preserve much of the character and strength of these well-established business centers."

The report states that "changes in any one part of the system affect all other parts, and thesee changes (with both beneficial and disadvantageous aspects) take place without regard to municipal boundaries. This points up the need for a metropolitan plan to provide a network for local planning and give guidance and direction to retail growth through cooperative, concerted action."

THE THREE MAJOR groups of factors responsible for the changes taking place in the retail structure of the metropolitan area were listed in the report as:

1) Changes in the numbers, incomes, tastes and spatial distribution of consumers.

2) Changes in the technology and institutional organization of the retail and services industries.

3) Changes in consumer mobility.

Two separate groups of retail centers were observed, each with its own locational pattern, size characteristics, functional composition, market area relationships and design characteristics.

The two retail groups were the pre-war unplanned retail districts and the post-war planned shopping centers.

The major planning problems described in the report are providing adequate new retail locations and the adjustments necessary in older developments as they become less important.

THE STUDY points out that "the range of opportunities for making provision for new retail locations in 1980 may be quite limited. This fact stems from the integrated nature of modern shopping center development and the hierarchic character of retail systems; all location opportunities for smaller centers are strongly influenced by the locations of the largest major regional centers.

"Thus, as few as 20 major location decisions may shape most other retail growth in the metropolitan area in the next two decades, for projected population increases suggest opportunities for no greater number of the largest centers." (A-15

New Social Security Law Benefits Over-65 Worker

(Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles by Henry T. Williamson, Northwest social security district manager, 4255 N. Milwaukee, telling what the social security amendments of 1965 mean to you and your family.)

By HENRY T. WILLIAMSON
District Manager
Northwest Social Security Office

Many people who continue to work after they become entitled to monthly social security benefits will benefit from a liberalization of the retirement test in the 1965 amendments.

First, the exempt amount—the amount of earnings a beneficiary can have in a year and still receive all benefits during the year—was increased from $1,200 to $1,500. This change also means that even if a person's earnings exceed $1,500 during the year, he may still receive a full payment for any month in which wages are $125 or less.

SECOND, a smaller amount of benefits will be withheld when the beneficiary works and earns over $1,500 a year. Previously, $1 in benefits was withheld for every $2 of earnings between $1,200 and $1,700 in a year.

On earnings above $1,700, $1 in benefits was withheld for every $1 of earnings. After 1965, $1 in benefits will be withheld for every $2 of earnings between $1,500 and $2,700. Benefits will be withheld on dollar for dollar basis on earnings above $2,700.

Three changes will be effective for taxable years ending after 1965.

For example, a man and wife receive a combined benefit of $150 a month and he works and has earnings of $2,700 in both 1965 and 1966. Their total possible benefit. if it were payable, would be $1,800 each year.

FOR 1965, the couple would actually receive benefits of $550 ($1,800 less $1,250—$250 withheld for the $500 of earnings between $1,200 and $1,700 and $1,000 withheld for the $1,000 of earnings above $1,700.)

For 1966 they would get total benefits of $1,200 ($1,800 minus $600 of the $1,200 of earnings between $1,500 and $2,700).

If his earnings were $2,750 for each year, the couple would receive total benefits of $500 for 1965 and $1,150 for 1966.

ANOTHER change in the retirement test concerns royalties received in or after the year in which a self-employed person attains age 65 on a copyright or patent obtained before the year the person is 65. These earnings will no longer count for purposes of the retirement test. This change is effectife for taxable years beginning after 1964.

Anyone having any question about their rights or duties under the Social Security law, write, phone, or visit their nearest social security district office. (A15

Claims for Benefits Reach Year's Low

A decrease in the number of individuals claiming benefits under the Illinois unemployment compensation program decreased during the week ending Aug. 28, according to John E. Cullerton, state director of labor.

The decrease was attributed to accelerated industrial preparations for the seasonal increase in business activity which normally occurs after Labor Day.

CULLERTON also said that the week's figure was the lowest so far this year.

Claims for Illinois unemployment compensation were filed by 46,097 persons throughout the state in the week ended Aug. 28. This was six per cent fewer than in the preceding week (49,020) and 14 per cent fewer than in the comparable week in 1964 (53,464).

Included in the statewide total were 5,731 individuals who filed their first claims following a layoff. This was eight per cent fewer than the 6,230 in the preceding week and 16 per cent fewer than the 6,806 in the comparable week in 1964.

THERE WERE 26,247 claimants in Cook and DuPage Counties. Their number was 4.7 per cent below the preceding week's figure (27,530) and 18 per cent below the comparable week in 1964 (31,911). The total for Cook and DuPage Counties included 2,788 persons who filed their first claims following a layoff. This was 8.4 per cent fewer than in the preceding week (3,045) and 20 per cent fewer than in the comparable week in 1964 (3,481).

Samuel C. Bernstein, Employment Security Administrator, reported layoffs affecting 425 workers in construction; 280 workers in apparel; 230 workers in service industries; 200 workers in trade; 200 workers in electrical equipment; and smaller numbers in other industries. Mr. Bernstein also reported that workers were recalled to their jobs in transportation equipment, machinery, electrical equipment, and service industries. (A15

This is the total number of children for which birth records were prepared but does not include adoptions of children born in another state (927) or adoptions where the adopting parents did not want a new certificate (48). It does no include foreign-born children adopted in Illinois and 1,103 Illinois-born children adopted in other states.

OF THE 7,791 adoptions, almost half went into homes where there were other children and 65 of this group went into families where there were already six or more children. Again, boys were more popular than girls.

While about 85 per cent were under 10 years of age when the adoption took place, 1,211 were over age 10, and 81 of this group were age 20 years and over. Sixty-four adoptions were made by single, unmarried persons. (A-15

Library Well Stocked With Mystery Stories

by JANET BONE

"Last night I dreamt I went to Manderley again. It seemed to me I stood by the iron gate leading to the drive, and for a while I could not enter for the way was barred to me. There was a padlock and a chain upon the gate. I called in my dream to the lodgekeeper, and had no answer, and peering closer through the rusted spokes of the gate I saw that the lodge was uninhabited."

So begins Daphne DuMaurier's hauntingly beautiful novel, "Rebecca," one example of the nearly 1,000 mystery stories on the Mount Prospect Public Library shelves.

At the other extreme in style is this excerpt from "Franck-incense and Murder" by Baynard Kendrick: "And what of Brock Haskell? His record stinks like a gourd vine. I'd like to get one look at his secret files. I'll bet I could dig up enough dirt on him to get his union members to tear him to pieces."

AND IN BETWEEN, lie heroes, detectives, spies, murderers, and criminals of varied enough temperaments to appeal to all lovers of crime, gore, detection and the supernatural.

Actually, the word "mystery" itself means something beyond human comprehension and was first applied to medieval dramatic presentations of Biblical stories. Trade guilds—the weavers, millers or silversmiths—presented plays about heaven, earth and hell on movable stages in various towns. Gradually they evolved from simple Christmas or Easter pageants to quite secular performances with the addition of many extra comic elements, including, for example, the stubborn wife of Noah who refused to enter the Ark.

The novel itself got its real start in the 1700's, and by the late years of that century, the "goose-flesh school of fiction" became popular. In these Gothic novels, heroines were exposed to such terrors as ghosts, strange lights, mysterious voices, pictures that seem alive and statues that seem to drip blood. "Rebecca" is a modern form of Gothic novel; so are the transition-in-time novels of John Dickson Carr (Carter Dickson).

DETECTIVE stories picked up speed with Edgar Allan Poe's "The Gold Bug" and the famous Sherlock Holmes series. In these, the master detective, endowed with more-than-ordinary intelligence and perception, shows off his superior knowledge to unravel puzzling events.

Early Ellery Queen novels and those of S. S. Van Dine (all on library shelves) fit into this category. The contrast between early Ellery with his pince-nez, valet Djuna, ferrule, and his Latin and Greek quotations at least once a chapter and the cocky Donald Lam created by A. A. Fair (Erle Stanley Gardner) indicates how times have changed since the early '30's.

Incidentally, library readers had better scan their books before checking them out. Early Queen and late Queen stand side by side on the shelves. The Wrightsville series are distinctly the former; the Queen anthologies fit modern tastes. An unwary reader who expects a fast-moving novel may find himself with a plot that depends, for example, on the knowledge that JHVH, or Yahweh, is the Hebrew eqcivalent of Jehovah.

OTHER EARLY Queen is equally as esoteric. Ellery takes five pages in "The Dutch Shoe Mystery" to deduce that the murderer must be connected with hospitals because a broken shoelace was mended with adhesive tape.

Dorothy Sayers' Lord Peter Wimsey is equally as infuriating a hero. In one of his exploits, the major clue comes in a minor change in the 8-day English pattern of cathedral bell-ringing. So, incidentally, is early Hercule Poiret with his "little gray cells," created by Agatha Christie (in private life, the wife of a world-famous Middle East archaeologist).

Whether your taste runs to Clarence Buddington Kelland's style—"she was not offended. Tears filled her beautiful eyes and she seemed pitifully young and uncertain and unhappy. She let her hand touch his knee"—or Michael Shayne's callousness—in "The Corpse That Never Was" there are two suicides on page 12. On page 13, Mike is eating chicken gravy over rice in his secretary's apartment, and on page 14 ther's a double homicide with cyanide and shotgun—you'll find plenty of mystery stories at the Library to keep you deliciously in deduction.

IN ADDITION to the mysteries on the rental shelf, there is a ceiling-high case filled with crime. You'll find it near the magazine racks in the northwest corner of the adult room.

Come on in for a cavalcade of crime! We unlock the doors of our inner sanctum at 10 a.m., and close at the witching hour of 9 throughout the week. Saturdays (to update the style) we knock off at 5. See you at the air conditioned library. (M

Rights Leaders Will Discuss Non-Violence

Bernard Lafayette, one of the founders of the Student Non-violent Co-ordinating Committee, and Sam Dennis, assistant director of the Catholic Interracial Council, are speaking in Mount Prospect today (Thursday).

They will discuss non-violence in the civil rights movement at the Mount Prospect Country Club. All residents are invited to attend the discussion which will begin at 8 p.m.

Lafayette is considered an expert on non-violence. He dropped out of college to devote all his energy to the movement to help prevent violence between Negroes and Whites. Presently, he is working on Chicago's West Side, organizing neighborhoods into block communities so that the people together can help themselves and each other.

DENNIS has a B.A. in political science from De Paul University and is working on his PhD. in sociology. He was in Los Angeles when the rioting occurred. With the Interracial Council, Dennis is working daily with the Chicago school situation.

The program is being sponsored by the Minnesota Task Force Foundation Inc. Members of the foundation, local college students, conducted a brotherhood button drive in Mount Prospect. (M

Activities of Palatine

A 2-week holiday in the South began for Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Gustafson and Jim, 419 S. Hale, when they left here last month on their jet trip to Florida for a 4-day stay at the Martinique Hotel on the strip in Miami Beach. Adding to their leisure fun was swimming and surfing as well as attending floor shows at The Deauville and Sherry Frontanac Hotels.

Renting a car enabled them to take in a great deal of sightseeing with a drive to the Florida Keys, Everglades National Park, Naples and Vienna, where they visited with friends. From there they went on to St. Petersburg and Tampa and they returned home Aug. 28.

Having had the size of their household increased for a month, it was a bit lonesome for Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bergdahl, 315 N. Schubert, when their daughter, son-in-law and grandchild, Gina and David Lewin and 6-month-old Jeffrey left a week ago to make their home in Normal, where David is continuing his studies at Illinois State Normal Univ. There was a brief reunion, however, with the family over the Labor Day weekend when the Bergdahls stopped to visit them before going on to Pekin for a visit with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bergdahl.

VACATION-bound Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Williams, Jim and Gail, 326 S. Cedar, left here recently with their camp trailer for Wild Rose, Wis.,, where they picked up Tim and Johnny after their stay at the Boy Scout Camp Napowan. From there the family began their camping trip in the West. During the two week travels they had a stay at the Black Hills in South Dakota with the sightseeing agenda including Mt. Rushmore, Garden of the Gods and the Badlands.

In Colorado, the mountains were the backdrop for scenery when the family stopped at Estes Park and Colorado Springs. Since rock hunting is a hobby of the family, they brought back some specimens as a memento of the trip when they returned home Aug. 28.

Keeping Mrs. Williams' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Anderson of the same address company, during the trip was her aunt, Mrs. Gertrude Anderson of Chicago.

A late summer get-together took place at the 643 Stuart Lane home of Mr. and Mrs. Timothy F. Toomey the past two weekends. Dinner party guests Aug. 28 were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Prusner and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kettles, all of Niles, and Saturday guests greeted for dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Callahan of Evanston.

Current houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Noel C. Bruns, 135 S. Benton, are Mrs. Bruns' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nehrbass of Richfield, N. J. They will be visitors until Oct. 4 when they leave for a vacation abroad with plans to spend the major portion of a year in Spain.

MR. AND MRS. Paul Anstedt Jr., 249 E. Marion, Fairgrounds Park, were the recipients of 10th anniversary greetings Sept. 3. Old Orchard Country Club was the site of celebrating when they had dinner with four couples from the area.

A welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Strunk, Kathy and Steven, newcomers to Fairgrounds Park. Mrs. Strunk is the sister of Mr. Anstedt and she and her family moved to 140 N. Ashland from Aurora about the middle of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene A. Meyer, 329 N. Bothwell, were in Annapolis last month for the Aug. 21 wedding of their son, Lieut. j.g. Thomas Meyer and Eileen Cahill of College Park, Md., in the United States Naval Academy chapel. Other Palatine residents attending were Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Hamer and the Clifford Smiths. The newlyweds spent several days of their honeymoon with his parents in Palatine before returning to their new home in Charleston, S. C.

A VACATION for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wiehrdt, 138 E. Chicago Ave., during August was spent in Wisconsin. They drove with their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. George Cramer, Mary and Julie of N. Mozart, to Lake Couderay in the vicinity of Hayward for a 7-day stay at a Lodge while the family rented a cottage.

It was "ladies' choice" for a campsite when Mrs. Bernard Stahl, 146 S. Bothwell, left here last week Wednesday with Glen and her sister-in-law Mrs. Gus Stahl of Chicago. They drove to Bridgeman, Mich., to select a spot on Lake Michigan and set up housekeeping for the Labor Day weekend when the men joined them.

Visiting with Mrs. Martha Fiene, 428 N. Plum Grove Road a short while ago was her son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. George Fiene and their four children of Lantana, Fla. Visitors for eight days, they had a busy time seeing old friends and taking trips into the city.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Trimble, 77 E. Fairfax, will be minus a member next week when Debbie leaves to begin her freshman year at the University of Illinois in Champaign.

MR. AND MRS. John Hard and Bill, 108 S. Benton, were well rewarded when they chose the East Coast as the site of a 2-week vacation. They returned home Aug. 25 from Southport, Me., where they had a leisurely resort stay on the ocean with plenty of swimming and fishing. Credit goes to Mrs. Hard for catching one fish on the hook and another by the tail in the line.

One of the trip's highlights was a family reunion with 15 area relatives. Labor Day weekend there was another reunion with their son, daughter-in-law and grandchild when Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hard and 4-month-old Sally of Fort Wayne, Ind., were houseguests.

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Prest, 268 N. Mozart, were Mr. Prest's retired co-worker, Mike Boyle of Berwyn, and their nephew and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Prest, who had just moved from Northlake to Elgin.

Blowing out six candles on her cake was part of the birthday fun for Marianne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bartman, 431 Comfort Lane, when her Aug. 24 occasion was celebrated with dual partying. Ten friends were afternoon guests on her birthdate and the following Sunday she was honored at a family dinner party with 10 relatives.

LAST MONTH WAS a busy time for members in the Russell J. Golden family, 314 S. Benton. Mrs. Golden jetted to the West Coast for a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Collins of Inglewood, Cal., and enhancing the time was the presence there of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Maleski of Mount Prospect.

Taking a separate vacation, daughter, Sandy, spent a week in Limestone, Maine, visiting with her sorority sister, Mary Wilson. In turn, Mr. and Mrs. Collins spent a few days here recently and another houseguest was Mary Shaw, who was enroute to a vacation in Europe. Sunday here were farewells when Sandy and her local friend, Judy Diehl, left for Winfield, Kan., where they are resuming sophomore year studies at St. John College.

On a recent Saturday the Goldens, along with Mr. and Mrs. George Planert, 302 W. Chicago Ave., and former residents, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Rudd of Prospect Heights, were guests of another former Palatine couple Mr. and Mrs. William V. Roudebush of Algonquin aboard their cabin cruiser The Escape. There was a Hawaiian theme in the music and food as they celebrated Mr. and Mrs. Roudebush's 20th wedding anniversary.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Elsie Peekel, a former resident, on her death Aug. 23 in Chicago.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Walter Strauss, 200 N. Bothwell, welcomed son Paul when he returned from his vacation trip. On the road for 10 days, he drove to the Smoky Mountains and stopped in Charleston, S.C. for four days to visit with his brother and family, the junior Walter Strausses.

COMBINING vacation days with a visit, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Spurr Jr., Valerie and Tom, 559 Burno Drive, returned home Aug. 29 from the East Coast where they spent slightly more than two weeks with both parents, Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald of Malden, Mass. and the senior Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Spurr of North Easton.

Closing the summer season with a get-together, Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Kelley, 318 S. Hale, entertained 16 local families at their Grass Lake summer home Sunday. Besides sharing a dutch treat meal, the group, mostly members of the Hale and Helen Club extended best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Ben Schur on their Silver Wedding anniversary. It was also a get-acquainted meeting for a good many with with the husband of the former Marjorie Wardell.

Climaxing a vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mueller and children, 309 N. Benton, was their return home a week ago. Motoring to Wisconsin, they spent two weeks visiting with his mother, Mrs. Andrew Mueller of Algoma, and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Prust of Baileys Harbor.

MRS. KENNETH P. Johnson, 214 N. Brockway, and her mother, Mrs. Jean Hurley, 9 W. Robertson, brought vacation travels to a close with the return home a week ago from the East Coast. During a 7-day absence they drove to Newtown, Conn., to be houseguests of Mrs. Johnson's aunt, Mrs. Guy C. Richardson, and while there had reunions with other relatives.

Sharing vacation fun days over a long weekend were two families, the Bunker C. Hills, 255 W. Slade, and the Cy J. Morrises, 239 S. Brockway. They returned home Aug. 30 from a camp-out at Lake of the Falls in Iron County, Wis.

There were birthday greetings in the Hill family Aug. 25 when Deborah celebrated turning 10 with five friends. The home partyfare was followed by an outing at Adventureland. Another occasion brought best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Hill on their 15th wedding anniversary of Sept. 2.

Wisconsin-bound recently, Rhinelander was the destination of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel A. Kobeski, Gregg and Donna, 301 E. Forrest for vacationing. They resorted at Holiday Acres with a good deal of the time spent fishing, swimming and boating. Enhancing the time was the meeting with friends there, the Charles Eining family of Elk Grove.

HAVING ENJOYED Wauban, Minn., as a vacation site in previous years, the David Tobin family, 333 N. Hale, returned to their favorite spot again this year. They had a stay at the Jolly Fisherman Resort on Big Elbow Lake until their return home Aug. 20.

There were welcome greetings at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Barker, 201 W. Hellen, Friday when his mother, Mrs. Gae Barker, arrived from Osage to be their weekend houseguest.

Change of routine for the George Palmer family, 44 E. Wilson, the latter part of August was a trip into Michigan for camping. Leisure days for a week were spent at the J. W. Wells State Park near Escanaba. They returned home a week ago.

Returning home Aug. 22 from a leisure holiday were Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bogenberger, Gary and Mary Ellen, 241 N. Marion, Fairgrounds Park. They had a 4-day weekend stay at Lake Lawn Lodge in Delavan, Wis.

IN THE ROBERT Gunto family, 110 S. Fremont, the month started with two celebrations when 5-year-old David received Sept. 2 birthday wishes from 16 friends who were guests for afternoon partyfare. The following day best wishes were in order for Mr. and Mrs. Gunto with Sept. 3 marking their 16th wedding anniversary. They celebrated Sunday with dinner in the loop and a performance of "The Greatest Story Ever Told" at the McVickers Theatre.

Mrs. Roberts Wills, 59 N. Mozart, managed to successfully carry out a surprise party recently to honor her husband on his Aug. 20 birthday. Joining in the fun were 12 friends from the area. There was an outing for Mrs. Wills and children and her mother, Mrs. Charlotte Vern of Des Plaines when they visited the Hawthorn Mellody Farm recently.

It was birthday fun for Bobby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Wheeler, 526 S. Hale, Aug. 30 when they surprised him with an afternoon party. Greetings to him on turning 7 came from six guests.

Welcome goes to a new family in Fairgrounds Park, Mr. and Mrs. Jorgen Hansen, 282 N. Marion. Congratulations are also in order, as they became parents of their first son Aug. 31. Their former home was in Chicago. (P

Break-In Attempts Reported

Mount Prospect police last weekend received complaints from residents of apartments on Cottonwood Lane about attempted break-ins and possible theft.

The residents of apartments at 1501 and 1305 Cottonwood Lane reported they think someone has a master key to the units.

Mrs. Byron B. Brayton told police someone opened her door, but the chain lock held the door. Then the door was shut, she said, and when she looked, no one was present.

A SIMILAR statement was given police by Mrs. Warrington of the same building.

Mrs. John B. Brady, 1501 Cottonwood Lane, told police she and her husband locked the door and left the building. Upon their return, she said, furniture had been moved and drawers opened. However, she did not report anything missing at that time. (M

Move for Annexation Of 4 Tracts

Annexations occupied the time of the Mount Prospect judiciary committee during the past week

Four ordinances were read Tuesday to the village board; two for the first time and two for passage at second reading stage.

THE BOARD annexed 1.285 acres south of Kensington Road and 740 feet west of Wilshire Drive, in the second reading of one ordinance; and annexed Cypress Lane west of Linneman Road and north of Cottonwood Lane, in another.

The board heard the first reading of ordinances to annex 2.0047 acres southwest of Rand Road and north of Judith Ann Drive; and to annex .459 acres on Golf Road 354 feet west of Elmhurst Road. (M

Variation Not Required, Zoners Decide

The Mount Prospect Zoning Board of Appeals has ruled no variation is required in a case involving a corner lot.

Louis Lembesis wishes to construct a house on a lot at the corner of WaPella and Sha-Bonee, but was told by an employe of the building department that he needed a variation.

HE FILED THE necessary papers and paid the fee, when village attorneys ruled the zoning ordinance does not define front yard, for which a variation would be needed if the front yard were ShaBonee.

The zoning board ruled that the WaPella side is the front yard of the house and recommended the filing fees be returned to Lembesis. (M

MRS. GARDNER will remain in her position until after the Sept. 14, board meeting. She has acted as deputy clerk at board meetings for several years.

You won't fully appreciate how well it's made unless it breaks down.

Lucky for you, the Volkswagen was designed by a bunch of dedicated pessimists. They spent a fantastic amount of time making it easy to fix.

For most engine adjustments, the mechanic simply lifts the rear hood and starts adjusting. All the vital parts are out in the open where he can get at them. So a carburetor overhaul, for instance, takes half as long (and costs half as much) on a VW as it does on a domestic car.

If the engine ever needs major surgery, the mechanic just loosens 4 bolts and a few connections, and pulls the whole works out where they can be worked on.

Even with complications, the entire operation has never taken more than 45 minutes. (It takes at least 2 or 3 times as long on most cars.)

A new front fender for a VW only costs $24.95.* Plus the cost of labor: 10 bolts off. 10 bolts on. Painting. Period.

So, if your VW ever breaks down, the reason you won't wait very long or pay very much to have it fixed is that it's so well made.

But chances are, it won't break down at all.

FOR YOU RETIRING IN 1965: A STUDY OF THE YEAR 1900

You who come up for retirement this year, at age 65, have a distinction that comes only once in 100 years.

You were born in a year that launched a century.

This is not exactly a thing to raise the Flag for, but since you are retiring and since 1900 was an unusual year, you may find some profit in what a man named Eugene Royster, also 65 this year, is doing about it.

"About 18 months ago," he says, "I read in your column about a man who was 65 in 1964 and was researching his birth year of 1899. I made a note of the idea. In January of this year I began work on 1900.

"I am discovering that it was quite a year. For one thing, there were no major world disasters in 1900, unless some wag says your birth was a disaster. It was the year when Benjamin Holt invented the caterpillar tractor, when the first German zeppelin was launched, when the Carnegie Institute of Technology was founded in Pittsburgh . . . ."

There is no particular reason for this kind or research, according to Mr. Royster, except that it is interesting..." and perhaps a person should not go out of this world without finding out something of what it was like when he or she came into it." He thinks it is far more worthwhile than what most retired people are doing with their time, which he says is virtually nothing.

Mr. Royster's study thus far has led him through the second victory of William McKinley over Jennings Bryant for the Presidency (1900) and to such information as the number of autos built that year — 1,000; the number of college graduates — 27, 410; and the U.S. population of 76,000,000. "But there was glamor to the era," he says. "We were getting through the hangover of the Gay Nineties and were trying to digest and manage such exotic places as the Philippines, Guam and Puerto Rico which we had just taken from Spain. . . ."

Mr. Royster's projcet may seem a bit trivial to you. But when, after you retire, all those $10,000 retirement jobs fail to materialize, and the living room walls start talking back, you might give it a thought.

KICKIN' IT AROUND

by BOB FRISK
Sports Editor

LLOYD MEYER MADE IT OFFICIAL Sunday. He'll be back for "one more year" as head coach of the Arlington Heights American Legion baseball team.

Meyer, who has made a habit of extending his coaching career "just one more year," seems to mean it now. He'll take on a former player, Lee Magnuson, as an assistant next summer with a realistic look at the future.

"But I just can't quit now," Meyer said this week after arriving home from Aberdeen, S. D. and the American Legion World Series. "We have a great opportunity to build the Legion program here, to keep the interest high."

The interest was waning earlier this summer when only fifteen boys reported to Meyer's first Legion practice. Lloyd took fourteen players to South Dakota where Arlington placed fifth in national competition.

"I certainly hope more boys will want to play Legion baseball," the head man says. "We have a name to uphold now, and this past summer was a wonderful experience for everyone. We didn't win the title in South Dakota, but we came home knowing that we deserved to be in the finals, that we could play with the best."

LLOYD MEYER
One More Year

Arlington Heights didn't take the top prize in 1965 but don't be surprised if they make another run at it next year. "We'll have a good ball club again," Meyer admits. "We'll have confidence and we'll still be hungry. The boys knew they could have won the national title this summer. They weren't out-classed by any means. They want another crack at being national champions."

Meyer will lose only five players from this 1965 aggregation but will have to do a major rebuilding job in the infield where first baseman Jerry Fink, second baseman Mike Frase, shortstop Howie Winkelhake, and third baseman Rich Hoppe will be missing.

Hoppe, a standout all summer at the hot corner and with the bat, misses the eligibility deadline by two days. To be eligible to play next summer a boy must have been born on or after Sept. 1, 1947. Rich was born Aug. 30, 1947.

Also missing next summer will be pitcher Paul Splittorff, author of the Arlington Heights victory in the World Series and a standout performer for three summers.

Just how much success Arlington enjoys in 1966 may rest on a decision by Tom Lundgren, the prize left-hander who posted a sparkling 15-3 record this summer. Lundgren is heading for the University of Missouri, and although he will be eligible for another season of Legion activity he may be more interested in working in a more advanced baseball area. Only time will tell.

Johnny Friedl, the southpaw who enjoyed his finest hour in the regional with two sparkling efforts against Detroit, makes the eligibility deadline by eleven days. He was born on Sept. 11, 1947. Friedl didn't lose a game this summer after earning all-conference recognition at Arlington High School. With a year of college behind him Friedl could be headed for a big summer.

Mark Newman and John Loughman, who worked in left field and center for Arlington Heights, also can be called on for hill duty. Newman racked up two victories in tournament competition, stopping Galesburg in the state 9-3 and Whiting, Ind. in the regional 2-1.

Other boys available next summer from this 1965 outfit will be outfielders Thad Woodard, Doug Fink, and Frank DeRosa, catcher-outfielder Tom LeStarge, and catcher Mark Frase.

The past has been rewarding. The future is bright.

Meyer has the fall and winter months in which to contemplate position changes and map strategy for 1966 but admits he'll just have to "wait and see who reports and what we have to work with."

They may have written the final chapter in this current Legion story, but all the people associated in some way with this determined and talented Arlington Heights team will remember the 1965 season for a long time.

They'll remember the struggle in the closing weeks to win the league crown, the route to the Cook County title, the thrilling climb to the top in the state finals, the impressive sweep of five games at the regional, and the excitement of a Legion World Series.

They'll remember trips to Chicago Heights and Carmi, Ill., East Chicago, Ind., and Aberdeen, S. D.—approximately 2,500 miles of traveling.

They'll remember a team that didn't know the word "quit."

And they'll remember a coach who labored for ten years without compensation to keep the Legion program going and who received his reward this summer by helping put Arlington Heights, Ill. on the American Legion baseball map.

New Coach Guides Lions' Harriers

The End of a Banner Season

North Carolina Squad Ousts Arlington From World Series

The end came in the 48th game of a spectacular summer season.

Arlington Heights, faced with victory or elimination, concluded the 1965 American Legion baseball campaign Saturday evening by dropping a 9-4 decision to Charlotte, N. C., in Aberdeen, S.D.

The setback was only the sixth in 48 outings this summer but the second in three contest in the double elimination Worlds Series for Coach Lloyd Meyer's Arlington outfit.

"We played only two bad innings of baseball in ur 18 tournament games, and they both came against Charlotte last Saturday," Meyer said.

The North Carolina entry, second in the nation in 1964 with basically the same team this summer, collected five runs in the sixth and four in the eighth in ousting the Midwest representative.

WITH THE LOSS Arlington Heights finished fifth in the national Legion competition that was initiated with thousands of teams in local tourneys in mid-July.

"We played real good baseball in our first two games in South Dakota," Meyer continued, "and five good innings against Charlotte before things started going against us."

Arlington Heights had its chances to bust the game wide open Saturday but couldn't come up with those clutch hits, stranding 16 base runners against Charlotte right hander Bill Sellers.

"And when we did hit the ball hard it was right at someone," Mayer pointed out.

IT WAS A night more suited for football with temperatures in the 40-degree category and gusts of wind up to 40-45 miles per hour. The game was on the ragged side with the weatherman certainly assisting there.

Arlington jumped out in front in the third inning after stranding four men in the first two frames.

Thad Woodard and Mark Newman drew walks to kick off the third and after Rich Hoppe and Jerry Fink went down swinging Mark Frase reached on an error to load the bases. Mike Frase walked on a 3-2 pitch to force in the run.

IN THE FOURTH Arlington again had two men on without scoring, and they had a runner to second in the fifth. The second marker came across in the sixth to give Heights a 2-0 advantage.

With one out John Loughman singled and Woodard reached on

Meeting Closes Monday

Top Two-Year-Olds Await $360,000 Race

Nothing short of the "World's Richest Race," the $360,000 Arlington-Washington Futurity is on tap for Saturday as a fitting climax to a spectacular week of racing at Arlington Park.

The finest two-year-olds in the land are set to contest the Futurity, scheduled for its fourth running over seven furlongs.

And the icing is placed on the cake as Arlington closes its 103-day spring-summer meeting Monday Sept. 13 with the $100,000 added American Derby, third and final leg of the Mid-America Triple, which brings out the leading contender for three-year-old championship honors, Powhatan's Tom Rolfe for the 1¼ mile test.

JUVENILES FROM all parts of the country have made the junket to Arlington for the Futurity with Ogden Phipps' Buckpasser, winner of seven consecutive races; Edgehill Farms' Our Michael, a five-time stakes hero; Everett Lowrance's Midwest champion He Jr.; C. V. Whitney's Port Wine; and Arnold Hanger's Demon Dyno but a few of the standout two-year-olds ready to contest the thrilling event. About $200,000 will go to the victor.

Fred W. Hooper's Tinsley, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Smith's Royal House, O. T. Stable's Shecky Chi, Ford Stables' Kauai King, Sam Lefrak's Flame Tree, John M. Olin's Fathers Image, and Mrs. Horatio A. Luro's Le Maestro are also probable starters.

With victories in the Hopeful, National Stallion, Tremont, and Sapling Stakes among his seven wins in a row after finishing fourth in his very first lifetime start, Buckpasser has earnings of $184,876, and is presently regarded the finest juvenile being campaigned.

HE WILL BE ridden by Braulio Baeza, who thrilled Arlington fans earlier this summer with a victory aboard Graustark, now sidelined, in the Arch Ward Stakes.

However, this will be Buckpasser's sternest test in his path to the juvenile crown.

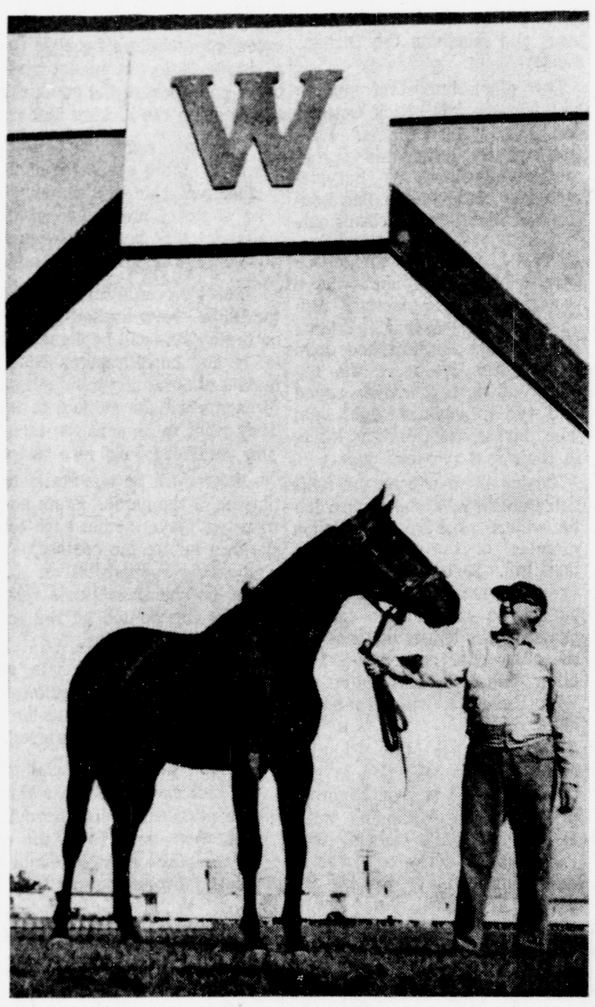
Our Michael, who has won the Futurity Trial, Great American, Tyro, Christiana, and Juvenile is another top-notcher with great ability. Although having finished third to Buckpasser earlier this season, this hard-driving colt is now at his very best and will have John Sellers in the irons.

SHARING THE hopes of many locally is He Jr., winner of four stakes this year, among his six triumphs. But his best effort was a runner-up finish to Our Michael in the Futurity Trial Aug. 25.

In that outing the son of Everett Jr. proved his ability as more than just a sprinter, by giving the winner a run to the wire over 6½ furlongs, and had plenty left when it was all over. He will have the very reliable Jimmy Nichols up.

A standout from the West is Port Wine, who won the Hollywood Juvenile Championship and Howard Stakes before running a distant second to Graustark here in the Arch Ward and will have Bill Shoemaker, America's premiere rider, to do the saddle work.

Newest star among the ever-growing two-year-old ranks is Demon Dyno, who will be making his first stakes start in the Futurity. The Swoon's Son colt won very impressively in both maiden and allowance company over the last three weeks, and is a definite contender.



C. V. WHITNEY'S Port Wine, shown here with handler Irwin Schultz, will be in the field Saturday for the $369,000 Arlington-Washington Futurity at Arlington Park. Port Wine won the Hollywood Juvenile championship and Howard Stakes before running second to Graustark at Arlington in the Arch Ward. Bill Shoemaker will do the saddle work Saturday.

Charlotte Cops Legion Crown

Charlotte, N. C., edged Omaha, Neb., Monday evening, 2-1, in the championship game of the American Legion World Series in Aberdeen, S. D.

Gary Hill went the distance for Charlotte and struck out 19, allowing only four hits. Bill Nosek and Kenny Fila worked for Omaha with Nosek absorbing the loss.

In the afternoon game Omaha had ousted Memphis, Tenn., 6-3.

Omaha's Fila, a pitcher who had blanked Arlington Heights 1-0, was named American Legion Player of The Year. Ken Oakley of Memphis won the Sportsmanship award and Roland Goulet of Berlin, N. H., was the batting champion (regional play included) with a .542 average.

Insolia Tops Golf Feature

The Village Green Golf Club Labor Day event, a 36 - hole medal handicap affair, was won by Jim Insolia with a 124 net

Jack Keiper took second with 133, and Jim Scott and Rudy Mancini tied for third at 134.

Hookey Day is scheduled for Sept. 23. Members are urged to get tickets early, either from one of the Village Green officers or at the pro shop.

Saturday Is Debut Night

Pioneer, Steve's Are Defending Champions

by KEN KNOX

For the 40 men and the 30 women of the Paddock Classic bowling leagues, the long season begins this Saturday night.

With the warmup sweeper behind, the bowlers will embark earnestly on a campaign whose beginning coincides with the beginning of football and whose end comes during the full swing of baseball. Thirty-two matches—96 games—are ahead for each team in that arduous span.

It will be the ninth season for the men's Paddock Classic Traveling League, an alignment again featuring bowlers and franchise houses — eight of them — from all over the Northwest suburbs. For the Paddock Women's Classic Traveling League, again standing with six teams, it will be season number six.

The first goal for the bowlers will be January 8, a night for position play to settle the supremacy of the first half. The second goal: April 30, the end of the second half. Then, the traditional roll-offs to decide the 1965-66 champions.

There are some fresh looks in both lofty-average loops, but the champions — as it should be — are back to defend.

Among the men, the team to beat — by virtue of being the defender — is Pioneer Lanes of Addison. Among the ladies, it's Steve's Restaurant, bowling out of Jeffery Lanes. Both will be, at the very least, formidable.

PIONEER, WHICH barely missed the first half title in 1964-65, won the second half and then took care of Concourse Sports Chalet in the roll-off. The Addison outfit will again be paced by George Schmidt and Pat Peterson, 1-2 in the league's individual kegling with averages of 201 and 197 respectively.

Back also for Pioneer are high-scoring regulars Mike Dinschel, Bob Krisch and Larry Thon. Roger Beecham — with a 193 average in the Pioneer Men's Handicap league last year — has joined the team this season, replacing Warren Barr.

In PWCTL play last season, Steve's Restaurant accomplished the hard task the easy way: winning both the first and second half titles to clinch all the honors without a roll-off. The Steve's threat is sturdy again, with Ann Neumann — the league's leading scorer — back with teammates Delores Harris, Bonnie Kuhn and Louise Lass. Winnie Lohse is new this year, with Charlene Hedberg gone.

DESPITE THE obvious merits of the Pioneer and Steve's lineups, it is not a foregone conclusion that they will represent the class of the Classic action. It is a fact of some significance in the well-balanced and heavily-talented loops that no team has yet repeated. So the upcoming seasons are indeed fresh.

The men's league, which will once more feature action on a home-and-home basis, will be headed this year by Les Zikes Jr., the newly picked president. Zikes, of Palatine, will also captain the Morton Pontiac team. He's considered one of the top bowlers in the suburban area, and is representative of the kind of talent that will be on parade each Saturday evening at the different franchise houses.

For openers, Saturday's PCTL action will look like this: Karlsen's Pharmacy, new to the league. will be at Jeffery Lanes; City Welding Sales and Service, another new unit, will meet Bill Cook Buick on its home grounds, Rolling Meadows Bowl; Morton Pontiac of Beverly Lanes will clash with Concourse Sports Chalet at Gunnell's Lanes; and Brass Rail Restaurant of River Rand Bowl will be at Pioneer Lanes.

THE NEW Karlsen's Pharmacy squad will bowl its matches at Striking Lanes in Mount Prospect, and City Welding Sales will call Thunderbird Bowl home. They'll replace Country Lanes of Lake Zurich and Casares Pro Bowl of Buffalo Grove. And though Brass Rail was a sponsor last year, its team this season will be all new.

The ladies' league, this year under President Ann Neumann, will again function as a full traveling league. The six teams will make the circuit of the different franchise houses, bowling as a unit at one on each Saturday night.

The first night's rolling will be at Rolling Meadows Bowl, and will feature Rolling Meadows Bowl against River Rand Bowl; Morton Pontiac of Beverly Lanes versus Lattof Motors of Gunnell's; and Striking Lanes against Steve's Restaurant.

STRIKING IS A new franchise house and sponsor this year, while Lattof replaces Owens Plastics as a sponsor.

The 70 bowlers of the league — male and female — have been on view but once this season. That was two weeks ago in a massive sweeper at Striking Lanes. Jeffery Lanes, led by a 691 series from Don Christensen, showed the biggest pinfall in that action, 2994. But it lost its match to Karlsen's two games to one.

Finks Take Fourth Title

Injuries Hit Knights Only 29 Players Left

by MICHAEL HESS

Prospect's gridiron ranks continue to dwindle . . .

Reduced to 32 by a small turnout, the Knights numbers have been further cut by injuries.

The wounded are Jim Herod, Marty Destafanis and John Norton. All were hurt last Saturday and all will be out for four weeks.

Herod, a guard, suffered a broken nose while Destafanis has a shoulder separation and Norton a badly wrenched knee. Destafanis and Norton, both seniors, were counted on for defensive end play.

"We'll be all right at guard until Herod comes back," stated Prospect coach Don Williams, "but we just don't have any replacements at defensive end. We'll be looking this week."

TAKING UP THE slack at guard will be seniors Dan Agard, Doug White and Rick Furst. Agard is 6-2 and 190 pounds while White is 6-0, 185, and Furst is 6-0, 190.

Scheduled by Williams for tryouts in the vacant defensive end spot are Craig Peterson, Fred Wesley and, possibly, even guard Furst.

Peterson, 6-4, and 190, had been set as an offensive end. He was third for the position behind J. D. Thorne, 6-0 and 175, and Tom Beard, 6-3 and 185. "Beard is a better than average pass catcher," observed Williams.

Wesley is presently vying with Bob Destafanis, Marty's brother, for the fullback duties. Wesley is 6-0, 180 and Bob D. is 5-9 and 175. The uninjured Destafanis is a junior, the only one presently with Prospect's varsity.

On the manpower shortage the Knights' coach commented:

"WE STARTED WITH too few boys and, because of the injuries, we don't have a large enough team now. We're down to only 29 healthy boys and you just can't play with that number."

Williams plan for building the size of his team is a probable invasion of the junior varsity ranks. That will take place this week.

Elsewhere on the team, those who might start are firming their chances at each position.

For tackle the contenders are Ray Kleinhuzen, Bill Dax and Tom Nading. All three seniors top the 200 pound mark and Kleinhuzen and Dax are the same height, 6-3. Nading is 5-11.

John Jantac, 6-0, 185, and Rick Bertoglio, 5-10, 185, are one-two for starting honors at center.

IN THE BACKFIELD Gary Guerin and Bob Mutert will see duty at quarterback. Guerin is the bigger of the two at 6-2 and 175 while Mutert is 5-10 and 160.

There are four in the running at halfback. They are Nick Rutigliano, 6-0, 165; Bob Grady, 5-10, 155; Jim Kolberg, 5-10, 170; and Rick Froemling, 6-2, 180.

"It's a similar kind of backfield to the one we had last year," Williams said. "There won't be just one back who'll dominate play but we should have three or four or five who'll do well and give us good balance."

In the punting department, end Peterson and Russ Hoogerhyde are attempting to become Prospect's booters. Coach Williams rates halfback Grady a close third in that battle.

"Right now we're just trying to find someone who's consistent," comments the headman.

"OVER-ALL," Williams summed up, "we haven't looked very strong offensively but our defense could be quite good. In fact defense could be our strongest point."

Prospect's opening football game is Saturday, Sept. 18 at North Chicago, just nine days away.

Pirates Again In Formidable Shape In Cross Country

For starters, take York, Waukegan and Evanston.

Palatine High, a school that takes its cross country seriously, will initiate the 1965 season with consecutive dual meets against those three stellar foes.

Dick Storm—the Pirates' cross country headman—figures all three will be genuinely tough. Especially York, the enemy in the season premiere Saturday, Sept. 11. All three could be blemishes on the Palatine record.

But that's the way you start the cross country campaign at Palatine. It's part of the tradition. It's part of being tough. And Palatine seems likely to advance both — tradition and toughness — this year.

Storm, assisted by Joe Johnson, has a team that must be considered one of the real threats in the six-team Mid-Suburban League in the first year of its revamped look. And the warmups against the likes of York — a potential state champion — and Evanston and Waukegan will do nothing to diminish the respect the team will demand.

STORM HAS three boys—Roger Lawrence, Bill Hoffman and Rob MacLea — back from last year's varsity unit. Lawrence and Hoffman will co-captain the squad this season. MacLea was one of the 1964 team's outstanding performers, and picked up much of the slack caused by Gordon Dreyfus' leg ailments.

Lawrence, Hoffman and MacLea deserve to be assessed with concern by their opponents this year because they were key men on the team that won seven of 10 duals last year, with varsity competition in the tough Des Plaines Valley League. The team lost badly only once, to eventual state champion Proviso West. The team was first in the Midwest Invitational at Janesville, second in the Forest City Invitational at Rockford, third in the DPV conference meet and fourth in the District meet.

Two other important seniors will join the trio: Rick Ortman and Randy McWilliams. Both won varsity letters as sophomores two seasons ago, but Ortman saw little action last season and McWilliams wasn't out.

FIVE JUNIORS — sophomore letter-winners last year — have moved up. They include Jim Spinolas, Jerry Weyrich, Dennis Denton, Tim Sullivan and John Lucas. The five were the nucleus of a sophomore squad that ran to eight straight dual wins last season, before losing in their last two outings.

Joining them will be the swift Bill Bahnfieth, a sophomore letter winner as a freshman but a member of the football team last fall. Sprinter Bahnfleth's speed is not in question, and he will be potent if he can readjust to the longer distances of the cross country courses. Two other juniors, Bill Kimble and Dick Richards, will also be on hand.

The talent in the Palatine cross country collection is getting no chance to rest. Rigorous practices are continuing daily at the Wood St. school, with workouts including a series of quarter-mile laps, jogging for longer distances, and actual running on Palatine's cross country course. That course, something less than two miles, will again be set up in the community park for optimum viewing by spectators.

No. Carolina Tops Heights

an error, both runners advancing on a second error on Woodard's grounder. Newman drove in Loughman with a sacrifice fly.

Arlington's fast-balling lefthander Tom Lundgren held a 2-0 lead at this juncture and hadn't allowed a hit. He walked five men in the first five frames but managed to escape without any damage.

He didn't excape the sixth.

AN ERROR touched off the Charlotte explosion and ten batters later North Carolina had five runs with only one hit and John Friedl had replaced Lundgren on the mound.

Lundgren walked five men in that disastrous sixth before yielding to Friedl but retired without giving up a safety.

"He was just missing with his pitches," Meyer emphasized. "This wasn't a pitcher's umpire. Even the Charlotte coach admitted he had never seen his own boy so wild before. They weren't calling the corners."

LUNDGREN HAD knocked down nine Charlotte hitters on strikes in the first five innings and added a tenth before leaving to give him a total of 23 strikeouts in 14 2/3 stanzas of World Series action.

Arlington never regained the lead but pecked away with single runs in the seventh and eighth.

A walk, single by Mike Frase, passed ball and wild pitch brought in Arlington's third run, and Loughman's second single of the night and fifth hit of the World Series led to the fourth.

ARLINGTON HAD a kingsized rally going in the eighth with the bases loaded and no outs, but Charlotte's Sellers struck out Hoppe and Fink before walking Tom LeStarge to force in the run. Mike Frase popped to short for the third out.

JOHN LOUGHMAN

Charlotte added four more runs in the eighth off Paul Splittorff on two hits, a walk, and three errors.

The final inning of Arlington's 1965 season started with Howie Winkelhake's tap to the pitcher. Splittorff drew a walk on four pitches, but Loughman and Woodard struck out.

"That first loss (1-0) to Omaha was the big game for us," Meyer summed up. "If we had gotten by that one we could have had our one bad game and still been in contention.

"I'm still not convinced we weren't the best club there."

KNOX NOTES

by Ken Knox

EVER SEE A RED GOAL LINE on a football field? Or a yellow one?

You might this year.

It's a recommendation of the Illinois High School Association in its latest compendium of changes in the rules of the game.

The IHSA, as part of the 1965 Football Code, is suggesting that the goal lines and the boundary lines for each team box be marked with a non-caustic material, and of a color contrasting with the familiar white markings now decorating all gridirons.

The reason for the non-caustic materials is obvious: to prevent the smarting that results when it comes in contact with a player's eyes or skin.

The color is to help the player realize when he's crossed the goal line, telling him and all the other players on the field that a score is made and the play is dead. It's also hoped that the gay lines will help officials and fans in sizing up a situation.

You won't necessarily see it this year, because it still is only a recommendation of the IHSA. But the recommendations are normally followed, and usually become rules at a later date. So expect a new look in stripes at all those football fields of schools which adhere to the IHSA code.

This new wrinkle in the rules regarding the mechanics and the playing of football is one of a batch of new provisos offered up for the 1965 season. Authority on the changes is Hank Sander of Mount Prospect, a recognized football official of the IHSA and a member of the Athletic Official's Service, an area organization of football and basketball officials. They meet regularly at Prospect High School to discuss rules interpretations and play situations.

Sander did the filling in on the frosh football dictums. One is a recommendation—colored, non-caustic stripes—and the rest are rules which will be in effect this autumn.

Certain of them—like the stripe situation—involve mechanical facets of the game and playing fields. It will, for example, be required this season that a large X—two feet wide and two feet high—be inscribed at the mid-point of each 40 yard line on a gridiron. It's to help make the line readily identifiable for kickoffs.

All yard line markers and corner and end bounds flags will have to be made safer. The yard markers, if they're within five yards ofthe sidelines, have to be made of some pliable material, like plastic. The shafts for the flags on the goal lines and end lines have to be of a completely flexible material, to prevent numerous hazardous possibilities like a player being impaled.

None of the new rules is of huge significance to the game. There is nothing, for example, regarding changes in how many substitutes may be put on a field, and when. But things will be a little different in certain situations this season, and to that extent they're important.

Two of the rules reflect a realistic appraisal of changes that have evolved in how the game is played.

One involves the old return kick rule, whereby a team getting the ball on a punt or interception could kick it right back. A team could—after legally getting the ball in a play from scrimmage—run it back as far as possible and punt or drop kick it. The advantage was to put the other team deep in its own territory, even though you were giving the ball right back. But officials discovered that no one was using the play—at least not very many teams—so now it's against the rules.

Another new kicking rule is sort of a concession to the new vogue in soccer-type kicking, the booting with the side of the foot rather than head-on. (Pat Kinsella of Palatine High School take notice.) It is now legal—on a free kick—for the kicker to approach the ball from beyond his 40 yard line. It's an advantage to the soccer-type booters because they usually approach the ball from a sharp angle. It meant risking an offside charge, notably in those cases where the non-kicking foot was placed down just over the 40 while the kicking foot was doing its work.

He who snaps the ball—the center—is going to have to be a little more cognizant of the geometry involved. Under another new rule, the center will be forbidden to tilt the ball on an angle of more than 45 degrees from the ground. It's to prevent that hunching over the ball—and the scrimmage line—that can result from standing the ball on end.

There's been a little relaxation in the rules regarding taping of the limbs. Now limited taping of the wrists—or sweatbands worn on the wrists—will be legal, as long as the materials are non-hardening and non-abrasive. It's for the well-being of those players fearful of spraining their wrists. Any more taping of the hands or forearms will be subject to approval by the officials on hand. They want to be sure the tape is for protection of a bona fide injury, and not for use as a weapon.

There will be one restriction on numbers, but not during the playing of the game. From now on, it's against the rules for more than two players from each team to be present for the flipping of the coin before the contest, and for more than one of them to be a speaking representative. It's to prevent the mob scenes and confusion that sometimes resulted where a team had a flock of captains, or wanted all the seniors out for the flipping ceremony before their last game.

The most subtle change, and perhaps the most important, involves the double foul rule. As it read before, when fouls were committed by both teams on a play the entire play was wiped out and the down was replayed.

Now there's a special provision for those plays on which the ball changes hands, say by a fumble or interception. It was possible, under the old reading, for a team to lose the ball, then—noting that the other team had committed a foul on the play—commit a foul of its own to nullify the play. It would thus get the ball back to run the play over.

Now, if one team fouls during a live play and their opponents foul after the ball becomes dead, the penalty for the first foul will be automatically accepted or declined. The other double foul situations will remain in effect.

It's an interesting and important rule, but doubtless most spectators will be most enthralled by red goal lines.

Ousted from Series

New Jersey Falls To Arlington Nine

Arlington Heights, threatened with an early exit from the American Legion World Series, refused to yield to the increased pressure Thursday evening in Aberdeen, S.D.

Coach Lloyd Meyer's powerhouse never trailed in a "win or go home" contest with Lyndhurst, N.J., and pulled out an impressive 7-1 victory to stay alive in the double elimination tournament.

With the setback the New Jersey representative became the second tourney entry to bow out of competition. Berlin, N. H. had dropped a 3-0 contest to Portland, Ore., earlier Thursday for its second straight loss.

Southpaw Paul Splittorff racked up his third straight impressive mound stint in the Legion eliminations, scattering eight hits over eight innings as Arlington earned a berth in a Saturday evening contest.

SPLITTORFF, WHO had topped Rockford in a crucial state tourney outing and Ashland, Ky., in the East Chicago Regional, was in serious trouble in only one inning in posting his 10th victory in 12 decisions this summer.

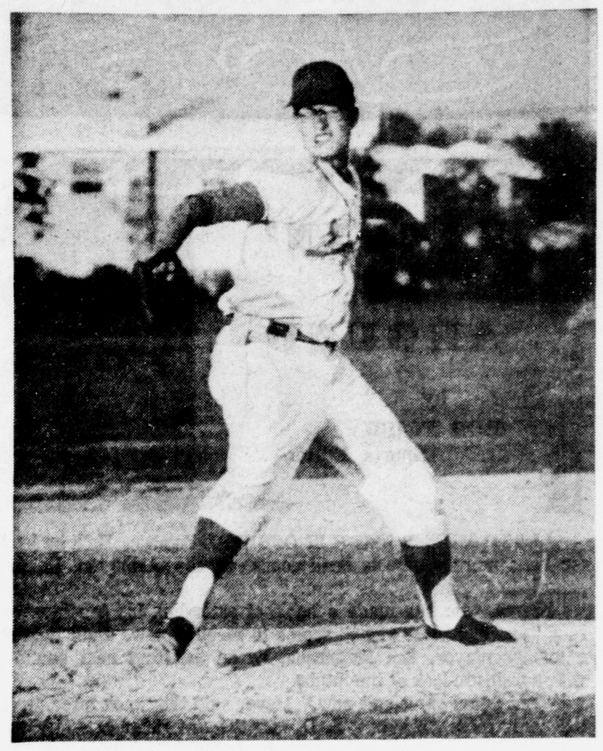
John Friedl, one of the mound heroes in the march to the regional championship, took over for Splittorff in the ninth and after yielding an infield single he nailed the side to cement the decision.

Arlington, a 1-0 victim of Omaha, Neb., in a first round game earlier in the week, shoved over three runs in the third inning off Lyndhurst starter Al Paterno, a right hander, to give Splittorff an early cushion. Paterno had posted six strikeouts in the first two innings.

HOWIE WINKELHAKE walked to kick off the uprising, moved to second on an infield out, and raced home on John Loughman's single. Rich Hoppe drove in the two final runs with a single.

Arlington added an insurance run in the fourth on a single by Winkelhake, stolen base, and Loughman's second base knock.

Splittorff, holding a 4-0 lead at this juncture, then ran into his only major difficulty of the night. Lyndhurst collected one run on a wild pitch with the sacks jammed, but Paul struck out the net three hitters to check the rally.



PAUL SPLITTORFF recorded Arlington's 7-1 victory over Lyndhurst, N. J. last Thursday evening in the American Legion World Series in Aberdeen, S. D. The 6-3 left-hander was given an early 4-0 cushion and coasted in with his 10th victory in 12 decisions this summer. Paul is a 1964 graduate of Arlington High School.

HEIGHTS HAD two men on in the fifth with two walks but couldn't push anything over. They added three markers in the seventh when nine men paraded to the plate.

Mark Newman, Hoppe, and Jerry Fink scored for the winners in the seventh although Hoppe delivered the only hit. Three walks and three errors helped out.

Hoppe and Loughman had two hits each. Newman and Winkelhake delivered the other safe blows for Arlington. The New Jersey nine outhit Heights, 9-6.

Splittorff struck out eight over his eight innings.

Days of Decisions For Falcon Eleven

by MICHAEL HESS

These are the days of decision in Forest View football.

Just nine practices remain before FV's grid opener but three candidates are still in the running for each team position.

"We'll try to narrow the choice at each spot during this week," said Falcons' coach Bob Scott. "There are 40 boys out and we'll have to decide soon."

Initial contest for Forest View is Sept. 18. On that date Scott's squad hosts Downers Grove South.

FOR THE ELEVEN available spots on the FV team, some of the most important competition is for backfield positions. There are also some surprises in that area.

Chief surprise is that Steve Mueller is battling Mike Lebben and Bob Walters for the fullback job. Mueller was the full-time Falcons quarterback last year.

"He's a good runner and blocker," said Scott in explaining Mueller switch. "We have our quarterbacks and felt that moving Steve to fullback would help the team. He may do some throwing from back there."

At quarterback, Chuck Boesenberg has the "inside track" according to Scott, though Bob Glaser and Bob Arnold are still being considered. Arnold is a 6 foot, 170 pound junior.

Boesenberg will also do the place kicking for FV though Roy Palomo is challenging him for that honor.

AT RIGHT halfback the trio of possibilities includes Tom Coskey, Spencer Dreischarf and Ray Miller. Dreischarf, 5-10 and 180 pounds, is only a soph but has impressed even while hampered with a broken finger.

Pat Dunnigan, an all-conference choice in '64, may be the pick at left half. Mike Holstrom and Bill King are also being considered for the same slot.

Along the line, those now bumping heads for the same posts are:

At center-Jerry Adams, Ron Wayda and Tod Dynek.

Of the line candidates, only two are underclassmen. Both are juniors. They are Caspari, 5-8 and 180 pounds, and Brasch, 6-3 and 190.

In his search for a punter, Scott has come up with Dunnigan, McDonald and Walters. "They're about even right now," said the Falcon's headman of his booters. "Any one should be as good as our punter last season."

The choice at each of eleven spots won't be an easy one. "All the boys hustle and are so dedicated," said Scott, "that any pick at a position is going to be tough."

ALONG WITH making selections at each position, Scott indicated that this was the time for polishing. "We're trying to work on a little bit of everything," Scott said. "There will be work on some offense and some defense."

Forest View enters a revamped league this year. Deerfield, Niles North and the Glenbrooks are now in a different Mid-Suburban League division. Palatine and Conant have joined Wheeling, Maine West, Prospect and the Falcons in their conference.

"The new setup is going to make a nice league," Scott commented. "There will be less traveling but I don't think the competition will change much. Any one of the six teams could win it."

Jr. Football Jamboree Is Planned

It's to be a big weekend for the 600 boys in the Chicago Suburban Junior Football League.

The annual football jamboree for the boys and the 20 teams they represent is set for Bensenville on Friday night and Saturday afternoon.

The purpose of the jamboree, according to league president Sam Goranson, is manyfold. It provides a time for all the boys to weigh in for play, to register with the league and to supply the league with any personal information needed.

BUT IT ALSO gives all the coaches and players in the league — and the interested adults — a chance to see all the participants in action. The boys, after registration, are paired off to play a quarter of exhibition football.

The Junior Division will hold its portion of the jamboree Friday night, beginnng at 7:30. Juniors are the boys 13 years old with a 117 pound weight limit.

The Widget Division — for boys 12 and under and under 100 pounds — will stage its portion on Saturday, beginning at 1:00 p.m. All the activity will be at the Blackhawk School in Bensenville, one-half mile south of Irving Park Rd. on York Rd. Admission will be 50 cents for adults.

The league draws players and teams from several communities in the area, including Hoffman Estates, Bensenville, Addison, Bloomingdale and Glen Ellyn.

Young Angler Has Top Catch

Craig Brinkman, nine-year-old son of the Ralph C. Brinkmans, 1615 Surrey Ridge Dr., Arlington Heights, had a pleasant surprise last Thursday when he was informed that he had won an award of fishing equipment for catching the largest northern pike at Miner Lake in Chain O' the Lakes near Waupaca, Wis., during his family's July vacation.

Although the Brinkmans had vacationed at Miner Lake several years ago, Craig's fishing experience has been confined to smaller areas.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinkman, with Craig and their three daughters, Lynne, Beverly, and Janice, spent 10 days in Wisconsin, and Craig's 30-inch, 5 lb. 11 oz. northern was the record catch in its class for the week of July 14.

Woodard was a standout in the defensive backfield with the varsity Cardinals as a junior.

Lockwood Switches To Split End; Reid Moves to Backfield

by BOB FRISK

The battles continue as the opener approaches.

The battles are for starting assignments on the Arlington High School football varsity.

The opener with Barrington is only nine days away.

Fifty-five juniors and seniors are working out under the direction of head coach Al Allen and his staff with the squad's progress listed as "satisfactory for this stage of the season."

Arlington's varsity candidates have been engaged in 22 practice sessions since equipment was issued on August 25 and have only nine more workouts scheduled before the trip to Barrington.

The four boys who played on Arlington's American Legion baseball team in the Legion World Series returned Monday and will be eligible for the season lidlifter.

"It'll help to pick up the leadership of the co-captains (Tom LeStarge and Thad Woodard) at practice," Allen said.

LESTARGE, Woodard, Mark Frase, and Doug Fink have missed part of the workouts because of playing on the American Legion nine and with their return the coaching staff has been able to increase the "combat readiness" of their troops.

Some position switches involving lettermen have highlighted workouts at Arlington with one backfield monogram winner, junior Dave Lockwood (178) moving from halfback to split end.

Lockwood is a jumping-jack six-footer who has lettered in football, basketball, and baseball. He has good hands and speed and has looked good as a pass receiver in the Cardinal workouts.

TOM REID (6-1, 195), who lettered at end as a junior, has been switched to fullback, and Don Lindmark (5-10, 180), a letterman at center, will be working at both guard and center in 1965.

LeStarge, one of the co-captains, will be operating at both quarterback and halfback on the offensive unit. He was strictly a quarterback on offense as a junior.

Allen listed his top candidates by position at the outset of the week with Fink, a 5-10, 155-pound junior, backing up Lockwood at the split end, and Bruce Hubbard (6-6, 195), Jim Donchess (6-6, 185), and Kirk Wolter (6-0, 165) at the tight end. Hubbard is a letterman.

THE LEADING tackles at this stage of the workouts are letterman Ron Thompson (6-1, 220), Jim Lepkowski (6-1, 195), Karl Pingel (5-11, 195), and George Bergstrom (6-5, 195).

Lettermen Mark Frase (5-11, 220) and Lindmark are leading guard prospects with Hal Christensen (5-10, 180), Jim Huegerich (6-1, 195), and Bruce Weber (5-11, 185) also available.

Topping the centers is junior Kim Markshausen, a 6-4, 245-pounder who was brilliant with the varsity as a sophomore. Markshausen could also work in at tackle and he excels as a middle linebacker on defense. This is a boy to watch.

Markshausen, Lindmark, Bill Sayre (5-10, 160), and Brad Philo (5-11, 165) are the center candidates.

In the backfield Allen has numbers and some promising talent.

FOUR BOYS ARE listed at quarterback candidates with the No. 1 man Steve Allen, a 6-3, 165-pound junior who lettered with the varsity as a soph. Steve clicked on 18 passes for 209 yards last fall and scored three touchdowns.

Backing Allen are Brad Somers (6-0, 170), the number one frosh-soph quarterback in 1964; LeStarge, who saw varsity action at the signal-calling slot as a junior; and senior Vaughn Strong (6-1, 175).

LeStarge (5-10, 175) will also try his hand at halfback and is joined at this slot by letterman Steve Ewart (5-11, 165), Chip Douglas (5-6, 155), Steve Conley (6-3, 185), transfer Jerry Enright (5-10, 185), Jim Swanezy (6-0, 165), and Ron Horcher (5-7, 160.

CONLEY, WHO WAS with the varsity as a sophomore but was bothered by injuries, has been impressive as a running back thus far in the practice sessions. He's strong and quick.

Four boys are bidding for the starting offensive fullback assignment. In addition to Reid, who was switched from end, others are letterman Woodard (5-11, 185), junior Mick Wadzita (5-7, 165), and senior Bill Schell (5-11, 180).

Schell is a transfer from St. Viator who was ineligible last year because of the transfer rule.

Most of the boys listed for offensive positions will also be in line for defensive slots. Bill Kelly, a 5-11, 155-pound senior, is out for football for the first time and has shown some promise as a linebacker.

Arlington will stage a varsity scrimmage Friday evening under the lights.

Haddock Will Pass 'Cats Seek Receivers

by MICHAEL HESS

A good passer isn't good without good ends and that's Wheeling's football problem.

The Wildcats have found a standout thrower in junior quarterback Rich Haddock. Haddock, 5-10 and 165 pounds, has impressed with his tossing.

'Cats coach Bill Daletski must now locate several receivers to catch the fledgling field general. Since Wheeling's season opens September 18, he has just nine days to complete the search.

"We're working on our passing game," said Daletski. "We need passing to be successful this season. Haddock's passing and running have been impressive."

CONTINUED Daletski: "It looks as though Haddock has the jump on the quarterback position. He's one of the bright spots on our team. Now we'll have to determine who the best receivers are."

Presently tabbed as potential Haddock catchers are juniors Bill Surmin and Tony Martin. Surmin is 6-1, 180 and Martin, called sticky fingered by Daletski, is 5-7, 150. Either may fill the split end spot.

Another possible receiver is halfback Tom Manderscheid. Manderscheid, 6-1, 180, is a good pass catcher and, says Daletski, "He runs very well inside and off tackle. He has the burst through power we want."

Other backfield positions have been dominated by Ken Traversone and Tom Neukrantz.

Traversone was at end last season but now he's in the fullback slot. Having gained 20 pounds since '64, Traversone, now at 6-1, 205, is the strong blocker Wheeling missed one year ago.

"THE SHIFT to fullback is working out very well," Daletski commented.

Neukrantz, at the other halfback post, will be the Wildcats' wingback. He is also capable of taking over at quarterback should Haddock falter.

Another possible signal caller is senior Mark Newman. Newman was with Arlington's traveling Legion team and missed some practice. Said Daletski: "He should be ready by the first game but may have trouble beating out Haddock."

On the line, Wheeling will probably be led by veteran senior lettermen Ted Armstrong and Jim Whittington. Armstrong is 6-1, 190, while Whittington is 6-0, 210. Both are tackles.

Number three tackle is Tony Stoik. Stoik, who will be used primarily on defense, is a giant at 6-5 and 235.

DEPTH at guard is indicated by Daletski's comment that there are five boys who have a chance there.

Mike Guiney, a 5-8, 145 pounder, has been most impressive at the spot according to Daletski. "Guiney is very fast and a good blocker," said the Wildcats' director. Mike is a move-in from upper Michigan.

Other guards mentioned by their coach are Tom Traversone, Ken's brother, Mike Henry and Steve Zasadny. Tom is 5-9, 185; Mike is 5-7, 180; and Zasadny, who has a twisted knee, is 5-10, 190. Traversone and Henry are brothers.

At center the story is not depth but shortage. "We can't find many candidates for center," Daletski indicated. "Ryan Sarti has looked best so far." Sarti, a junior, is 5-10, 216.

With Armstrong, Whittington, Guiney, Zasadny and Sarti playing, Wheeling's offensive interior line would average over 5 feet-11 inches and 190 pounds. By high school standards, that's big.

TOM Traversone seems to have partially solved one problem for the Wildcats. He may turn out to be the 'Cats place kicker, a spot which has been hard to fill.

Other than finding receivers, is there anything else Wheeling will be concentrating on this week? Concluded Daletski: "We'll be doing a lot of work on our defense. We need work there."

Travelers Lose 21-7, Still Need Quarterback

The Elmhurst Travelers—still agonized by their quarterback problem—will be looking for revenge on their home ground this Sunday afternoon.

Elmhurst will host the powerful Lake County Rifles at 2 p.m. in a Central States Football League headliner at the York High School field. The Rifles, behind the brilliant passing of quarterback Lou Flynn, downed the Travelers 21-7 at Waukegan Saturday night.

Flynn hit on 13 of 25 passes for the Rifles, three of them for touchdowns. The Rifles had scored first in the second period, but the Travelers came back. They drove in from 37 yards out, with Curtis Griswold going over from the five.

But Flynn responded by hitting Warren Nicholas with a 62-yard pass to run the count to 14-7. In the third period, after a pass interception and two consecutive 15-yard penalties against Elmhurst, Flynn lobbed a 13-yard pass for the last score.

OF HIS quarterback problem, Elmhurst coach George Kulton said: "It's killing us."

He lost regular Tom Beck when he took the varsity coaching job at Lake Zurich High School. Since then, Kulton has been fishing around for a new signal-caller, and is still entertaining all offers.

He may have found a new field general in defeat Saturday, but he's not certain. After going with defensive halfback Jim Bejna in the first half, he tried young Dave Goodling from Pennsylvania.

GOODLING LOOKED good, Kulton said, connecting on several short passes and illustrating a good sequence of playcalling. But he's been away from the game for several years, and probably will have to miss the Sunday game with the Rifles.

Small Squad Could Hurt Eight Knights Out For Cross Country

Short numbers could make it a long season for Prospect's cross country team.

Only eight performers came out for the Knights first practice August 31. Just one is a letterman and only three others have varsity experience.

Such a shortage of harriers will make it difficult for coach Dick Calisch's crew to better their standard of one year ago. In 1964 the Prospect distance runners were 5-2 in the Mid-Suburban League and 7-7 overall.

LEADING the varsity candidates is senior letterman Jack Pollard. He was a consistant number two man for the Knights last year.

Dick Braunschweig, Dennis Breen and John Jacobsen all performed full time on last season's varsity. All three are seniors and all are back again.

Others on the varsity are Chuck Forbes, LeRoy Rateike, Paul Seils and Bruce McQuilken. Of those, Seils is the lone senior and he, Rateike and McQuilken are track team members in cross country mainly to stay in condition.

Expected to be the top five by headman Calisch are, in order, Pollard, Braunschweig, Breen, Jacobsen and Forbes. Forbes was a top performer the '64 frosh-soph unit.

"Since practice started," Calisch relates, "we've been working on getting into condition by running long distances. Each boy ran about 78 miles during the first week."

FUTURE workouts for the Knights will include shorter distances and an attempt to build speed. "Before our first meet," stated Calisch, "we'll be running short speed sprints."

Opening meet for Prospect harriers will be an invitational affair at Maine West on September 18.

What is the outlook in the coming M-SL action? Answered Calisch: "Maine West and Forest View should be tough again and the new school, Palatine, will be near the top."

Last year Maine won the cross country conference title while Forest View was second. Prospect was third, one point behind FV one year ago.

PALATINE and Conant are new to the M-SL. They come into the league while Deerfield, Niles and Glenbrook South and North were dropped into another division of the league.

On the other new league entry Calisch remarked, "Conant is a question mark. They were only a three year school last year but had a good frosh-soph team. It's hard to know what to expect from them."

On the Knights' frosh-soph level, coach Joe Wanner has a large crew of 30 to work with. "We should be tough there," comments Calisch. "Last year's freshmen were undefeated in dual meets."

JUST DOGS

By Dave Terrill

Booklet available—

A new booklet, "Skin and Coat Care of Dogs," offering tips on grooming and suggestions on how to control skin diseases, has been published by Gaines Dog Research Center, New York.

The 14 - page publication stresses the importance of keeping a dog's skin and coat in a healthy condition, with helpful suggestions regarding brushing, clipping, bathing and other elements of groming. In the section covering skin problems, non-parasitic diseases, chronic conditions, eczema, skin parasites, insect-caused dermatoses and other conditions are discussed. The role of proper diet together with hygiene is pointed out.

Copies of this new booklet may be obtained free of charge by addressing a request to Gaines "Skin and Coat Care," P. O. Box 1007, Kankakee, Ill., 60901.

FOOT PADS—

Speaking about health brings to mind that the fall season is just about here and with it comes the hunting. Those of you with hunting dogs, matter of fact, anyone owning a dog, take a look at the pads of your dog's feet.

Hard, rough ground can cut the pads and even knock them off when the going gets real bad. The result is that a dog can be out of commission for some time. If you work your dog in the field, get in the habit of checking the dog's feet after you are through each time. If you want a home remedy for foot tougheners, make a thick paste of pine tar and tannic acid. Put this mixture on a board or other flat surface and press the dog's feet into the mixture. This can be done once or twice a day until the feet are healed.

There are a number of good foot rougheners on the market, however, one word of caution—don't let that hound walk across the living room rug right after a treatment. Let it dry and work in first.

Local obedience—

The obedience trial held by the Northwest Obedience Dog Training Club at Prospect High School a few weeks ago has created a lot of new interest. Folks have been asking where the next one will be held. Seems like people are finding out that you can own a dog that is a credit to you, and also be liked by the folks next door.

To answer the question about where the next one will be that is somewhat local, the Glenbard All-Breed Obedience Club will hold one this Sunday, Sept. 11, at 331 W Madison, Lombard. On Sept. 19, Lyons Township Dog Training Club will hold an obedience trial at 31st and Spring Road in Hinsdale.

Nassau—

The World's Championship All Breed Dog Show to be held in Nassau, Jan. 10-20, 1966, is going to be quite an affair.

A maximum of 2,000 dogs be invited to enter after a careful screening by competent officials. There will be 25 judges, 20 rings, and the awards up until now total $27,500. First prize for the International Best in Show and World champion is $5000.

The judges list reads like a "Who's Who" in the conformation judging dog world. Judges are coming from the U. S. A., Canada, Mexico, West Germany, Australia and England.

Barks & Bays—

Your editor has been trying to figure out for some time how to be sent to the Nassau show in order to cover it for the column. Any ideas? — please, not in a dog crate.

Campana at Guard

Lions 'On Schedule' In Football Drills

by BOB FRISK

Practice is "progressing according to schedule" at St. Viator High School in Arlington Heights as the varsity Lions prepare for the 1965 football opener with Glenbrook South.

"We had a good scrimmage last Saturday with the workout lasting three hours and are coming along okay," head coach Joe Gliwa reported this week.

"We plan to give more attention to our defensive alignments in the practices ahead."

St. Viator will kick off its fall schedule on Friday, Sept. 17, against Glenbrook South at the Glenbrook North Stadium. The home opener is set for Friday, Sept. 24.

THE OFFENSIVE AND defensive alignments are beginning to take shape in the Lion camp with Gliwa making one major shift. Mike Campana, a 185-pounder who lettered at quarterback last fall, is working primarily at defensive guard.

With Campana on the defensive platoon southpaw Bob Stevens and Bob Lehnert are bidding for the number one signal-calling position.

Elsewhere in the top offensive backfield, Gliwa currently is working with Denny Wilkinson and Larry Snyder at the halfbacks and Bob Rogowski at full.

"THE BACKS LOOKED good Saturday," Gliwa praised. "Bill Roser, a senior, showed us something and Snyder and Wilkinson also had some fine runs. We alternated several combinations against a strong defensive unit."

Helmer, an all-conference selection as a junior and a solid 200-pounder, "looked good" in last Saturday's scrimmage.

TWO BOYS WHO should be stickouts on the defensive platoon are tackle Denny Forston, a talented 230-pounder, and 195-pound linebacker Mike Laird. Mike has had a dislocated finger but was expected to get the cast off earlier in the week.

The sophomore and frosh squads at St. Viator are also working out daily under the direction of Tom Hansen and John Zid, respectively. The sophs open Friday, Sept. 17, in the varsity preliminary against Glenbrook South and the plebes kick off their campaign Monday, Sept. 27, against Immaculate Conception.

FV Harriers Open Tuesday

All signs indicate another prosperous year for Forest View's cross country entry.

In 1964 the FV harriers finished second in Mid-Suburban League action with an 11-1 record. They won their first nine dual meets.

This year the top performers of last season have returned and they'll be aided by sparkling graduates from a standout froshsoph team. That makes the outlook bright for coach Bob Rees Falcons.

PACING THE Forest View charge through 1965 will be Ted Lambert and Craig Brown.

Lambert, as a sophomore last year, only lost two dual meets. He qualified and ran in the state meet. Brown, now a senior, was a consistent runner-up to Lambert.

"Lambert did well until the state meet," comments coach Rees. "But he was young and the pressure got to him. That won't happen again. Brown has been running very well, just as he did last year."

Joining those two are fellow lettermen Ken GaNung, Bill Widenski, Mike Nolan and Jeff Jenkins. All are seniors. Juniors Dick Appleton, Bucky Jones and Mike Russel should also do well on the varsity.

According to headman Rees, his top five this year could be Lambert, Brown, GaNung, Appleton and Jones.

THE FALCONS open their dual meet season next Tuesday when they host St. Viator. "We've never run against Viator before," said Rees of his first opponent, "so I don't know what to expect."

The following action for FV will be September 21 against Arlington, another school Forest View has never faced.

Eighteen candidates showed up for the opening Falcons cross country practice. For John Heenan's frosh-soph squad 26 came out. First workouts were held Aug. 30.

"Quite a few of the boys had kept themselves in good condition by working out over the summer," said Rees. "But some lettermen didn't do enough on their own."

HARRIER DIRECTOR Rees feels that the new league alignment will make the M-SL conference tougher. Palatine and Conant have been added and Deerfield, Niles North and the Glenbrooks have been dropped.

"The top three teams are still in the league," observed Rees. Maine West was first in '64 while Forest View was second and Prospect third. "Palatine should be up near the top with the others," Rees said.

Of the other teams in the new M-SL division, Rees felt the biggest improvement would come from Wheeling. "They'll be much tougher with their whole squad back," said the Falcons coach.

Legion Tourney Notebook

Height Extremes on Memphis Series Nine

Odds and ends from the American Legion Baseball World Series in Aberdeen, S.D.

Memphis, Tenn., claimed the two tallest players in the Series with first baseman Larry Mansfield and pitcher-outfielder Ron Taylor both standing six feet eight inches tall.

The Mansfield-Taylor combination was the tallest of 52 players six feet or taller entered in the meet, but it took a fellow teammate, Bill Oakley, to set a unique height record. The center fielder at five feet four inches was the series' shortest player.

Omaha Post. No. 1 upheld the west's traditional reputation for tall men by having the greatest number of players in the six-foot or better class. The Nebraska outfit boasted nine.

Teams featuring brothers in the lineup weren't unusual in the tournament. Three teams boasted double sets of brothers.

David and Garry Hill, infielder and pitcher-outfielder respectively, and David and Ronald Lemonds, pitcher-outfielder and infielder, respectively, played for Hornet's Nest Post No. 9 team Charlotte, N. C.

Similar honors were claimed by Arlington Heights with outfielder Doug Fink and first baseman Jerry Fink and catcher Mark Frase and second baseman Mike Frase.

Outfielder James Gash and pitcher John Gash and Mike Marrone, Jr. and Steve Marrone, infielder and outfielder, played with Barringer-Walker Post No. 139 from Lyndhurst, N. J.

For exactly one-half of the 16 players in South Dakota to defend North Carolina's honor in the series, the Legion finals were somewhat old hat. Eight Charlotte Hornets had been over the same road before in Little Rock, Ark., when their team was national champion runnerup in 1964.

Paul Judrez and Gregory Lipincott call the same community home as do the 1964 national champions, the Upland Post No. 73 team of Upland, Calif. Judrez was an outfielder and Lipincott a pitcher for the Ontario Post No. 112 team. Ontario and Upland are adjacent communities. Ontario left Upland behind in the district playoffs this year.

Some people at the Legion World Series raised the question if there's something in the geography of California that makes good baseball players. There is some basis for question for California teams captured top national honors in 1964, 1963, 1954, 1951, 1950, 1949, 1942, 1941, 1938, and 1928 — a state record for the youth classic.

A famous name appeared in the 1965 finals. Catcher Thomas Di Maggio of Lyndhurst, N. J. actually can claim distant kinship with the famous centerfielder, Joe.

The 1965 World Series was played in the Aberdeen, S. D. Municipal Ball Park, normally inhabited by the Aberdeen Pheasants of the Northern League, a professional farm club of the major league Baltimore Orioles. It seats about 7,000 and is considered one of the best lighted fields in the Midwest.

The coaches and athletes were housed in Kramer Hall at Northern State College, a modern dormitory about 50 yards from the park.

Fenton Grads Bid For Illini Berths

Never have young interior linemen had a better chance to play football than at the University of Illinois this season.

Coach Pete Elliott is counting upon help from two graduates from Bensenville's Fenton High School, Dale Greco and Jim Marinangel, in building a first-class line to go in front of an outstanding array of backfield talent.

Illini forward walls were almost completely wiped out by graduation following the 1964 campaign, but Elliott's larder is rich with fine runners, including All-America fullback Jim Grabowski.

Greco is one of only three interior line lettermen on the squad. He is working at right tackle, and undoubtedly will see much action during the fall. Marinangel will be on the "doubtful" ist ecause of a knee injury suffered in spring practice.

If he is able to play, it will provide a big "plus" for the Illini in the linebacking department. He also is a fine placekicker, and could be a great asset with that specialty.

GRECO EARNED a letter with 87 minutes' playing time last fall. As a sophomore, he was well-regarded, but injured his shoulder in the third week of the season and failed to letter.

He won three letters in football, three in werestling, and one in track at Fenton High.

At Illinois he is studying physical education. He is a member of Sigma Chi social fraternity.

Marinangel won two letters in football, two in track, and one in basketball as a prep.

He is a member of Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity at the Champaign campus, and is studying physical education.

Illinois' outstanding six-game home schedule opens with Oregon State's 1965 Rose Bowl representatives at Champaign Sept. 18. Other dates in Memorial Stadium: Southern Methodist (high school band day), Sept. 25; Indiana (Homecoming), Oct. 16; Duke (Chicago Day), Oct. 23; Purdue (Dad's and "I" Men's Days), Oct. 30; and Michigan, Nov. 6.

Illini Press Book Available For First Time

University of Illinois Football Press Guide, expanded greatly this year by addition of considerable historical information, is available to the general public for the first time.

Copies may be ordered at $1.00 each by writing: Athletic Publicity Office, 115 Assembly Hall, Champaign, Ill.

The Guides include rosters and sketches of the 1965 "Fighting Illini," information about this season's opponents, and the expanded records section. Added to the records are Illinois' all-time football scores, year by year, statistical leaders from 1946 through 1964, and a list of foemer Illini in All-Star action.

The booklet includes 52 pages about the Illini and their foes.

Wheeling Runners Seek Improvement

Improvement is the goal of this season's cross country team at Wheeling.

The Wildcats open their 1965 campaign next Tuesday at East Leyden. Beginning action for coach Ken Carter's crew starts at 4:30 p.m.

With that initial meet the 'Cats will attempt to better last year's record which left them floundering near the bottom of the Mid-Suburban League.

PART OF THE Wheeling hopes for improvement are based on six returning lettermen. They are seniors Bill Lytle, Paul Fiegen, Dave Eaton, Doug Steinman, Carl Meisenheimer, and Bob Bromley.

Headman Carter's expectations for a more respectable record also involve underclassmen. Highly rated by their coach are two juniors and two sophomores.

Greg Shornden and Tom Paguralski are the juniors. Shornden was a leader of the '64 frosh-soph unit. "He's been running very well," commented Carter, "and Paguralski is a very hard worker."

The pair of sophs, called exceptional by their coach, are Lenny Eaton and Andy Black.

"DEPENDING ON the opposition and the type of meet," Carter commented, "Black and Eaton will be running on both the varsity and frosh-soph teams. They will be seeing quite a bit of varsity action."

"Depending on how the two sophs do, I think we'll do fairly well this year," Carter continued. "I would expect some improvement over last year due to our having seniors available."

This is the first season for Carter at the helm of Wheeling's harriers. In '64 he was a coach at Central School in Mount Prospect.

The Wildcats will follow their opening meets by hosting Maine South on September 17 and then taking part in an invitational meet on the 18th at Maine West.

PREPARATIONS for all coming competition began on August 25. One-a-day sessions were held the first week; two-a-day practices were run all last week and now the 'Cats are back to once-a-day workouts.

"Most of the team is now in very good condition," concluded the Wheeling coach.

444 Press Captures Old Orchard Crown

A very fine golf league season ended last Friday for the Old Orchard Scratch, and it finished in its typical manner, two or three teams struggling right down to the last putt.

444 Press started the night's action with a two point lead over Busse's Flowers, and since they were playing each other, needed three of the eight points to assure themselves a tie with Busse's.

However, the third place team, Miles & Miles Inc., could then have passed up both teams by picking up at least seven points, a rather difficult accomplishment against any team, but even more difficult when Mike Spinello is on the opposition.

The match between 444 Press and Busse's Flowers found the No. 1 men, Bob Reiland and Dan Musser, fighting a brilliant duel, with Dan getting a birdie on the second hole to go one up, Reiland squaring the match with a par on the sixth, and Musser taking the eighth with a par to decide the match. Also important was the fact that Musser outscored his opponent in medal play, an even par 35 to Reiland's 36.

John Keeley got his Pressmen even matchwise by getting a win over Joe Rouse, and Bill Schwerin followd suit by tumbling Stan Fill, but Emil Piscopo came through with a big win and a 37 for Busse's to close the gap.

Don Cecconi came in with the third win for the Pressmen, and the points stood at 4-3 in Busse's favor with only the team best ball to figure out. It was here that birdies by Cecconi, Schwerin, and Keeley matched those of Musser, Piscopo, and Rouse and gave 444 Press the extra half-point necessary to clinch the title.

MIKE GRAFT, Gene Bergmark, and reserve Harold Klapp won their matches for Miles & Miles Inc., but their hopes to pass up the leaders were crushed when Mike Spinello won the third hole from Len Arnold and it held up for a one up victory. Had this match been reversed, there would have been a tie for the title.

The individual leader for low average was Mike Spinello with a remarkable 35.3 and Bob Reiland was second with 36.2. Mike also had the most matches won with 13, and was the only undefeated golfer in the league. Mike Graft and Dan Musser tied for second in matches won with 11. The golfer showing the most improvement in average over last year was Gene Bergmark who bettered his nine-hole average by 3.4 shots. John Keeley ranked second in this department with a 2.2 increase.

Two more events remain on the agenda for this year, an 18 hole Play Day on Sept. 19 and the banquet at Old Orchard Country Club on October 15.

Mount Prospect Grid Season Opens Sunday

This Sunday, Sept. 12, the Junior and Bantam Division of the Mount Prospect Midget Football Association will play their opening games.

The Senior Division kicks off its season the following week. All games will be played on Sunday at Lions Park in Mount Prospect.

The Junior Division games will start at 1:30 p.m. and 3 p.m. The east and west fields will house this division's games. The eight teams in the division will see action every week through October 24. This will enable each team to play every other team once during the season.

The games will consist of eight man teams with nine minute quarters under a regulation clock. The quarters have been lengthened one minute this season to permit more players to see action.

The Bantam Division games will be played on a new field east of the location of the Junior Division contests. This will be known as the Bantam field.

Four games will be played every Sunday. Starting times will be every hour commencing at 1 p.m.

These games will require an eight man team playing for six minute quarters under a regulation clock. The use of the regulation clock is new for this division and should enable more boys to play.

The Senior Division will be comprised of four teams. Their games will be played on the North Field with 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. starting times. Each team will play every other team twice over the six week season which also ends on October 24th. Their playing teams will consist of eleven men engaged in four minute quarters under a regulation clock.

The Association has just over 500 boys enrolled in the program. The registration had to be cut off at that number to enable the officers to maintain the same high standards as in the past.

The annual pageant will take place on October 31. The Women's Auxiliary will hold their annual football season dance on November 5.

Arlington Furniture held on to their lead in the Arlington Friday league and came up with three points to win first by a margin of five points. Le Starge was the only man to win his match for one point but they captured low gross and low net for their other two points.

Wheeling Lumber came in second place with 62 points and L'Nor Cleaners edged out Webber Paints by taking 5½ points with Webber getting only three.

Arlington Furniture Team consisted of O'Connell, Kelliher, LeStarge, Mingus and Thiessen. On Wheeling Lumber were Aucunas, Forslund, Korenevich, Tracy, and Johnson.

L'Nor Cleaners was made up of Helfers, Lucksinger, Clark, Knapcik, and Dan Kelliher.

Roselle Boy On Dubuque Grid Roster

University of Dubuque athletic director and football coach Owen Evans announced this week that football practice for the 1965-66 campaign will get under way August 30.

Evans, and assistant coach Tom Evans, will have only 12 days to prepare the Spartans for their September 11 opener against rival Platteville, Wisconsin, College. The Platteville contest and Dubuque's first Iowa Intercollegiate Athletic Conferenec tilt, which is against Wartburg College September 18, are both home games.

The two Evans will have 26 players returning from last year's verse of the Blue-and-White-Clads and are looking forward to an improvement over the 1964-65 ledger of three wins, five defeats, and a tie, as only seven gridders were lost due to graduation.

Among those returning for practice will be Joe Chlapaty, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hans Chlapaty, 554 W. Maple, Roselle. Chlapaty will be fighting for a starting assignment as a tackle.

No Vets in 1965

For the first time in many years, University of Illinois football team will not have a veteran of military service. Last two Illini veterans, guard Don Saunders and safety George Donnelly, graduated last June.

Sophs Show Promise

If they live up to the potential they showed in spring practice, several sophomores could make valuable contributions to the Northwestern football cause this fall.

"It's difficult to predict what you can expect from a group of boys who have yet to play their first varsity game," said Coach Alex Agase. "But we have confidence in the ability of some of our sophomores to mature quickly in Big Ten football this fall."

Among those who could become important factors for the Wildcats once they overcome the problems of inexperience are three sophomore quarterbacks who rank behind letterman Dave Milam.

MOST ADVANCED of the trio is Denny Boothe, Mundelein, who will make another attempt at starting his sophomore season after a pre-season hand injury prevented him from playing last year. He played with the first unit during spring practice while Milam was sidelined with an injury, and demonstrated that he will seriously challenge for the starting assignment.

The two quarterback prospects up from the freshman team are Bill Melzer, Clintonville, Wis., and Rick Venturi, Pekin. All three sophomores, like Milam, are option type quarterbacks.

Other backs who showed potential as freshmen were halfback John Anstey, Pleasant Ridge, and defensive backs Dennis Coyne, Chicago (DePaul) and Bob Pyle, Granite City. Likely to see action as a reserve fullback is Al Koranda, Hinsdale, who is listed as a linebacker on defense.

ANOTHER defensive back held in high regard is Tom Garretson, Wichita, Kan., who, like Boothe, was awarded another season of eligibility after a hand injury prevented his sophomore debut last year. Garretson is a leading candadate to start at safety, a position he held in the spring.

Most prominent among the sophomore linemen are offensive guard Bruce Gunstra, Lafayette, Ind., and defensive tackle Sandy Smith, Shorewood, Wis. Gunstra was the top interior lineman on the freshman team, while Smith is 6-4 and could play at close to 240 pounds.

Another lineman regarded highly is 237-pound Bob Reeder, former Evanston High School star who appears to have made a strong recovery from the knee surgery he underwent during his freshman year. Reeder is being tested at both offensive guard and offensive center.

Other sophomore linemen who will get a thorough trial before the Sept. 18 opener against Florida at Dyche Stadium include offensive tackles Mike Hahn, Beloit, Wis., and Rich Mizerski, Chicago (Lane); defensive tackle Rick Martinek, Appleton, Wis.; offensive guard Tim Pell, Bay Village, Ohio; linebacker Ron Mied, Bloomingdale; defensive end Roger Ward, Evanston, and offensive ends Don Anderson, Woodstock, and Joe Ramsdell, Richmond, Ind.

Anderson is considered the leading pass receiving prospect amond the sophomores, and could make a strong bid for the starting assignment at split end.

Bankers to Meet Novak & Parker

It still isn't over in the northwest Suburban YMCA twilight golf league.

Mount Prospect State Bank and Novak & Parker captured the first and second half championships and now will square off for the grand title.

Eidemiller Realty shaved one-half point off Novak and Parker's lead last week in the second half play but that wasn't enough.

With darkness crowding in, the evening's play was hampered and the scores were not exceptional although Ed Nixon fashioned low gross honors with a 36.

Other leaders were George Silianoff and Max peomollor with 37s and Ed Then with a 38.

Low netters were Peomoller, Silianoff, and Nixon with 32s and Dave Prochnow with a 33.

Peter O'Toole isn't listed in the cast of "The Sandpiper," but his voice is heard in the film.

'Third Best Sport' Cast Listed by Winston Theatre

How would you feel if you were a rising young company executive and your wife just "goofed" the biggest deal ever?

This is the situation in which Doug Sayre, as played by Bruce Drake of Mount Prospect, finds himself when he brings his young bride Helen, portrayed by Betty Kandlbinder of Palatine, to a sales convention. Doug tries his best to teach his bride the "accepted behaviour" of a company wife, but is basically as nonconforming as she.

This lays the groundwork for Winston Little Theatre's next play, "Third Best Sport," to be seen Oct. 15 and 16 at Palatine High School on Wood Street. Director Chuck Cole announces the following cast for this farce comedy, which takes place in luxurious Palm Beach:

MRS. KANDLBINDER has been an active member of Winston Little Theatre, appearing in "Whole Darn Shooting Match," "Tender Trap" and most recently in the spring revue, "Crabgrass Salad."

Drake, playing her frustrated husband, played the lead man in "Tender Trap" and also was seen in "Whole Darn Shooting Match." He was production manager for "Born Yesterday" and has had various experiences in radio and television.

All sorts of problems arise when Helen discovers that she has innocently scheduled a philosopher instead of a business writer from the Wall Street Journal as the convention speaker. Dr. Lockwood, as played by Harry Brown of Palatine, goes along with this deception in his bewildered philosophical way.

BROWN appeared in "Born Yesterday" and was also in BOB's production of "Kiss Me Kate."

John Wagner, the "top man" of the Norse-Wagner Company, will be played by Rudy Kandlbinder, who appeared in "Whole Darn Shooting Match" and "Tender Trap" and who gained fame when he appeared in "Crabgrass Salad."

Wining and dining of Spencer McHenry, an important customer, is the crux of the show. McHenry will be portrayed by Dan Yelovich, an active behind the scenes worker with WLT, who was seen in "Crabgrass Salad." His wife, Myra, will be played by WLT president Elizabeth Dumler. Mrs. Dumler was the assistant director for "Whole Darn Shooting Match" and had roles in "Tender Trap," "Born Yesterday" and "Crabgrass 'salad."

Des Plaines Theatre Guild Lists Plays for 1965-66

The Des Plaines Theatre Guild has just announced titles of the plays to be produced during this, its 20th consecutive season.

The 1965-66 schedule calls for three comedies and two dramas, including: "The Pleasure Of His Company," "A Far Country," "Arms And The Man," "A Streetcar Named Desire" and "Champagne Complex."

The Guild board of directors has offered a 20th anniversary bonus to season ticket purchasers subscribing for seats during the first weekend of performances. These patrons will receive a coupon good for another admission to any one show of the season.

SEASON subscriptions are now available at the same $8 price as last year and may be obtained by calling ticket chairman Jane Clark at 824-8019 or writing the Des Plaines Theatre Guild, P. O. Box 84, Des Plaines 60017.

Single admission prices remain $2, and students can see the show any Friday night for just $1.

"The Pleasure Of His Company," now under rehearsal at the Guild Playhouse, 620 Lee St., Des Plaines, will open Friday, Sept. 17 and continue Sept. 18, 24, 25, Oct. 1 and 2.

"PLEASURE" was written by Samuel Taylor and Cornelia Otis Skinner and tells the story of Pogo Poole, ageless international roue, who deserts his African safari and returns unexpectedly to the home of his first wife to give away their daughter in marriage. Discovering his baby is now about 20 years out of diapers, he charms her with an offer to travel abroad. Mother and fiance are against postponing the marriage. The stepfather is catagorically against Pogo and the grandfather and houseboy are just against.

OTHER show dates are as follows: "A Far Country," Nov. 12, 13. 19, 20, 26, 27. "Arms And The Man," Jan. 14, 15, 21, 22, 28, 29. "A Streetcar Named Desire," March 11, 12, 18, 19, 25 26. "Champagne Complex," May 6, 7, 13, 14, 20, 21.

Guild Players Move To Lake Park Stage

The Guild Players will present their four major productions of the 1965-66 season in the recently completed Lake Park High School auditorium in Medinah, publicity director Al Bollyn has announced.

The new auditorium on Medinah Road just south of Irving Park Road will allow the Guild Players to more than double the size of their previous capacity audiences, Bollyn said.

Mrs. Glenn Howe, board chairman of the Guild Players, and Victor Simone, resident director, were notified by the high school administration that the Guild Players' productions could be held at Lake Park without interfering with the scheduled use of the auditorium.

"BEING ABLE to present our plays in the Lake Park auditorium is one of the most significant forward steps in the eight-year growth of the Guild Players," Bollyn stated. "Every patron in our audiences this season will have an excellent view of the large stage from a comfortable theater seat," he added.

"The Guild Players sincerely appreciate the co-operation and the many considerations given us by the principals and others on the staff at Parkside School in Roselle during the past years we have been permitted to use their facilities," Bollyn said. "However, they have observed our audiences continually increase in size, and I know they are as pleased as we are about our good fortune in being able to move our productions to the beautiful facilities at Lake Park."

The Guild Players have presented about 20 major productions for adults and for children of the northwest suburbs at the Parkside School. (Bill

Paddock Secretary Gets Unusual Assignment

Only Girl at Auto Press Conference

by CHARLOTTE ASLANOFF

I've tamed my first Bronco—Ford Motor Co.'s new Bronco, that is.

When the Ford company invited Paddock Publications to have a representative present at the introduction of its new line of four-wheel drive general purpose vehicles, I was asked to substitute for an overworked and vacation riddled editorial staff. This sounded like an exciting adventure, and I chose to accept.

Shortly after my arrival, I learned that I was the lone woman among 106 men. What an assignment!

We were met by the team that developed the Bronco who gave us the intimate details of this latest addition to the world-renowned family of cars. Since I had "boned up" in advance, with the help of Popular Science magazine, I understood all the technical terms that might otherwise have confused me.

The development team told us that their marketing analysis confirmed a large market for this type of sports-utility vehicle. The Bronco, they said, has many of the traits desired by people—higher highway cruising speed, ability to climb steep grades, weather-tight cabs, more comfortable seats, shorter turning radius and readily available parts and service.

This press conference was quite a contrast to the kind of affairs I am accustomed to attending, such as fashion shows. But it was only the beginning!

Next we were assigned partners. Mine was Sid Priddle, automotive editor of Automotive Times, Toronto, Canada. We were given a Bronco, a map, a list of directions, and we were off on a time and distance rally with Sid as driver and me as navigator.

THIS LITTLE exercise took us over city streets, county roads and state highways to Ford's proving grounds at Romeo, Mich., a total distance of 40 miles, and we didn't get lost once! I learned why the Bronco is a readily adaptable second car for urban folks with a yen for the country.

The Bronco's manual three-speed transmission has a column-mounted selector similar to that of your car. The synchronized low gear permits shifting into low without stopping when steep grades are encountered.

The two-speed transfer case has a single floor-mounted shift lever, and it is easy to sequence from front to rear. The lever easily provides four-wheel drive low, neutral, two-wheel drive high and four-wheel drive high. It's not necessary to stop or declutch when shifting into or out of four-wheel drive high.

FOR THOSE OF US who are wedded to automatic shift, this is about as close as we will ever come to it without having it.

At the proving grounds we found the lunch bell ringing. Each of us was outfitted with cowboy hat and a kerchief, and then we were treated to a real western style barbeque, catered by President Johnson's barbeque chef.

When we'd been fed and watered like a herd of steers being readied for market, we were led back to our vehicles for an afternoon of "Ride 'em, Bronco."

The contest was between the good guys and the bad guys — those with white hats were good; those with black, the bad. We started out for a drag race in a sand pit. If you have never tried it, you should; this is fun of the first order. The sand was dry, and I was really surprised at how the four-wheel drive dug in and propelled us through. You won't get stuck in the sandy beach with a Bronco — or in the snow either.

WELL-DUSTED with sand, we took off for the hill climbing event. This was a course against time, well marked, and it had to be followed.

We did such wild things as start up a 17 per cent grade, stop at a stop sign, then take off like a runaway horse up and over a 29 per cent grade, slam on the brakes, down shift and whip over the top on our way down hill. For one who gets dizzy licking an air mail stamp, that was an experience. This run completed, and another still ahead, the brake engineer, the one who designed the braking system for this Bronco animal, took one look at my pallid face and advised, "Don't worry!"

Our next test was a cross-country enduro, against time, of course. Since the road was one-way, once we started there was no backing out. The road was rough and took us over all types of paths, through watered ditches and marshes, through a gravel area designated, appropriately, "the boon docks." They called this the Korean Route. It was the roughest I've ever traveled.

By the time we returned to the starting point, it was nearly flight time home for me. Our host had treated us royally, and I am grateful to them for the experience of a lifetime. And also for the six pounds I lost in those tests!

Add Antiques

Good antiques and good reproductions can and do have a place in modern interiors when chosen as part of a scheme, and when they perform a useful function. The addition of antique accessories and furniture can enhance a room with warmth, sustaining character and unique interest. However, the total inpression should be harmonious.

"Material properly prepared is of great help to the editors," explained Mrs. Scott. "We hope our clinic will again provide publicity chairmen with helps and suggestions that will enable them to write better copy and get better coverage for their club activities."

Here's HAUGH to Plan a Party

WSID Box Makes Party Fun, Helps Mom Later

By DOLORES HAUGH

After school starts and preschoolers are finding time heavy on their hands, it is a wise mother indeed who will plan ahead and have a WSIDB Coffee. What is a WSIDB? It is a WHAT SHALL I DO BOX. The idea here is to get the jump on Junior, or daughter, and at the same time celebrate that school is starting and also have the fun of a coffee for your friends and neighbors.

INVITATIONS

You may just wish to call each friend. Have the coffee in the evening so that Daddy can baby sit or if you have it during the day, say for Mom only. Ask each mother to bring as many ideas for keeping preschoolers busy, and the one who brings the most will win a prize.

If you have time for handmade invitations, cut a large teddy bear from brown construction paper, tie on yellow ribbon and on the back write the instructions for the coffee plus time, place, date and an RSVP instruction and add "Couldn't bear for you not to come."

DECORATIONS

The only thing you have to decorate will be your table and that will be easy. Just use a few ideas you have made up for your pre-schooler, such as an oatmeal box cradle or train, milk carton houses, bag puppets, dixie spoon and clothespin people or cheese carton lid trivets, or just place a Teddy Bear on the table. Then take a length of nursery rhyme material, this may later be made into pajamas for your tot, and drape it over three boxes of different sizes. Place your handiwork projects or Teddy Bears on these and drape the cloth. You may wish to use a juvenile paper motif with matching paper cups, paper napkins and plates, or bright hellow china or plattic.

MENU

You may wish to make teddy bear shaped cookies. If you can salvage enough, let the children help make them. Or serve Brownies and lollipops and lots of coffee. Let everyone come early for a dessert coffee; this way Daddy puts the children to bed for a change or is it with a change? Guests may help themselves during the evening so be ready.

ENTERTAINMENT

This is an educational coffee so provide each guest with a pretty yellow notebook and matching pencil, or pen. These are also their take home prizes. The idea is to exchange ideas so write them down as each guest tells her ideas. She may have them written up and as they are listed, she must eliminate her idea from her list.

The one to bring the most ideas wins a prize which may be crayons, blunt scissors or let us call it a WSID Kit, a shoe box equipped, that is.

As hostess you may have several ideas up your sleeve, too, such as how to prepare the child for these ideas and provide an easy to clean place for him to work, remembering that a card table is too high unless he stands, and that the floor is better if covered with paper which catches the mess. Also, that some kind of plastic apron, shirt or smock is a must for messes. Creative play is the best but messiest kind.

Color books and purchased cut out ideas are disqualified, anyone can do that. Magazines, old catalogs and scrap books are in, for colored pictures to make pet shops, or fashion shops or toy stores, rolls of towels, shelf paper, butcher wrapping paper are in, too. Large work for small hands provide big ideas and enjoyment. Mom is to give the idea but let her child do the work, that is the object. Also don't give the child anything he cannot do alone. He becomes frustrated then and quits. But tell him how to do it, or better still make one for him first, then hide it for the next time you want to give your own WSIDB Coffee. Happy cutting up!

Childhood Revisited

Amusement Park Was Exciting Summer Fun

By BETTY AINSLIE

Something synonymous with summer is a trip to an amusement park, expecially if there are children in the family. Somehow amusement parks lose some of their sparkle and wonder as we grow older—probably because we discover that life itself holds more excitement than that concocted mechanically.

But a large amusement park with its fun houses, roller coasters, trains, boats, merry-go-rounds, whips and airplanes still is exciting no matter what age—still take you back to your kid days.

Remember the summer days of holding that small youngster on a wooden steed for his first ride on the merry-go-round? Or remember the first breath-taking plunge on that ride alone on the roller coaster? Or those rides with the boy friend on the "tunnel of love," or dancing in that open air pavilion which was part of every amusement park?

WHEN I WAS a child there was a certain day in August set aside for families of members of The Shrine. This was a day eagerly awaited when everything in the biggest amusement park in Cleveland, Ohio, could be ridden by merely showing a stamped hand.

My father always arranged for the day off, and a special friend of mine was my yearly companion on this special day. We'd arrive with the park opening, and after Dad showed proper credentials we were duly stamped and turned loose to ride everything in the park. Things that usually demanded six tickets or more were picked first, and brand new attractions were always tackled.

My heart was in my mouth more than in my chest, and rides I couldn't be dragged on at "pay as you go" park visits were always tried once.

BEFORE LUNCH we rode the more violent roller coasters and the airplanes that tipped you upside down. The show and the more mild of amusements were kept for that hour after lunch deemed necessary by my parents.

My more venturesome friend on these jaunts was always the driver on the "dodg'em" or the racing cars. She was two years my senior and always the leader. She would ride the highest roller coaster or go into the spookiest fun house with nary a qualm, and naturally I wouldn't be left behind. Once I ablked after viewing a high structure she wanted to ascend and descend, and her look was withering.

"Spoilsport," she'd declare with disgust. "Okay, okay, so I'll go alone and leave sissy you right here alone and missing the fun."

THAT DID IT. I didn't want to miss the fun so I trotted along to try everything.

Even my parents rode amusements they'd never consider at regular prices, and I remember my mother stopped the race horse derby one picnic day.

These wonder horses went around five in a row on a huge round pie, and at a bell they'd move swiftly forward in a long box enclosure at a high speed. The horse who stayed ahead got a flag in his bridle and a free ride for the passenger.

But Mother stopped the machinery while the man who ran the "flying derby" insisted she straddle the horse instead of riding the more ladylike side saddle. She refused and the ride came to a stop until she climbed off. My girl friend and I continued the ride red-faced.

IF I EAT ham salad today, I'm always reminded of the Shrine picnic as that was the yearly filling for our picnic sandwiches.

The day always ended with the purchase of a gas filled balloon, popcorn buttery warm, sticky popcorn balls and bags of wrapped candy kisses always hard on the fillings.

Exhausted, we'd tumble into bed but not to sleep. In whispers we's discuss the high points of our day and still feel like we were riding the roller coaster all night. Our big day was over to be eagerly waited for the next year.

And to this day summer wouldn't be right without one day at an amusement park. Not to try the rides myself anymore but to see the kids have fun and to re-awaken memories of that special day in my own young summer.

Apply Veneer

Veneering is one of the oldest of arts. It has been practiced in some form or another as long as marquetry and inlaying. It gives strength to the frame and decorative beauty to the finished piece. Even in Colonial times, veneer was often applied to solid mahogany, for example, to permit a lustrous finish of great beauty.

Rock-A-Bye

The rocker is an American product, but the date of its introduction is unknown. It would date to the mid-1700's, probably, when east coast settlers began making furniture, adapting European fashions to rugged pioneer life.

School-Agers Are Prime Rheumatic Fever Targets

Another school year has rolled around, and the three Rs ride again—though they may be a bit hard to recognize in the guise of "sight-reading," "new math," and "written expression."

This is also the time of year when parents and teachers are concerned about the "fourth R"—rheumatic fever. Children of school age are the special targets of this cruel disease, the Chicago Heart Association points out, oting that peak incidence occurs during the school year.

MEDICAL science does not yet have a vaccine against rheumatic fever, nor does it have a "wonder drug" to cure the disease. But we do have suffieient knowledge and tools to prevent many, if not most, cases.

We know that streptococcal infections, such as "strep" sore throats and scarlet fever, can lead to rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease, cause of more long-term disabling illness in children than any other disease. It is estimated that more than 1,200,000 Americans over the age of 18 have rheumatic heart disease, usually the results of a rheumatic fever attack in childhood.

But strep infections need not lead to rheumatic fever. If every recognizable strep infection were promptly and thoroughly treated, with penicillin or other antibiotics, rheumatic fever could be all but eliminated from the illness statistics of the next generagion.

THIS IS where alertness of parents and teachers plays a key role. If Johnny can't read or write or do his lessons one day because of a sore throat and a fever of 101 degrees or more,especially if these have come on suddenly, you should think twice before dismissing it as "just another sore throat." Especially if Johnny complains of sore neck glands and pain when he swallows.

These are signals to send for the doctor right away. Only he can verify that a strep infection is present,, using modern laboratory techniques if necessary to confirm his diagnosis.

Penicillin and other drugs offer protection even to the youngster who has already had a rheumatic fever attack. Given on a year-round basis, the medications ward off new strep infections that may lead to a recurrence of rheumatic fever.

Use of Bamboo

Bamboo is popular because it mixes well. It gives a room lightness and a touch of fantasy. It may be domestic or imported bamboo, antique, or one of the finish-it-yourself kinds, but, if it's bamboo, it adds a bit of whimsy to a room.

Helpful Tips For Drivers

After a rainy or humid night on the street or parking lot, have you found your car won't start? You could have a dead battery—in which case you'll have to call for a quick charge or a push. The symptoms, though, point to moisture on the spark plugs, an easy problem to solve.

Just turn off the ignition, open the hood, and wipe the plugs with a cloth or tissue. They're the small white knobs on top of the engine block with a wire leading to each one.

YOUR BRAKES get wet? Pumping them briskly will set up the friction that dries them out faster. If you can't get out of traffic or pull to the side of the road, use the slowing power of low gear or your emergency brake until the regular brakes grip again.

New Needlepoint

The new needlepoints may be used successfully on both modern and traditional furniture, according to the American Institute of Interior Designers. The design interpretation comes from formal French, country English and rich damask. It has a 20th century look which makes it right for contemporary living.

FOOTBALL SEASON is upon us, and that is a popular decor for a boy's bedroom. On the bed is a national football league cotton spread which features the emblems of all the teams in the league. Match-mated to this is a wrap-up terry towel. Both are easily washed and require no ironing. The rest of the room's decor consists of mementos and sports equipment gathered by the boy himself. (S

Here's Solution to Case Of 'Disappearing Socks'

"We are poor little socks who have lost our way, socks, socks, socks."

More often than any other item of apparel, socks wind up lost, strayed, or stolen. They vanish without a race, then weeks or months later turn up in the innards of the automatic washer, behind, the dryer, in recesses behind dresser drawers, or even out in the garden.

THE CASE of the Disappearing Socks can be solved. To unravel the mystery start by going through the family's socks, weed out those with unmendable holes and those without mates. Use these as polishing cloths, oven mitts or just plain rags.

Next, keep a mesh bag near the washing machine. As you sort the entire wash, drop all socks into the bag. Close the drawstrings, drop the bag into the washer. This not only saves socks — it's a recommended way of saving your washing equipment.

One sock in the works of the washer can cost $10 in repair bills.

IF YOU HAVE a large family, try storing the socks in a centrally located spot, saving yourself the time and trouble of pairing and putting away. A "sock box" can fit easily inside your linen closet.

This way, it's everyone for himself in getting a pair of socks on his feet.

Buy socks in the different sizes required, but all in the same solid colors. This way, even if the very last pair in your "sock box" is not an exact match in size, at least your youngster won't have to go through the day wearing one red and one blue sock. (S

'Happy Face' Is THE Look in Make-Up

In this Fall's beauty picture, "the look is the happy face — an open, glowing face. The healthy, vigorous look of glowing vitality is for the chic in love with work and play. No longer is the yearning for a sulky mouth or a hoked up aura of mystery, but face blushing with health and smiling with gaity.

The look of the face: smooth—the result of consistent, careful attention. The width of a face is made more so by heightening the distance between eye and brow — thinning the brows, if necessary. Lightening the brow, if your hair is dark, affirming it if it's too fair. Whitening the area just beneath the brow. Deepening the area behind the eye, but warmly.

BENEATH the eye, atop the cheekbones, a blusher creates a rounder, slightly apple-cheeked illusion.

Officials on Panel For AAUW Meet

Three lawyers, among them State Rep. Eugene Schlickman, will be panelists tonight, Thursday, at the kick-off meeting of Arlington Heights branch of the American Association of University Women.

The 130-member branch will hear Rep. Schlickman, Arlington heights village Trustee Thomas Hanlon and John Doyle, former Rolling Meadows village attorney, discuss "The State, The Village — and You."

THE 8:30 program in Arlington Heights Federal Savings and Loan Building will be preceded by an 8 o'clock coffee time.

Prospective members are welcome and may call membership chairman, Mrs. Beaver E. J. Waring, at 392-3599.

What village government can — and can't — do to serve its citizens will be discussed by the three men with the assistance of an AAUW moderator, Mrs. R. J. Schlott.

THE PROGRAM is one of a series planned by the branch as part of a year's study of "The Law and the Citizen." That topic will also be emphasized by the couples' Contemporary Thought study group, which will particularly discuss areas in which public good and individual freedom conflict.

Another AAUW topic for the year, "Education — Antidote to Poverty," will be used for meetings of the Literature and Art study groups, while the Morning Discussion group will draw its programs from both topics.

"Revolution in Modern China" will be studied by an AAUW group whose leader will be Mrs. Charles Toot of Arlington Heights, former branch president. Other branch study groups include the Music group, which will emphasize various musical forms this year, and the fellowships bridge group.

THE YEAR'S plans for each study group will be outlined at tonight's meeting by branch chairmen.

The AAUW members will also hear a plea for used books for the branch's annual Book Fair in November. Funds raised from the project go to the AAUW Fellowships Fund which provides grants for women scholars doing advanced research in the arts, science and social sciences. Mrs. F. N. Palmatier of Arlington Heights, book sale chairman, will arrange to have books picked up from any area resident who calls her at CL 3-1092.

Early Detection, Care Can Control Glaucoma

The very word "glaucoma" strikes terror in the hearts of almost everyone who hears it. Many people think it is a type of cancer. Others consider it a cataract. There are still others who feel that glaucoma is contagious or a sign of brain tumor.

Regardless of these varied opinions, almost everyone associates glaucoma with total and incurable blindness.

Fortunately, ALL of these fears are groundless. Glaucoma —although ranked behind cataract as the second greatest cause of blindness in the United States—can be controlled with early detection and treatment.

NORMALLY THE eyeball contains a specialized fluid that is constantly being depleted and replenished in delicate balance. In glaucoma, however, this balance is disturbed. Fluid drainage becomes inadequate, resulting in a build-up of pressure within the eyeball that eventually crushes the eye nerve.

Pysicians recognize two types of glaucoma — primary and secondary. Although the underlying cause of the primary type is not known, many authorities suspect that it may be hereditary. The secondary type of glaucoma usually is the result of infection, inflammation, injury, or tumors of the tiny, delicate structures of the eye.

In both types, emotional stress and psychological disturbance tend to aggravate and prolong the disease process.

ALTHOUGH anyone can suffer from glaucoma, people over 40 with heart ailments, high blood pressure, diabetes and a family history of the disease are most susceptible. Anyone should be suspect, however, if they suffer fuzzy, blurred vision that comes and goes, poor vision in dim light and chronic headaches accompanied by a "feeling of pressure" on the eyes.

Your physician can detect even the slightest increase in eye pressure with a delicate measuring device called a tonometer. In a tonometric examination, one end of the instrument is placed directly against the eyeball to measure any variance in pressure. A local anesthetic is applied to the eye beforehand to minimize discomfort. If an increase in eyeball pressure is noted before symptoms appear, your physician has a far better chance to save your sight.

Among the weapons at his disposal to stop glaucoma are eye drops and internal medications that literally help to "unlock" the drainage system of your eyes and restore normal pressure balance. In addition, he can rely upon time-tested surgical procedures if conservative treatment fails. (S

Casements Make Sunny Kitchens

Since women must spend a good deal of time in the kitchen, it ought to be as pleasant a place as possible.

The kitchen can be quite pleasant if it has large windows that let in lots of fresh air and sunshine.

WHEN SELECTING windows for over a sink, remember that their placement may make them awkward to open and close.

Because they are to easy to use, wood casement windows are a popular choice for kitchens. They swing open with a simple push or with the crank of a handle to afford maximum ventilation and to make it easy to wash both sides of the windos from the inside.

Casement windows in stock units of ponderosa pine are easily installed, either singly or in combinations. (S

Preview Highlights Of Fall Fashions

Fall is just around the corner, and around that corner are the great fashion collections which will dominate the wardrobe of style-conscious women.

The new coat, the big coat, is fastened way to the side. Sleeves widen, collars stand high. Fabrics are smoother for day and softer for evening. The colors are pale grays and across the board are the greens, pale almonds and olive, vivid blues, electric pinks.

Jackets are lengthened, sometimes over the hip or they stop abruptly at the waist. Every woman will want a new suit for fall, for this fall the close-fitting suit is not just important, it is youthfhl and beguiling.

THE AMERICAN Scene is full of the casual tweed, the slim, feminine, active clothes with charm. The stretch coat in Go-Ahead Red Persimmon is great for travel and climate.

There's newness in the tricorn hat in felt with an anchoring, back-of-the-head bow.

Eat Erect

Babies held in an almost vertical position while being nursed or bottle-fed will get less air in their tummies, and suffer less discomfort. Dr. J. H. Hood, of Children's hospital, Brisbane, Australia, also observes that adults confined to bed, especially after abdominal surgery, will be less uncomfortable if they eat in an erect or semi-erect position. Why? Because they take in more air when reclining.

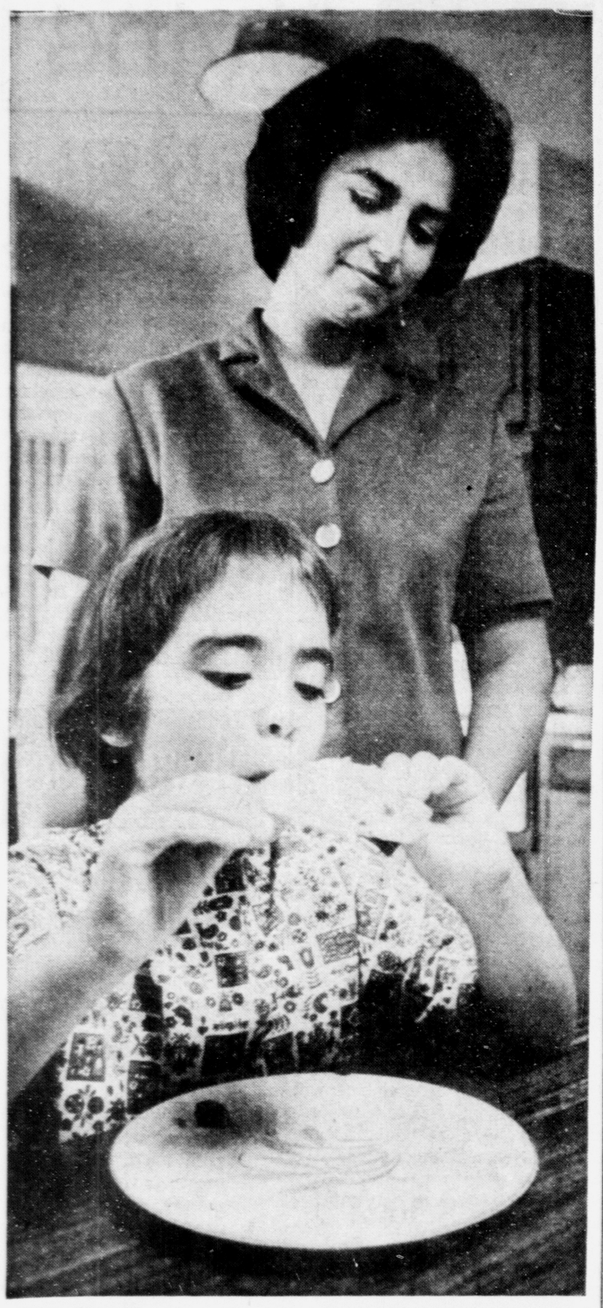
Family, Friends Like Her Mexican Cookery



FOR LUNCH, Alice Clemmons thoroughly enjoys Tostados made from her mother's authentic Mexican recipe. Mrs. Walter Clemmons of Rolling Meadows heaps an interesting combination of refried beans and salad on top of crisp tortillas to make this tempting luncheon or snack-time fare.

TOSTADAS

6 corn meal tortillas
1 can refried beans
1 small head lettuce, cut fine
1 tomato, cut in small pieces
1 avocado, cut in small pieces
½ pint sour cream
Salt and pepper

Cook tortillas until crisp in about ½-inch oil in a frying pan. Turn and cook on both sides. Remove from oil and set aside on absorbent paper.

Warm refried beans and spread over tortillas. Combine lettuce, tomato and avocado and spread over beans. Top with sour cream and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Eat with the hands. Serves 3.

MEXICAN BEEF

1 round steak
1 tablespoon flour
1 onion, sliced thin
1 cup canned tomatoes
Salt and pepper

Cut steak into small cubes. Brown in a small amount of oil.

Sprinkle flour over steak; turn steak frequently to brown flour.

Add sliced onion. Let simmer in steak juice for 2 to 3 minutes. Add tomatoes and break them up. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Simmer 2 or 3 minutes.

Add enough water to make a thin soup, 1 to 1½ cups. Cover and let simmer until meat is tender and gravy a little thick. Simmer 45 minutes to one hour. Serves 4.

Tostadas Are Good As Snack or Meal

By LOIS SEILER

Tostadas made by an authentic Mexican recipe make tempting luncheon, supper or snack-time fare.

This old family recipe has long been a favorite of Mrs. Walter Clemmons, who is of Mexican descent. She often prepares Mexican specialties that her family and friends have found particularly appealing, and tostadas are definitely one of these.

"Tostadas have a mild flavor, and most of the ingredients are familiar to everyone," said Mrs. Clemmons.

"They are quick and easy to make and all of the ingredients can be kept on hand and put together on a moment's notice," she continued.

THE TOSTADAS consist of crisply fried tortillas which are spread with refried beans. A salad of fine chopped lettuce, tomatoes and avocados is sprinkled over the beans and the salad is topped with sour cream.

Eaten with the hands, the complementary combination of ingredients on top of the crisp tortillas makes a tasty snack indeed!

Another dish which Mrs. Clemmons' family especially enjoys is for Mexican Beef made by a recipe often used by Maria Clemmons' mother.

IT SIMPLY calls for cubed round steak browned with flour and cooked with onion, tomatoes and water.

Although easy to prepare, this beef has a rich flavor and delicious gravy that makes it excellent dinner fare. Mrs. Clemmons accompanies it with refried beans and Spanish rice.

The busy mother of six children, Toni, 10; Alice, 9; Walter Jr., 7; Carol, 6; Mary, 4, and Elizabeth, 1½, Mrs. Clemmons nonetheless finds time to participate in school activities and is president of the Central Road School PTA.

The Clemmons family lives at 3408 Plum Grove Drive in Rolling Meadows.

Potatoes Plus

If you like to add different touches to your usual casserole of scalloped potatoes, cooked pork sausage patties and cooked, frozen peas may be alternated with the sliced potatoes.

Weight Aid

Weight conscious Americans are helping to boost the market for nonfat and low fat milk products. Sales of these fluid milk products are at an all-time high.

French Fried Onions Good On Hamburger

French fried onions are natural to serve with steak, but they also dress up plain hamburger.

Plan on one medium-sized mild onion per serving. These are cut in ¼-inch thick slices, separated into rings, soaked in milk for one-half hour.

DRAIN THE onion rings, then coat in flour which has been seasoned with salt and pepper. For 4 medium onions, 1 cup flour with 1 teaspoon salt and a teaspoon pepper will be required.

Heat the lard to 365 degrees and fry the flour-coated onion rings until brown.

Drain on absorbent paper. Serve immediately. (SH

'Hand' Made

For party fun, ask everyone to make his own "One-Man" Submarine Sandwich.

Set out individual enriched hard or French rolls. Offer a variety of cold cuts and cheeses along with lettuce, sliced tomatoes, onions and cucumbers. Give a prize for the most original sandwich "building."

Roast with Dill

When preparing a potroast, try the juice from dill pickles as the braising liquid just for variety. With this, a bit of dill seed may also be used as a seasoning.

Seasoned with dill, leftover potroast may be sliced for tasty sandwiches, particularly good on rye bread. (SH

Cabinets Cleaned Easy as 1-2-3-4

Pretty girls are made of sugar and spice — so are kitchens. If you've resolved to become an organization woman in the kitchen - cabinet - department, here's a simple 4-step plan of action.

1. Tote cleaning gear in a basket — then your extra pair of hands will be at your fingertips.
2. Take everything out of your kitchen cabinets and organize food according to type.
3. While the kitchen shelves are empty, clean them with a sponge dampened in a pine oil cleaner. Dry the shelves and restock.
4. Store like foods on one shelf.

Follow these hints and your whole kitchen will be "everything nice."

NO REACHING and good visibility when shelves slide in and out. Cleaning's easier, too. But whether you have sliders or stationary shelves make sure you empty them first — then sponge down with a 3-way pine oil product to clean, disinfect and deodorize all at once.

Before you repack your kitchen shelves, take a good look at what you're putting back on them. Any items not used regularly should be moved to the out-of-the-way shelves. Use most convenient, easy-to-reach storage places for your most active kitchen equipment. (S

Charity Group Plans Benefits on Patios

TAKING TIME OUT from their benefit work to wish Mrs. Albert Mawicke center, a happy birthday, are Mrs. Charles Patten and Mrs. Paul Tell. Mrs. Mawicke is decorations chairman for the Palatine Infant Welfare's Oct. 7 benefit-fashion show, "Welcome Dolly." (S

EVEN THE COLLEGE and high school set, Dee Dee and John Jordan, daughter and son of Infant Welfare President Mrs. John Jordan, help the charity group by delivering luncheon and "Tattoo" tickets. The presentation of the Royal Marines Tattoo from England is a fund raising project for all Infant Welfare Centers in the Chicago area.

Summer time means patio meetings for members of Palatine Center of the Infant Welfare Society of Chicago, who met all through the warmest weather to plan their fall benefits.

Hostess for the June meeting was Mrs. Robert Abate of Plum Grove Estates. It was at this meeting that members mailed out invitations to the Nov. 12 performance of the Royal Marines Tattoo from England, a fund-raising endeavor of all Infant Welfare Centers in Chicago and suburbs. The group also held a baby shower for the Center's Infant Welfare Station in Chicago.

A "WORK meeting" was held in July during which members busied themselves making "dolly" centerpieces to be used at their luncheon-fashion show, "Welcome Dolly." Timed to the arrival of Carol Channing, star of the "Hello Dolly" musical, the fashion show will be held Oct. 7 at Rolling Green Country Club. Hostess for this meeting was Mrs. Albert Mawicke, also of Plum Grove Estates.

On Aug. 4, the ladies met in the Rohlwing Road home of Mrs. John Jordan to continue work on the centerpieces.

The September meeting will be held next Wednesday in the Inverness home of Mrs. Herbert Berdan, where members, Mrs. Jack Flora, Mrs. Gerald Fitzgerald and Mrs. Norbert Sosenhauer, will be welcomed home from summer trips abroad. Other members will then get a preview showing of the "surprises" brought back from Europe for the "Hello Dolly" benefit. (S

'Friends' To Repeat Sunday Brunch

Elated over the success of their benefit brunch last year, Friends of Clearbrook School will repeat the affair this fall. Meeting recently, members set the date for this year's affair for Sunday, Oct. 3, again at the Carousel at Arlington Park Golf Club.

Formed only last year, the 1964 brunch was the initial fund-raiser sponsored by the group. Hundreds of area residents jammed the Carousel, many visiting for the first time the new restaurant. Cocktails downstairs preceded the elaborate brunch, which was served in the main dining room.

Although dozens of area clubs contribute to the school, Friends of Clearbrook School is the only area group formed solely to raise funds for the school, which is for retarded children in the area. Also acting in the school's interest is the Clearbrook Parent Auxiliary of which Robert O'Donnell of Prospect Heights is president.

George L. Carlson Claims Texas Girl as His Bride

In a double ring ceremony that took place July 24 in Midland, Texas, an Arlington Heights man, George Lieth Carlson, now of Midland, son of Mrs. George E. Carlson, 614 S. Pine, took as his bride Miss April Nancy Kissiah Howell, daughter of the Benton Howells of Midland.

The service, held at 7:30 p.m., took place in the Episcopal Church of the Holy Trinity with Rev. Francis W. Fowler officiating. The altar of the church was deocrated with 7-branch candelabra and matching vases of white flowers were placed on the sanctuary and the candelabra held sunbursts of the glass and Majestic daisies.

FOR HER marriage the bride chose a formal gown of delustered satin. The fitted bodice was designed with a banded portrait neckline and three-quarter sleeves. Motifs of lace embroidered with seed pearls were scattered over the front of the gown and a cluster of cabbage roses swept the back into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of imported silk illusion fell from a lace crown etched with seed pearls and she carried a cascade of phalaenopsis and stephanotis tied with a shower of satin ribbons with love knots.

Mr. Howell gave his daughter in marriage.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. J. Stewart of Dallas. Bridesmatron was Mrs. C. Alexander of Bartlesville Okla. and unior bridesmaid was Phyllis Joyce Stewart, also of Dallas. All the attendants wore formal aqua A-line gowns overlaid with matching lace. They carried cascades of yellow carnations with yellow picot satin ribbon showers.

Attending the groom was Terry LaBlanc as best man while Ralph Everett and Dan Bridges were ushers. All were from Midland.

Sharon Shepardson Weds Robert Anderson Aug. 14

The Aug. 14 wedding of Miss Sharon L. Shepardson of Mount Prospect and Robert E. Anderson of Prospect Heights, united two area families, the Leonard Shepardsons of 512 S. Edward St. and Mrs. Lorene Anderson and children of 1016 N. Elmhurst Road.

Father Donald Fenske performed the noon double ring rites in St. Raymond Church, Mount Prospect. Later in the day a buffet dinner was served to 135 guests in Des Plaines VFW Hall.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white silk organza and lace dress, edged with three tiers of lace at the hemline. A fingertip veil, held by a crown of organza set with pearls, cascaded over the bouffant skirt, and the bride carried a bouquet of white roses.

HER ATTENDANTS were all gowned alike in avocado green floor-length dresses of chiffon and carried light coral glamellia corsages.

The bride's cousin, Jo-Anne Fish of Chicago, was her maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Carol Shepardson; the groom's sister, Joan Anderson, and a cousin, Sue Swager of Cary.

SERVING AS best man was the bride's brother, Jerry Shepardson, and seating the guests were Bruce Anderson, brother of the groom; Tom Lyons of Wheeling and Dave Price of Arlington Heights.

The bridal pair are both graduates of Prospect High School. Following their 2-week honeymoon at Lake-in-the-Hills, Algonquin, they are residing at 920 Shady Way, Arlington Heights.

The bride works for Electric Storage Battery Co. in Elk Grove Village and the groom for Forrest Press in Barrington.

"A TISKET A TASKET, a bottle of wine in my basket" may well be the song of the day Tuesday, Sept. 14 when the Women's Auxiliary of Northwest Community Hospital holds its seventh annual luncheon and fashion show benefit. Mrs. A. J. Daley of Mount Prospect, chairman of the affair, admires some of the R. C. Kloempken and Mrs. E. J. Jacobs, basket and wine centerpieces made by Mrs. both of Arlington Heights.

Serves Easy

Enjoy every moment of golden fall sunshine by serving soup 'n' sandwich lunches and suppers in the back yard or on the patio.

The combination saves time, energy and worry — and still guarantees good nutrition. Here's one idea to spur your thinking: in a bacon-lettuce-tomato sandwich, add hard cooked egg slices for extra flavor and color.

Masonic Wives Hold Fish Fry

September 17 is the date the officers' wives of the Masonic Blue Lodge of Palatine have set for their fish fry to be held at the Palatine Masonic Temple, 1 N. Plum Grove Road, from 5-8 p.m.

There will also be a bake sale and the public is invited.

Week's Best Food Buys

Beef promotions predominate as local consumer advantage. Prices are generally within recent feature level (round steak low at 79 cents; sirloin 89 cents; porterhouse 98 cents to $1.09; chuck steaks 59 cents). The level is maintained despite wholesale cost recovery from a week ago.

Poultry meats are secondary value at promotion level (fryers 29 cents whole; 31 cents cut-up; turkey low at 39 cents).

Lamb costs continue to slide. Midwest produce is not as plentiful as anticipated. Pear crop is short.

Better buys are dealer-selected from supply expectations on September's calendar of produce values.

BEST BUYS are:

Fruit: apples, coconuts, figs, grapes, limes, peaches, pears, plums and pomegranates.

Melons: cantaloupe, casabas, crenshaws, Persians.

Week's Best Food Buys

Shoppers can anticipate further advances in retail food costs. More population; higher family incomes; advancing processing and distribution costs are basic reasons. Meat supplies are under year-ago levels — a farm level case in point.

Current commodity costs advance again for eggs, butter, veal, beef and some produce items. Fractional cuts in fryer costs; pork down, too, potatoes cheaper.

Survey findings indicate relative advantages based mostly on retail features are more common on the list below.

CHICAGO-AREA food values: Produce: grapes, apples, prunes, plums; potatoes, onions, carrots, tomatoes, lettuce, cabbage.

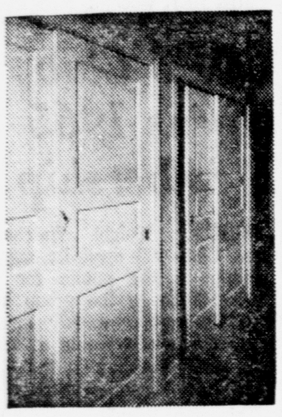
Sliding Doors Are Ideal Space Savers



Space savers are welcome in large homes as well as in small apartments. For this reason, sliding doors are preferred wherever space restrictions make the use of conventional doors impractical.

Since sliding doors require no clearance for opening, they do not intrude on usable floor space. They allow greater freedom in furniture arrangement and maintain an illusion of space even in small areas.

WOOD PANEL doors used as sliders are a natural for hall closets, where the width of the hall does not permit a regular door.

Team Chops With Orange

Braised pork chops take on new dimension when they're served with rice to which some grated orange rind has been added.

If you want to dress up the rice even more, some raisins, sugar and cinnamon may also be added to it.

Ice Cream Fete

Hoffman Estates VFW Auxiliary 8080 is sponsoring an ice cream and cake social on the village grounds Sept. 11 from 1 to 7 p.m.

Chairman of the benefit party is Mrs. William Morrissey, who invites all members and friends to stop for a "snack and chat."

Old Town Art Fair Comes to Elk Grove

Adults and children alike enjoy the fun and excitement of a fair and in Elk Grove Village on Sept. 12 the second annual Old Town Art Fair is being sponsored by Elk Grove Chapter of the Northwest Cooperative Mental Health Association.

The Fair will run from 1-10 p.m. at Park and Shop alley, proceeds going to the building fund for a clinic they hope to build soon.

The Elk Grove Junior Women announce that Miss Karen Kozak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Kozak of Elk Grove Village, recent winner of their art scholarship and selected as the outstanding student at the Illinois Federation Art School, will show one of her winning paintings, along with several of her others in the art exhibit at the Fair.

THE WOMAN'S club will also participate in a game called "Poolball" for children of all ages and will sell cookbooks, "Out of Elk Grove Kitchens."

"This promises to be a family type affair with various contests, games and activities all day long for everyone from age 1 up to the grandparents," says Mrs. Roger Kantola, chairman of games.

Taffy apples and popcorn will be sold. (S

Tetanus, Killer

Tetanus, also known as "lockjaw," is a killing disease caused by a germ that lurks in dirt. An innocent - looking garden tool, a piece of broken glass, a nail (which doesn't have to be rusty)—any of these can harbor the germ. It can penetrate a tiny skin puncture to do its deadly mischief.

Unless you're inoculated against the disease, tetanus can strike. Its victims have only a 60-40 chance of survival. (S

Watch Washload

Pounds are no gauge of a washer's capacity. The size of a wash load should be determined by the volume of the washer's inner tub.

To load properly, fill the tub loosely so the garments can circulate freely in the wash water. (S

Shower Tip

If that shower in your bath jolts you with a stream instead of a spray, your showerhead may be clogged with mineral deposits.

To regain the gentle spray, remove the showerhead face, clean the holes with needle or wire and scrub the back surface. If the water still doesn't spray correctly, it's time to get a new showerhead. (S

Former Arlington Man Marries Nebraska Girl

Friends from Arlington Heights and Long Grove traveled to Lincoln, Neb. for the Aug. 14 wedding of Robert Weir Schultz, son of former Arlington Heights residents, Dr. and Mrs. Schultz, who now make their home in the Nebraska city. In a 1:30 p.m. ceremony in Trinity Methodist Church, Robert took as his bride, Miss Judith Lee Hensley, daughter of the Alvin S. Hensleys of Lincoln.

Both young people are studying at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln. The bride is a senior and the groom, a graduate of the University, is now attending the University's College of Dentistry.

MRS. ROVERT SCHULTZ

Serving in the bridal party were the groom's brother and sister: Peter Schultz served as best man and Miss Barbara Schultz was one of the bridesmaids.

FOR HER wedding Miss Hensley chose a traditional gown of white peau de soie fashioned with cameo neckline edged in wide Alencon lace applique. The elbow sleeves and empire bodice line repeated the lace treatment, and the floor-length skirt was a defined sheath silhoutte finished at the back with a square cut cotillion train. A Dior bow trimmed in pearls held her circular shoulder-length veil, and she carried a cascade of gardenias.

The bride's sister, Miss Patricia Hensley, was maid of honor. In addition to Miss Schultz, other bridesmaids were Miss Lana Eikleberry of Lincoln and Miss Patricia McClymont of Holdrege, Neb. Their pink parfait gowns were of silk chiffon over taffeta, fashioned with floor-length sheath skirts. Picture hats of frock-toned hairbraid and cascades of red Happiness roses completed their ensembles.

Flower girls were Jan Markus of Yukon, Okla. and Jill Schrier of Lincoln.

Ushers for the groom were Gary Amerman, Harry Andrews, Robert C. Dobson, Joe Herrod and Dr. Jon Taylor, all of Lincoln.

The bride is a member of Delta Gamma sorority. Her other affiliations are Alpha Lambda Delta and Pi Lambda Theta. The groom is affiliated with Sigma Nu Fraternity and Xi Psi Phi. (S

Blue, Purple Color Scheme For Joyce-Chavoen Wedding

To carry out a color theme of blues and purples in the wedding of Maureen Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Joyce, 942 N. Walnut Ave., Arlington Heights, and James Chavoen of Chicago, baskets of blue delphiniums, purple asters and glads banked the altar of St. James Church, Arlington Heights, and the pews were marked with purple asters, foliage and blue velvet ribbons.

Similar flowers made up the bouquets of the attendants who were gowned in empire style floor-length dresses designed and made by the bride. The white organdy gowns, straight in front and gathered into trains in the back, were topped with pale blue cluny lace jackets fashioned with three-quarter-length sleeves and off-the-shoulder necklines. The maid of honor was Jennifer Joyce, the bride's sister, and bridesmaids, similarly attired, were Kathleen Joyce, another sister of he bride, and Mrs. John Burns of Racine, Wis., and Miss Mary Ann Monkkonen of Lincoln, Neb., both college roommates of the bride. Three-year-old Mary Lu Redmond of Rolling Meadows, the groom's niece, was flower girl.

REV. ROBERT Hinterberger officiated at the 12 noon double ring nuptial mass July 31. Miss Joyce was given in marriage by her father, who was also the soloist.

A family heirloom handkerchief first carried by a bride in 1865 was part of the bride's ensemble. Her empire style gown with detachable train was fashioned with a skirt of appliqued English net over taffeta, a bodice and train of taffeta, and fingertip sleeves of appliqued English net. The mantilla, hand made in Ireland, was appliqued with Irish wedding symbols and was held in place by a pin belonging to the bride's great-grandmother. Completing the ensemble was a cascade bouquet of japhette orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward W. Chavoen of Chicago, was attended by Richard Hilkin of Middleton, Wis., as best man; and his brother-in-law, Donald Redmond of Rolling Meadows, John Bass of Gadsden, Alabama, a college roommate, and Jon Ozog of Chicago as ushers. Timothy Corcoran of Earlville, 3-year-old cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

A PINK SILK dress with pink lace bodice and a corsage of pink Hawaiian plumeria was chosen by the mother of the bride. Mrs. Chavoen wore a blue silk dress with lace bodice, accented by a corsage of white phalaenopsis.

Decorations at the Old Orchard Country Club, where 250 guests attended the buffet luncheon immediately following the ceremony, followed the blue-purple theme in the floral arrangements. After the couple's week-long honeymoon in New York, they are living with the groom's parents until the groom goes on active duty as a lieutenant in the Air Force.

A graduate of St. Patrick Academy in Des Plaines and Clarke College, Mrs. Chavoen is employed by Jon R. Burton and Associates, an advertising agency in Bensenville. Mr. Chavoen graduated from Notre Dame High School and Tulane University, and is now a mechanical engineer with the Celotex Corporation in Des Plaines. (S

Large baskets of chrysanthemums banked the altar of St. Raymond Church, Mount Prospect, for the wedding of Marlee Ann Benda and Philip R. Bertsch. The nuptial vows were exchanged at 1 o'clock, Aug. 7, when Father Fenski officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore R. Benda, 405 We-Go Trail, Mount Prospect, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Bertsch, 700 Bristol Lane, Arlington Heights.

Preceding the bride and her father down the aisle were Betsy Vanveen as maid of honor, and Mrs. Lori Howell and Miss Bonita Benda as bridesmaids. All were gowned in floor-length turquoise silk. The gowns were accented with large bows caught at the low neckline which formed a drape ending at the hem of the skirt. Accessories in matching colors completed their ensembles, and each carried large flower balls of white plumeria and white carnations. Their matching halo headpieces of turquoise net were held by velvet bows.

THE BRIDE chose a gown of silk organza with appliques of French alencon lace. The flowing train was caught at the waistline and a seed pearl crown held her bouffant shoulder-length 3-tier veil of bridal illusion. She carried an arrangement of white plumeria centered with a white orchid. The bride's gift from the groom was a diamond and pearl necklace.

Best man was Daniel Scheuren of Washington, D. C., and ushers were Daniel Toy of New Jersey, now of Flossmoor and William Sunstrom of Arlington Heights.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Benda chose a pink crepe dress trimmed with pink seed beads. Her accessories were pink and her corsage was of pink cymbidiums.

Mrs. Bertsch's gown was of light blue crepe, trimmed with crystal teardrops and silver seed beads. Her accessories were light blue, and her corsage was of white cymbidiums.

The reception, a sit-down buffet for 150 guests was held at the Carousel Club immediately after the ceremony. Among the guests were the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Robert S. Bertsch from Sidney, ohio, and the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. F. Kaspank of St. Petersburg and Mrs. T. Benda.

THE NEWLYWEDS honeymooned in Florida and Nassau, and are now residing at the 405 We-Go Trail home of the bride's parents, who are retiring and moving to Florida.

Women interested in the group may contact Mrs. Kaplan at LE 7-5477. (S

Lloyd Roberts Jr., Bride Wed in Lake Forest Church

The Church of the Holy Spirit in Lake Forest was the scene Aug. 21 of a 2:30 o'clock wedding ceremony in which Lloyd George Roberts Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd George Roberts, 490 Ayrshire Lane, Inverness, claimed as his bride, Miss Bonnie Jarrell, daughter of the Lloyd A. Jarrells of Plymouth, Ind. Officiating were Rev. William K. Gros of Lake Forest and Rev. Sheldon B. Foote of Palatine.

The newlyweds, both graduates of Lake Forest College, are now residing in Crystal, Minn. where the groom is currently pursuing his master's in forestry at the University of Minnesota.

For the single ring service, the pews were tied with clusters of white and yellow daisies and white satin bows. Altar urns were filled with arrangements of white and yellow daisies, mums and glads.

THE BRIDE chose a gown of light ivory silk linen trimmed with Venice lace. The gown featured a scooped neckline, short sleeves and a bell skirt with detachable train also trimmed in Venice lace. She wore a matching ivory Venice lace mantilla and robin's egg blue satin shoes. A bouquet of white butterfly orchids completed her ensemble. Mr. Jarrell gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride was attended by her two sisters, Miss Willoughby Jarrell of Brevard, N. C. as maid of honor, and Miss Julie Jarrell of Plymouth as bridesmaid. The maids' floor-length gowns were of lemon yellow linen fashioned with empire bodices accented with moss green velvet ribbons. An "A" line skirt was featured with a detachable train. Their bow headpieces of matching linen held bouffant veils, and both carried nosegays of white and yellow daisies.

Peter John of Wynnewood, Pa. was best man to the groom, and groomsman was Charles R. Patten Jr. of Palatine. Ushers were John H. Hicks of Palatine and John Oltyan of Chicago.

FOLLOWING the service, 100 guests attended the reception at the Deerpath Inn in Lake Forest. This was followed by a buffet dinner given by the groom's parents in their Inverness home for the bridal party, relatives and out-of-town guests.

Mrs. Jarrell received in a gown of muted aqua silk chiffon with matching chiffon stole. She wore matching accessories and a corsage of white plumaria orchids. Mrs. Roberts chose a shell pink chiffon with matching accessories and a corsage of cymbidiums.

The newlyweds honeymooned in Door County before taking up residence at 5950 W. Broadway in Crystal, Minn.

The bride, who studied at the University of Valencia, Spain, before attending Lake Forest, taught fifth grade in Libertyville last year. Mr. Roberts previously studied at Dartmouth University and received his B.A. degree in history from Lake Forest. The new Mrs. Roberts is affiliated with Chi Omega Sorority and Mr. Roberts with Di Gamma Upsilon Fraternity. (S

Barbara Dean Wears Sister's Gown as 'Something Borrowed'

The traditional "something borrowed" was her sister's wedding dress for Miss Barbara Dean, daughter of the Harold R. Deans, 357 S. Belmont, Arlington Heights, who became the bride of E. Kenneth Friker, son of the Eugene A. Frikers, 214 S. Edward, Mount Prospect, on Aug. 14.

The couple, who met while attending Arlington High School and are both graduates of Northern University, were married by Dr. Amos Thornberg in a four o'clock ceremony that took place in First Methodist Church, Arlington Heights.

Miss Dean's gown, which belonged to her sister, Mrs. James Osborne of Rockford, a bride of just one year, was of off-white satin fashioned with lace around the waist and at the bottom of the full-length skirt. The dress featured elbow-length veil and she carried a cascade of white roses and lily of the valley.

Mr. Dean gave his daughter in marriage during the double ring service.

MRS. OSBORNE served as matron of honor and bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Catherine Dean, and Miss Judy Kosnak of Western Springs. Their gowns, all identical, were of pale green brocade. They wore forest green accessories and carried white daisies with forest green ribbon streamers.

The bride's mother chose a light blue tiered lace dress with matching accessories and corsage of white roses. Mrs. Friker chose a pale pink crepe dress with beaded bodice. Her accessories were of matching pink and she also had a corsage of white roses.

The groom was attended by friends from his high school days, all former residents of Arlington Heights.

Walter Friker served as his brother's best man and groomsmen were the bride's brother, Wayne Knight, and Miss Kosmak's fiance, Fred Kolstad of Granada Hills, Calif. Ushers were Charles A. Kransberger of Joliet and Jerry Cieciwa of Arlington Heights.

One hundred ten guests attended the buffet reception held in the church, after which Mr. Friker took his bride on an 8-day honeymoon to Nassau and the Bahamas. Since Sept. 1, the couple has been residing at 1519 Meyer St. in Elgin, where the bride is teaching English in Elgin public schools. The groom is in his last year at Kent College of Law in Chicago. Betty Jane Schuette Is Chicagoan's Bride

Arlington Heights will still be home to a recent bride, Betty Jane Schuette, who became Mrs. Douglas Bond Rutherford on July 31 and after a week's honeymoon in Wisconsin returned here to live.

The bride is the daughter of the Clarence Schuettes of 1019 N. Fernandez, and the groom's parents are the Jerry Rutherfords of Chicago.

ST. JOHN'S United Church of Christ was chosen for the 4:30 p.m. ceremony, and later a reception for 200 guests was held in Palatine Fireman's Hall.

The bride had her sister, Mrs. Lee Damler of Rolling Meadows, as her matron of honor, and the groom chose his brother, Jerry Rutherford, as best man.

Also in the wedding party were Judith Klekovic of Lake Zurich and Patricia Huber, a cousin of the bride, as bridesmaids. Ushers were Robert Marzec and Duane Novak, both Chicagoans.

THE GIRLS were all gowned alike in floor-length dresses, styled with Kelly green chiffon bodices and mint green crepe skirts. They wore matching headpieces in Kelly green, formed in a large rose with a bow and veil.

They carried cascades of white glamellias with streamers of the flowers tipped in light green.

AS THE BRIDE approached the altar on the arm of her father, she wore a chantilly lace and silk organza dress, the skirt 3-tiered to the floor. The sculptured neckline was edged with sequins, and the gown had long sleeves.

The bride's shoulder-length veil was attached to a 2-tiered crown of alencon lace set with pearls and sequins.

She carried two large white orchids with lilies of the valley and greens. At her neckline was a single strand of pearls.

Rev. Robert McDonald united the couple in double ring rites. As she witnessed her daughter's marriage, Mrs. Schuette wore a rose pink linen sheath dress with a matching flowered hat, white shoes and purse and had a pink-tipped glamellia corsage.

MRS. RUTHERFORD wore a light blue flowered dress with matching accessories and had a blue-tipped glamellia corsage.

The bride is an Arlington High School graduate and is presently working at Forest View High School as a stenographer. The groom attended Loyola University and is employed by the Chicago Bar Association.

Fight Insomnia

Millions of Americans spend millions of dollars on pills and gadgets to help them fight insomnia. Yet, medical authorities say, when you can't sleep and the night seems endless, the best thing for you is a warm, relaxing bath.

If you can't bathe as comfortable as you should because your tub is too short or too shallow, get a 16-inch, 5½-foot tub. You'll be surprised at the difference it'll make in your ability to relax. (S

Open Second Area of Indian Lakes Estates

The Branigar Organization has just opened its second subdivision at Indian Lakes Estates. This project is expected to eventually include over $3 million worth of improvements and construction.

The community of Indian Lakes Estates was recently annexed by the west suburban village of Bloomingdale. Located 40 minutes from the loop via the Eisenhower Expressway, Indian Lakes Estates eventually will include over 350 home sites surrounding the two 18-hole golf courses and clubhouse of Indian Lakes Country Club.

According to Harvey Branigar Jr., president of the 47-year old land development firm, "For anyone looking for a wonderful suburban home site, Indian Lakes is ideal — ideal in its location, its planning, its facilities, prestige and natural beauty.

"We find that people today want something different — they want to get out of crowded city or suburban areas. Here at Indian Lakes they find privacy, beauty and the spaciousness not only of the sites themselves — but also of the open vistas stretching away from them across the rolling, park-like golf courses."

MAYNARD O. HEDSTROM

All of the sites are about a half-acre in size, and all have sweeping views of the golf courses, their lakes and the rolling countryside.

Branigar emphasized that the company specializes in land development and does not build homes.

HE SAID, "We have no preference regarding design. In fact, we feel variety, well-planned, makes for a better, more interesting community. Lot purchasers are free to choose their own architects and builders, a distinct advantage to the buyer wanting originality, individuality and the things he and his own family want in their home — planned just the way they want them."

Maynard O. Hedstrom is vice president in charge of real estate development and is the one directing the growth of Indian Lakes Estates. (5BB

Time to Renew Oil Burner Agreement

The Oil Heat Council of Greater Chicago reports that now is the right time for the homeowner to make certain his oil burner service agreement is renewed for the next period.

Most such agreements include among their many provisions the careful summertime checkup and lubrication of the heating plant.

The oil burner service agreement protects the householder against unexpected maintenance and repair bills. When an oil heating plant is covered by a service agreement, one simply phones his dealer, and the service is performed promptly —at no additional charge.

FOR ONE FIXED amount per year, the dealer agrees to keep the oil burner in top condition. This means the burner is maintained at maximum efficiency, assuring comfort and lowest possible fuel consumption.

In many cases, oil burner service agreements cover not only preventive maintenance and labor, but all parts as well, thus providing a permanent protection against depreciation. (15BB

HINTS TO HOMEOWNERS

by Richard H. DeLano, Associate Farm Advisor

ALERT HOMEOWNERS DIAL DAILY 392-3060

You've probably noticed that in certain areas grass grows with difficulty or does not look well. Examples of such areas are those in shade or near the edges of a shrub border. (In still other locations the turf may be on steep banks or small areas that are difficult to mow.)

Under such conditions, it may be well to consider a low growing ground cover. The big three of the ground cover plants are pachysandra, myrtle and English ivy. Although English ivy is not reliably hardy in all parts of the Chicago area, the Baltic variety will survive with some protection.

Among the most adaptable of ground covers is myrtle. It's also called periwinkle and Vinca minor. Myrtle is so adaptable that it will grow n sun or shade. It is equally at home in poor or rich soil. Other good features that place this plant among the top three ground covers are its freedom from disease, its evergreen, and its attractive flower.

THE FLOWERS which appear in late April may be white, purple or blue depending on the variety. The usual color is blue and the best blue variety is Bowles. It produces an unusually large number of flowers and limited numbers are produced in the fall in addition to the heavy spring bloom.

Still another popular ground cover that's suited to shady areas is pachysandra which is also called Japanese spurge. This plant reproduces by underground stolons so rapidly that it quickly produces a compact mass. The light yellow-green color is well suited to use in the foreground at the base of larger shrubs. As a brief accent, white floral spikes appear in early May.

One of the most attractive uses of this ground cover we have observed was in a border bed. Planted in the bed were clumps of white and yellow daffodils. The pachysandra provided a background for the flowers in spring and hid the drying foliage in early summer.

ALTHOUGH pachysanda, myrtle, and English ivy are the big three among ground covers, they by no means exhaust the list. Three other ground covers could include canby pachistima, rockspray cotoneaster and creeping juniper.

The least known of these seems to be the canby pachistima. However, its suitability to the area can be confirmed from the fact that it is growing and being produced in several nurseries in the northern part of Cook County. It's also native to the woodlands of West Virginia and Southern Ohio. While it produces a dense growth in sun, it also grows well in shade or part shade.

For a delicate lacy ground cover, the rock spray cotoneaster can be used. This shrub under ideal conditions can reach as high as three feet. Usually, however, the flat horizontal branches cling to the ground. It has two seasons of interest. During late spring, it bears a fringe of small light pink flowers which in early fall produce brilliant red berries. The berries are somewhat larger and rounder than the red berried barberries.

HERE AGAIN is an interesting situation about names. Some people call this group, of which rockspray is but one, cotton-easters. Still others say catone ee aster. Both are correct, but I use the latter pronunciation.

Perhaps the cadillac of all ground covers is creeping juniper. It's of unquestioned hardiness as far north as Nova Scotia. One variety, the Waukegan Juniper, was developed in this area. Although the plant may not be over five to six inches high, it may spread to cover an area up to 12 feet in diameter.

Several varieties with different color phases are available. Plumosa creeping juniper is a light green in summer and turns purple to lavender in the fall. Procumbens has a foliage that's bluish green. Blue rug, a new variety, is a silver blue that matches the best blue spruces. When you are at the nursery, look for the color that best matches the rest of your landscape. (15BB

IT'S AN IDEA — HOME DECORATIONS

A streamlined antiquing process for furniture and woodwork, involving just two steps instead of the usual three or more, is now available in kits on sale generally at paint, hardware, discount and department stores and garden centers. Known as "Fine Antiquing", the kits are available in an assortment of eight colors. Even amateurs can achieve professional antique effects by applying the base coat right over the old finish, letting it dry 24 hours, then painting on the glaze coat and wiping it off while it is still tacky.

The Way We See It

What's Behind Hospital Costs?

Enactment of medicare has focused attention once again on hospital services and specifically on the growing cost of those services.

Good hospitals are a vital part of every community. They must depend on public understanding and support to fulfill their tasks. It is important, therefore, that the public understand the factors involved in hospital costs and the efforts made to control them.

One basic factor is that hospital wages are rising. For many years, hospital wage rates were sub-standard. Pay raises have been long overdue.

Another factor is the galaxy of new machines, techniques and drugs introduced. They are costly to develop and costly to buy.

These advances in medical technology require hospitals to hire more persons. In turn, these persons must be better trained and better paid.

On other other side of the ledger, hospitals are attacking rising costs on several fronts.

Once upon a time, trained hospital administrators were somewhat rare. Today many universities offer instruction, and hospital administration has become a highly trained, specialized field. This is an important factor in economical operation.

Tremendous advances have been made in hospital design and the introduction of labor-saving devices.

Patients can communicate with nurses by intercom, saving the nurses many a long walk down hospital corridors. Beds can be raised or lowered electrically by the patient himself. Automation has been introduced into movement of supplies and in the hospital kitchen. The newest business machines are being used for record keeping.

In brief, the sort of labor-saving devices so effective in cutting costs for private business are being used to do the same for hospitals.

Designing hospitals to make the maximum use of specialized equipment and personnel is another factor. This is the aim of providing different "levels" of care. An intensive care section, with life-saving equipment and the best-trained nurses, cares for the critically ill. General hospital care may be provided at a second level.

A third level of care can be given patients who are able to do many things for themselves, such as those nearing the end of a recovery. Finally there is a fourth level for the patient who is completely able, such as the person at the hospital for diagnosis or a checkup.

Any evaluation of hospital costs must take into account what is achieved for the patient.

Hospitals have reduced length of stays and the consequent losses of income. New diagnostic tools help prevent illness and disease. Hospitals have reduced suffering. They have reduced death. All these things add up to a tremendous saving of "costs."

Knowledge of these factors should encourage the public to give our area hospitals needed support in carrying on their work against illness and disease.

Rumsfeld Gets An Important Job

Cong. Donald Rumsfeld has been given a job of considerable responsibility by the Republican Party.

He has been named co-chairman of a Republican "task force" on Latin America. The task force will try to develop meaningful Republican policies on Latin America.

Although much neglected in the past by history books and the public, Latin America is foremost in importance for America foreign relations. The simple fact of geography dictates this. These countries are our neighbors.

An awakening is taking place in Latin America, just as in all underdeveloped countries of the world. In the light of man's many achievements in the 20th Century, people everywhere are unwilling to see their children grow up in poverty and ignorance. This is as it should be.

However, American policy generally has not been effective in helping the people of Latin America move toward freedom, equality and prosperity.

The Alliance for Progress is falling far short of its goal of helping bridge the gaps between abysmal poverty and great wealth. We see communism in Cuba, chaos in the Dominican Republic, frequent dictatorial coups, and the possibility of similar turmoil almost everywhere.

Cong. Rumsfeld has shown ability for combining facts with logic in reaching positions on public questions. We are confident this talent will produce something worthwhile on the difficult subject of our relations with Latin America.

We're Proud Of Our Team

The entire suburban area is proud of the American Legion baseball team representing Arlington Heights, which finally bowed out Saturday night in the national championship tournament in Aberdeen, S.D.

The enormous interest in the fortunes of these boys is proved by the many thousands of phone calls made to Paddock Publications to find out scores during the team's march to the state title, then the regional crown, and finally during the quest for the national championship.

One characteristic of the team throughout its glorious season was a "never-say-die" spirit. Time after time, when trailing by several runs and seemingly beaten, the boys rallied to turn defeat into victory.

Another characteristic was the exceptional balance of the team. Not depending on any one outstanding individual, the team got star efforts first from one player, then another. Every boy in the lineup played the hero's role at some point along the line.

The team's success should do much to build confidence of other area athletic teams in their abilities.

To the Legion post, coach Lloyd Meyer and the team: Congratulations on a job well done! You were worthy representatives of the northwest suburban area, the state of Illinois, and the midwest region.

And to those persons with phone numbers similar to the Paddock sports bulletin number, those persons awakened by mis-dials all hours of the night—we thank you for your patience and understanding.

Critic's Corner

Tired Government

by KATHY GOSNELL
Staff Writer

A newcomer to the northwest suburban area, if he has his eyes open, is likely to see a wide divergence in the quality of village government.

There are of course, several excuses—pardon me—reasons for this variance.

Population's effects are two-fold. More people mean more money. More people mean a larger selection when village officials are chosen.

But the price of quality in government is more than just a lot of numbers after the dollar sign and a lot of numbers on census reports.

ATTITUDE and a little common sense make up the difference.

First take attitude. In most villages the officials work part-time. Most of them spend at least 40 hours a week behind a desk in Chicago. This jobs comes first, as it probably should.

But a hard day's work at the office is not conducive to peak proficiency at a board meeting late at night; someone loses out along the way. Usually the community.

It's asking too much, of course, to suggest full-time elected officials.

But some villages have found at least the second best — a full-time village manager.

Arlington Heights, the most dynamic and fastest growing suburb in the area, has such a setup. Daily details of running the village are handled as they occur, instead of being put off until a quorum of tired men is ready to discuss them.

Arlington is also the largest of the surrounding communities. It has more money with which to pay a full-time manager. Maybe that has something to do with it. Maybe.

But Addison, population about 16,000, has a similar form of government with a full-time village administrator.

THE VILLAGE manager type of government, beneficial as it is, does not enjoy the popularity it should in this area. Perhaps for the same reason that parents will allow their children to attend crowded half-day classrooms rather than part with a few additional dollars a year.

Probably it's just a case of attitude and a lack of a little bit of common sense.

Several villages in the area have considered the village manager type of government. Wheeling got as far as an unsuccessful referendum. In Rolling Meadows plans for a manager never quite made it to the drawing board.

But back to the after-five politicians and another demonstrated lack of common sense.

Since many area communities schedule meetings of the village board, or city council as the case may be, only twice each month, these meetings naturally last far into the night. Not even the best of us can perform well behind a desk at 9 a.m. and just as well the following midnight at a board meeting.

Some villages have exhibited common sense along this line, though, by holding board meetings every week. Some have established, by ordinance, a cut-off time.

These are two steps in the right direction. Common sense and attitude are both usually better before midnight.

But to a newcomer, possibly a pessimistic one, suburban government appears to be government of the tired people, for the tired people, by the tired people.

Speak Up!

Hitchhiking Blues

by JOAN LORENSON
Staff Writer

The admonitions of "don't pick up hitchhikers" seem to have made an impression on northwest suburbanites.

Only a small minority —usually just out of their teens themselves — fail to heed the periodic warnings of law enforcement agencies that believe picking up hitchhikers is a dangerous practice.

LORENSON

Many who "speak up" admit they were hitchhikers in their youth. However, they believe changing times have changed their attitude to a hitchhiker. Parents were unanimous in agreeing they warn their children not to hitchhike.

Roger Saley, 27 N. Wilshire Lane, Arlington Heights, reflected a common viewpoint as he pointed out "you can't possibly know who you're picking up, regardless."

Ed Geiger, 1031 N. Stratford Lane, Arlington Heights, believes a driver cannot judge safety of a hitchhiker even on age or sex. He points out anyone can be mentally deranged or carry a gun or knife.

MRS. JAMES Amundsen, 3000 Owl Lane, Rolling Meadows, said her husband, the owner and operator of a diesel trailer truck, continually receives truckers' bulletins warning against picking up hitchhikers.

The drivers always face the danger of attempts to hijack their vehicles.

Women are particularly vehement in stating they have not and would not consider picking up a hitchhiker even if he were teenaged. Mrs. Amundsen said she might pick up a young child bound for school but she would not consider him a hitchhiker.

Saley said he might pick up a child under 14 years of age but he probably would have to see the child was in some sort of predicament. "I really don't think children including teenagers need to hitchhike," he said.

Suburban children have bicycles, teenagers have access to cars and now Honda motorcycles, so they have ready transportation, several men suggested.

William Nolting, 533 W. Glencoe, Palatine, admits he has picked up hitchhikers "quite a few times." He then added they seldom were adults. He also advises his children not to hitchhike.

Once a hitchhiker when he was in the military service, Geiger believes the risk in hitchhiking is two-way. "You never know who you will get in with," he commented. Another man recalled he was set to hitchhike as a college student until he heard some friends' tales about drivers.

Mrs. Robert Fontaine, 902 I-Oka Lane, Mount Prospect, and J. J. Koath, 231 Streamwood Blvd., Streamwood, were categorical in their statements they would not pick up hitchhikers. They believe the risk is too great. "I would not take the risk regardless of age," Mrs. Fontaine said.

Mrs. Fontaine said she had never had friends pick up hitchhikers and find it an unfortunate experience. "But I believe what I read in the newspapers," she said. A Wheeling man attributed his attitude opposing hitchhiking as based on "publicity."

A YOUNG Palatine man believes he might pick up a hitchhiker without hazard to himself. He judges the way the hitchhiker looks. He traveled cross country hitchhiking and is inclined to think he should return rides for those he enjoyed.

A Mount Prospect young man admitted he sometimes picked up a hitchhiker for a long trip when he wanted company and possibly interesting conversation. He carries a heavy weapon under his seat and said he scrutinizes his passenger carefully.

Perhaps it is the suburbanites' caution that makes them heed police warnings. One cross-country hitchhiker found he was most successful in getting rides from bartenders, gamblers, and an occasional outgoing salesman.

At Commuters Olympics

Gold and Glory Ahead

By BOB CUMMINS
Staff Writer

Commuters are exhorted frequently on fitness and the importance of getting more exercise. I remember a year or so ago measured miles were marked on the sidewalks of one town. Commuters were encouraged to walk one of these miles before or after riding the train or maybe both.

I think commuters are not given enough incentive to exercise. To fill the gap, I am considering launching a Commuters Olympics which would encourage commuters to develop their skills. Gold, silver and bronze medals would be awarded in each category. Perhaps I will be able to persuade Ben Heineman or William Quinn or some other railroad mogul to award the medals.

CUMMINS

The first event I am considering is the Two - Block Dash. It will work like this. The various competing commuters will station themselves two blocks from the depot. The train will approach on its regular schedule. The commuter who waits the longest before beginning his dash for the train and still makes it will get the gold medal.

ANOTHER popular event will be called "Grab the Seat." Each competing commuter will pick a spot on the platform he thinks will be exactly opposite a door of the train when it stops, thus enabling him to be first aboard and grab a vacant seat. All those who succeed in grabbing a seat on Monday will be declared winners of the first heat, and eligible to compete in the second heat Tuesday. Tuesday's winners will compete Wednesday, and so on down to the finals. Last three eliminated will get the Olympic medals.

Another keen competition will be sort of an arrogance test. Commuters frequently put a briefcase or topcoat or umbrella on the seat beside them, so they will not have to rub shoulders with other commuters during the ride. Some commuters do this in a most arrogant way, and their manner inhibits the more timid from asking them to remove the briefcase, topcoat or umbrella.

The Arrogance Sweepstakes will determine which commuter can monopolize two seats the longest during a crowded rush-hour trip. The Olympic rules will prohibit the use of force in this event.

Just as other Olympics have their marathon events, so will the Commuters Olympics. But instead of running 26½ miles or whatever the classic marathon distance is, the commuters will compete to see who has the longest gin-rummy game going.

We'll have Winter Olympics events, too. The first event I thought of is the Warm Ears Dash. This event will be held in January and February during sub - zero weather, when the contestants are in best form. The idea is to see who can stay inside the warm station longest and still make the train.

THIS EVENT is similar to to the Two-Block Dash, yet different. Whereas victory in the Two-Block Dash will depend on raw speed, the winner of the Warm Ears Dash is apt to be a crafty sort.

So begin training, all you commuters. Gold and glory await you at the end of the Olympic trail! (FP

Two Editors Get New Assignments

Assignments have been switched for two Paddock Publications news editors.

Don Heine, formerly news editor of the Hoffman Herald, becomes news editor of the Mount Prospect Herald, while T. William Swinford, former Mount Prospect editor, moves to the Hoffman paper.

Paddock Publications changes assignments when feasible to broaden the editorial staff's knowledge of the area served by its 15 papers.

HEINE, 41, has been news editor of the Hoffman Herald since March, 1962.

Before that he worked for 2½ years in public relations with the Kemper Insurance Group in Chicago and was a feature writer on the Journal of the American Medical Association.

He has worked for newspapers in Fredericksburg, Va.; Lewiston, Ida.; Colfax, Wash., and Grand Forks, N.D.

Congreve's First Months in Office Criticized by Schlaver

In the interest of fair play and good journalism I ask that the Mount Prospect Herald through this letter extend me the privilege of defending my past administration. Such a courtesy of a rebuttal was not given when Village Pres. Congreve (in the Herald issue of Sept. 2) was quoted as blaming me for the new increased village tax rate.

If Congreve were a student of municipal government he would know that no tax rate is supposed to create a surplus, in fact that a municipality is legally supposed to follow good budgetary procedures so that at the end of a fiscal year there exists a surplus created solely through taxation.

He would also know that at the end of a fiscal year, because new taxes have not been collected, accounts payable may exceed accounts receivable. Mount Prospect was in the black when he took office and it should be able to continue that way without a tax increase.

If keeping the Mount Prospect tax rate for village purposes at a lower figure of .5280, instead of the new administration's .5556, is a sin — committed for the benefit of my tax-harassed Mount Prospect neighbors — I'll gladly plead guilty.

Just for history's sake, let us recall that in the years of the village's greatest growth, from 1961 to 1965 during my administration, the village tax rate was reduced from .5700 to .5280.

During that same period a policy was instituted of no levy for garbage collection, in reality a tax saving for each household. A full-time fire department was installed in order to keep our favorable fire insurance rate. Policemen were added.

Broken-down street and water department equipment which I had inherited was replaced. New library addition, southside fire station and public works building were voted, creating a need for additional general corporate funds to meet bonds and interest. Additional money was put into the fire and police pension funds. During that same period the village hall addition was completed.

Twice I went to bat for village employees, once as a minority trustee and once as village president, and secured much-needed pay increases. None is forthcoming this year, despite the Congreve tax boost, yet employees face increasing cost of living and higher social security deductions.

One of the tax increase reasons advanced is that of necessity for buying large trucks to provide the street department with a means of moving snow. I ask isn't it good economy to lease the services of Milburn Brothers to meet emergency heavy snowfall conditions in the municipal parking lots and business section rather than to incur the large capital expenditure for such little-used equipment? This is the procedure my administration followed and I believe it was a prudent one.

What the Congreve administration must learn the hard way is that encouragement of business and industry and prudent annexations — such as Old Orchard Country Club, United Air Lines headquarters, building of a shopping center at Golf and 83, fine residential areas such as Bluett's Fairview Gardens and Prospect Heights, development into good research-light manufacturing and annexation of the Northern Illinois Gas property — is the only way that increased assessed valuation and more sales tax revenue can counteract necessary municipal spending. Thus, taxes can be lowered.

With the base of municipal services already established as has been done in Mount Prospect the cost of extending municipal services into the areas mentioned would be less than the revenues which could thus be secured, when the capitalization over the years ahead is considered, as it has to be.

But alas, the four years ahead may see the domain which is logically Mount Prospect's swallowed up by Arlington Heights (the darling of the Congreve administration), Des Plaines and Wheeling, perhaps by Elk Grove Village, while a new administration proceeds to undo everything that was moving ahead with careful planning.

The same apathy which saw a turnout of less than 50 per cent of the eligible voters in the last municipal election is apparent today. The voices of Trustees Parker Ekren and Harry Bruhl are alone crying in the air-conditioned wilderness at the Tuesday night village board meetings.

Meanwhile, plans to get Chicago water or even sink another well, or build another reservoir, are at a standstill. A water rate increase is made without commensurate provisions to provide for a hot, dry summer which may come in the years ahead. Another year will pass without start of construction of a bridge for needed north-south crossing of Weller Creek as convenience to traffic-harassed local residents. Good municipal servants such as Manager Harold Appleby, Building Supt. Joe Pecoraro and Village Atty. Ed Hofert are forced into resignations while rumors are current that the axe will fall next on Police Chief George Whittenberg so that a pre-election promise can be fulfilled. But we do have a tax increase and a water rate boost!

Wake up, Mount Prospect!

I write this without any plans or hopes to return to village government in which I spent the 11 best years of my life. But I love this village, my adopted home, too much not to regret what is happening.

Teens Praised for Work at Summer Camp for City Kids

It is easy today, with the picture painted by magazines, flash news media, and advertisement, for the general public to conceive the American teenager as an ultra-fashion conscious, psuedo-sophisticated monster whose body, when not convulsing to the ear-splitting noise of four shaggy but shrewd business men, is aiming a high powered car at 70 miles an hour down a residential street with a cigarette hanging from his or her lip, and gripping a can of beer in one hand.

They are convinced further that these "typical teens" have only one care; will dad give them a new GTO for Christmas. It is the teenagers of this pattern that get all the publicity.

This past summer, 14 teenagers from Arlington Heights, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove, and Mount Prospect, gave their time talents, and energy, without pay, and acted as leaders in a camping program for underprivileged children from the city of Chicago.

This camp in Wheaton, is owned and operated by the Off The Street Club, which is located at 25 N. Karlov. (The same area that Chicago race riots took place.) This camping program gives underpriviledged children from the heart of the inner city a chance to leave their slummy filth-infested environment and enjoy a week of a new kind of life at camp in the open air country atmosphere.

These teenagers from our communities assisted the trained staff in teaching such activities as swimming, boating, riflery, archery, crafts, tumbling, and general child supervision. For some of the teens, it was difficult for them to accept how little background these children had, compared to the children with whom they had had contact.

Said one, "Never before have I seen a 14-year-old girl jump into water two and a half feet deep, get her face wet, become hysterical, and almost drowned."

Another remarked, "Never have I seen such kids in my life, I thought that all 12-year-old children knew the difference between a knife and fork and what you used them for.

When asked what each thought they had gained from their experiences (which in most cases was two and three weeks, Monday mornings to Friday afternoons) the replies were sensible and reflected fore-thought.

Said one girl, a senior at Arlington High School this fall, "If it did anything for me, it helped to deepen my capacity to love people, not a romantic kind of love, but a genuine deep concern for their well being."

As one boy, a junior this fall at Arlington, put it; "I think now I can see a little of how the Negro child lives in the city. I think I also now understand a little of how the Negro family works, why they are unhappy and a little more of the problems between our races."

How did some parents react to what their sons and daughters were doing? Some mothers were a little skeptical about sending their daughters to work with kids who were well versed in the latest tactics of street fighting with bottles, car aerials, and knives. One girl told me she would never forget the scars on some of these children.

As for other parents, one mother whose boy will be a sophomore at Arlington, said, "I'm not sure what my son is doing for your camp, but I do know that camp is really doing an awful lot for him. Never in his whole life has he ever been so enthusiastic about anything. He's already talking about next year."

Other parents remarked that their children were saying over and over again, how happy and fortunate they were to share in such an experience. Observing myself how these children reacted and how the campers reacted to them, I am under the impression that all those who took part in this, found it a challenge to work with these children and give them as much as they could from their backgrounds. For all of them, it was a learning experience. I think they now can see a bit more of the problem that exists between Negros and whites, and now they are better equipped to form their opinions about such issues.

The campers I know enjoyed their company. Never had these children from the city ever been exposed to teenagers of such high caliber. Never had they known older kids like these who were interested in them and their problems instead of shooing them away.

When asked if they would like to participate next suummer, all agreed, they wanted to, Two of them wanted to spend all next summer. Those that participated are: Diania King, Vicki Auer, Nancy Palmatier, David Palmatier, Frances Palmatier, Bruce Beddingfield, Scott Carncross, Steve Wakely, Jayne King, Steve LeVan, Barbara Johnson, from Arlington Heights; Christine Widinski, Denise Higgins, from Rolling Meadows; Kathy Wheeler, from Elk Grove; and Laura DeLise, from Mount rospect.

DeLise ,from Mount Prospect.

Assures Haas: 'Not Member Of Some Cult'

Dear Mr. Haas

I must agree with you on one point you made in your letter to the fence post the other day. I would much rather watch television or indulge in a hobby or gossip with the neighbors or even catch up with some important business assignment, but I can't.

I can't because you and people like you have been popping up with alarming frequency lately. Unfortunately most of your friends don't care to identify themselves for what they are or what they stand for until after they have succeeded in obtaining an official position in our community. There can only be two reasons for this: either they are afraid they won't be elected if they do make their positions clear before elections, or perhaps they aren't very proud of what they stand for and in their confused state of mind hope people will never find out and just keep on watching their television sets.

I came to Arlington Heights in 1961. I chose Arlington Heights and this general community because of what it was. I was a pleasant and practical mixture of new and old, youth and maturity, freshness and graciousness. I would like to help keep this community in proper balance. Some people call this conservative, others call it middle of the road, and recently we find the word moderate. Then there are also those who talk as you do who are tired of the old methods, traditions and people; impatient with mature processes, practices and decisions; and abusive of graciousness. To you I'm some bad name extremist.

You want to change the methods, traditions, processes, practices and decisions of past generations because they were established by old people who lived in a very simple society and couldn't possibly understand today's problems.

You want to trample on all those who may disagree with your solutions or your decisions. You don't care who your opposition really is or what they may think or how they may feel. To you all opposition belongs to some ugly cult which practices witch craft, breathes fire, appears heinous and never got a proper education.

If I may calm your indignation at my personal opposition to the proposition at hand—Federal Youth Corps in District 214—I would enjoy spending an evening with you to discuss the matter coolly and calmly as I have tried to do in my presentations to the board.

I pledge to you that I am not a member of some mysterious cult, I have good manners, and I feel adequately educated to discuss this matter intelligently.

If you need further assurance of my gentility, I go to church regularly, have participated regularly in community affairs both civic and charitable, and I am employed by a reputable organization. In addition, I must admit I would rather watch television or gossip with my neighbors but you and people like you arouse something in me and I am stimulated to act as my conscience guides me.

Maybe we could find a way of communicating our differences if only you could restrain yourself from false labeling and name calling. You are obviously much more ambitious than I pretend to be. We need ambitious people to favor with our support and encourage their continued participation in public affairs. We would like to return to our television sets if only we could trust that you would tune us in regularly to what you and your fellow planners have in mind, dignify our presence by asking our opinion, and acknowledge that we common folk have a genuinely good and practical approach to many of today's problems.

A. J. Miller
Director

Sees Danger in Parade Blocking Village Exits

Sunday afternoon, at approximately one o'clock, I left my home with my family intending to visit someone outside of our village. As I approached Lincoln Terrace via Bernard Drive I was halted by a volunteer fireman who told me that, because of the parade, I would not be able to exit the village by way of Bernard Drive and would instead have to use St. Mary's Parkway. I proceded to St. Mary's Parkway accordingly.

At Crestview Terrace I was halted by a policeman who told me that, because of the parade, I would have to detour my vehicle into Crestview Terrace. I told the officer that I had just had the same experience at our village's only other avenue of exit and I asked him how I might leave the village. He told me that I would have to wait until the parade passed before I would be allowed to exit. I asked him how long that would be and he simply shrugged his shoulders and said that it would not be too long.

I returned to my home and phoned the police department seeking information as to how and when I might be allowed to leave the village. The invividual with whom I spoke told me that I should be able to leave via Bernard Drive. I once again left my home and I was once again forced to turn back at Lincoln Terrace and Bernard Drive.

When I returned home I again phoned the police department. I told the individual that I was still unable to make an exit from the village because the parade apparently included both available avenues. He seemed quite surprised to hear this, and I in turn was quite surprised, and dismayed, to learn that this person of public responsibility did not even know the exact parade route or time of passage.

When I expressed my displeasure at this lack of information and of this entire situation he asked me if my desire to leave was an emergency. I told him that it was not and that I simply wished to exercise my right to come and go as I see fit and to spend my time as I desired.

My phone conversation with the police department proved fruitless so I returned to Bernard Drive and Lincoln Terrace and waited for the parade to complete it's passage. At approximately 1:45 p.m. I was able to make my exit.

While these events were quite displeasing to me personally, my purpose in giving you such a detailed account of this unfortunate predictament is not prompted by any desire to be consoled. My personal discomfort passed as soon as I had completed my exit. My reason for bringing this to your attention is to alert you, in your capacity of public responsibility, to a situation which placed every citizen of this village in jeopardy.

The individual at the police department had asked me if my desire to leave was an emergency. Mine was not. . . but what if it had been? What if a pregnant woman, or what if a child with acute appendicitis, or what if . . . the list of 'what-ifs' is endless, of course. Tragedy knows no restriction. When it strikes it does so swiftly and unannounced. Our only defense is an equally swift response. We have learned through painful experience, even in this very village, that each moment we waste we do not simply lose; we donate it to disaster. For this reason alone our police and fire departments are ever on the alert to perform nins fotiioms alert to perform missions of mercy. How much time would a vehicle of mercy been delayed Sunday afternoon? Think about it for amoment. How much time would have been wasted in getting parade equipment and spectators out of the way? Not too much time? How much time does tragedy require? Less than we can afford speculating.

A parade is a wonderful thing and everyone loves a parade. In a manner it's a way of showing off. It's a community sticking out its chest. It's a display of p . . . and this e has aderi of pride . . . and this village has right to be proud - it has come a long way. How proud would have been Sunday had Tragedy assumed command? By the grace of God no tragedy occurred, but we cannot expect the Good Lord to act as our parademaster. This slight task is our responsibility and Sunday we performed pitifully.

I don't know who was charged with the duty of routing Sunday's parade, nor do I care. His authority must ultimately come from you. Only you can take the steps necessary to prevent a recurrence of this catastrophe-tempting situation. For this reason only do I express myself. Fate has favored us this time but let's not be foolish enough to leave the welfare of this village to chance again.

Criticizes Police Power To Shoot Boy

I want to extend hearty congratulations to the courageous souls n he Palatine police force who were responsible for the extermination of such hardened criminals as high school freshmen who menace the lives of decent citizens by carrying (but not using) knives and breaking into grocery stores. A job well done, boys! Pretty soon you may be on to higher things like killing 17-year old boys instead of shooting 16-year-olds several times. Who knows, someday in the bright future of police tactics, you may even catch those who are experienced enough to "do a job" without advertising their presence by breaking glass.

At any rate, we find citizens can feel proud and secure that the brave Palatine cops are blotting out such dangerous and undesirable elements in our society. Perhaps we can solve the racial problem by using the same methods?

What is the matter here anyway? If no one admits that this is the biggest injustice that Palatine has seen in years, then that person has just moved into our "just" village which allows police to kill those who disregard warning shots after fleeing from a relatively minor incident. I do not blame the police; I blame the laws or authority which enables the police to do this. If there is no such authority, I would hold the Palatine police officer personally responsible for the death of Bernard Azure.

Let's take a look at the nature of those paragons of justice, "warning shots." Supposedly, an officer can shoot a person trying to excape from a crime if he ignores preliminary warning shots. This is based on the police idea that the offender in question will make the intelligent and rational decision that he will be shot if he does not halt. Can an intelligent and rational decision be made by a boy who is probably scared out of his mind?

If I broke into some small grocery store and started to run away from the police and their warning shots, even if I wasn't terrified I would keep on running for I'd never believe that I'd be killed for such a ridiculous reason. If the science of psychology and the billion dollar advertising industry are convinced that most people are incapable of making these "intelligent and rational." decisions, I would hate to have some local olice law think otherwise, especially when my life might depend on it. I blame the law.

I never knew Bernard Azure, but in coming home from my summer job I have to walk from the train station at 1:30 a.m. It would not please me at all if some misguided soul took me for an armed hitchhiker and I suffered the same unjust and unfortunate fate as Bernard Azure.

Anyway, I can always rest assured that the stout-hearted men in blue of Palatine are keeping law and order.

Denies Taxpayer Group Is 'Front' for Birch Society

In last week's Fence Post a letter from Mr. Kenneth F. Haas of Elk Grove Village attempted to label the recently formed Taxpayer's Association as a front organization for the Birch Society.

The Taxpayer's Association does not feel that we should dignify these charges by addressing our response to Mr. Haas, as his analysis of this group's objectives and actions was completely distorted.

However the District 214 School Board is scheduled to make its decision on accepting or rejecting direct federal aid for a Youth-Corps drop-out program at the Sept. 13 school board meeting. With this in mind and in view of Mr. Haas' comments, it is important that the school administration and the school board be given a few facts about the taxpayer's organization. These facts are:

1 — We are not a front for any organization, political or otherwise.

2 — We welcome the support and suggestions of all District 214 citizens who are interested in preventing questionable tax-dollar spending during this era of spiraling local, state and federal taxes.

3 — We will continue to support the sound education programs which are necessary in order to maintain the high quality educational instruction which our children currently enjoy. Likewise, we will speak out against and offer constructive criticism on any questionable school district programs and expenditures.

This basically sums up our organization and our objectives. The school board and the school administration are well aware of our reasons for opposing the federal aid Youth Corps program for this district. We feel that our reasons for opposition to the program are valid. Also we believe that the alternative plan submitted by our group is a sounder approach to helping the drop-out student, and that our plan would help somewhat in conserving our local and federal tax dollar.

District 214 Taxpayer's Association.

We're Printing More Papers Than Ever Before . . . .

Again this year, as in the past years, our press runs are constantly increasing. We print more papers because we have more readers . . . the highest readership we have ever had.

In 1964 for example, our circulation was 6% higher than in 1963 which was 8% higher than in 1962 which was 6% higher than in 1961. This steady increase of readers reflects the value and importance of Paddock Publications in the Northwest Suburbs.

The Paddock papers give readers and advertisers what they expect and demand in a substantial newspaper. Readers get the best in news, picture features and advertising.

Advertisers get the coverage, the readership and the reader interest they want. And Paddock gets the job of continuing to meet the growing demands of readers and advertisers . . . the increased figures prove we are doing our job well.

Benefits Increased For State Unemployed

Major amendments to the Illinois Unemployment Compensation Act raising weekly benefit amounts for qualified claimants, and making other changes, went into effect Sept. 5.

The changes in the law were made by the legislature after recommendations were received from the Governor's Unemployment Compensation Advisory Board consisting of representatives of industry, labor and the general public.

Mrs. Shirley Stambor, manager of the unemployment compensation office at 601 Lee St., Des Plaines, said that higher weekly benefits will be paid to some claimants by reason of the raising of the ceilings on weekly benefit amounts.

NEW TOP weekly benefits for claimants without dependents is $42; previous ceiling was $38. For claimants with a non-working spouse and no dependent children the new high is $50; the former high $43.

For claimants with one dependent child the new high is $55; previous high was $47. Claimants with two dependent children may receive up to $60. Former high was $51.

Those with three dependent children may receive a high of $65 weekly. Previous ceiling was $55. Claimants with four or more dependent children have a high of $70; former high was $59.

Mrs. Stambor pointed out that, to qualify for the higher weekly benefit amounts, claimants must have been paid larger amounts of wages during the specified prior one year period. Thus, under the old law, an unemployed worker without dependents was eligible to receive the maximum benefit amount of $38 per week only if he earned at least $878 during the high quarter in his base year period. The same man with similar earnings today will still be entitled to receive only $38 a week, she said.

AGAIN, A MAN with four dependents was previously entitled to the maximum of $59 a week if he earned at least $1,508 during his high quarter. The same man with similar earnings today will also be entitled to benefits of $59 a week. In order to qualify for the new maximum of $70 a week, he would have to have earned at least $1,794 during his high quarter, she declared.

Mrs. Stambor stated that the new law also provides that in order to qualify for benefits an individual will be required to have been paid wages of at least $800 in covered employment during a previous one-year period; the former required amount was $750.

She pointed out that persons earning this minimum qualifying amount will be entitled only to minimum or near-minimum benefits. The minimum weekly benefit amount — $10 — has been left unchanged. (A15

Adults to Learn Kids' New Math

To help parents, teachers and other adults keep pace with the learning of students in elementary schools, a course in the "new mathematics" will open at the Museum of Science and Industry this week.

First of the eight classes will be held this Saturday, Sept. 11, at 10:30 a.m.

IT IS THE second series staged by the Museum this year on the same topic. The first, presented in late winter, was aimed more at the children who are now being introduced to this educational innovation.

The lectures, which have been made possible by a special grant from the Schwab Foundation, will again be given by Dr. Irwin K. Feinstein, professor of mathematics education at the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, and a consultant to more than 70 midwestern school systems. They will be presented in the Museum's Main Auditorium.

Each lecture will be accompanied by easily recognizable explanatory illustrations and followed by a quiz period.

IN HIS opening lecture Saturday, Dr. Feinstein will stress the teacher's role in introducing students to "New Mathematics" and the ways in which parents can be of supplementary aid during their children's homework periods.

Dates and titles of the following seven lectures are Sept. 18, "Why the New Mathematics?"; Sept. 25, "What's New about the 'New Mathematics'?"; Oct. 2, "Sets: The Unifying Concept of the 'New Mathematics' "; Oct. 9, "Numbers, Real and Imaginary"; Oct. 16, "The Role of Mathematical Logic"; Oct. 23, "Geometry in the 'New Mathematics' "; and Oct. 30, "Number Systems and Their Properties." 2 of 3 Teen Deaths Termed 'Violent'

Violent death, either by accident, homicide or suicide, accounted for two out of every three "teen-ager" deaths in the state last year, according to Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health.

Of the total 745 deaths in the 15 to 19 age group, 580 were assignable to five leading causes: accidents, 387; cancer, 65; homicide, 57; pneumonia, 36, and suicide, 35. Of these five causes, only cancer represents a classification that is generally considered not "preventable."

"IN OTHER WORDS," Yoder said, "seven out of every 10 of these deaths could have been avoided by one means or another. Further, it is safe to venture that one-half of all deaths among teen-agers can be prevented by the teen-ager himself, either through his own control or through his direct influence on others."

In the accidents that claimed more than half of the young lives, 253 were motor vehicle fatalities. In most instances, the victim could have prevented his own death, either by more careful driving or by his own influence on the driver of the car.

Aid for Retarded Described in Guide

Special day schools, public education classes and public and private residential care services for the mentally retarded are listed in a new statewide directory prepared by the Illinois Council for Mentally Retarded Children.

The 55-page directory lists types of services offered, hours, fees and pupil or patient requirements for varied facilities. Information on the number of special education classes in public schools and a contact person for parents' attention is given for every county in the state. Community associations, which work to provide and improve services, are listed with meeting times and places.

The directory, which costs one dollar, is available by writing the council at 343 S. Dearborn St., Chicago.

The council, state unit of the National Association for Retarded Children, coordinates the educational, recreational and welfare services of 40 member units.

TWO ARE members are Bonaparte School, Thorndale Road, Bensenville, operated by Community Welfare for Mentally Retarded Children and the Countryside Farm School, Shirley Road, Palatine, operated by the Countryside Association for Retarded Children.

The council will benefit from a special preview, open to the public, of the Home Furnishing Arts Fair from 6 to 10 p.m. Friday, Sept. 24 at McCormick Place. Tickets are $1.50. (A 15

State Display Shows Parallel Of Art, History

Parallels in the development of art and the history of Illinois can be seen in the exhibit "Arts and Crafts in Old Illinois" at the Illinois State Museum in Springfield.

The exhibit, first of its kind at the museum, is the result of months of searching in books, private homes, historical societies' archives and other museums for paintings, prints, sculpture, furniture and crafts made before 1900 within the state's boundaries.

The Illinois State Museum is open from 8:30 to 5 p.m. on weekdays, including Saturday, and from 2 to 5 p.m. on Sundays. (A15

What for your soul?

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?
—St. Matthew 16:26

Present a house plan to a contractor and he will give you a reasonable estimate of what it will cost you to build a new home. But, ask a man how much his soul is worth and you have posed an entirely different type of problem.

Through the centuries, the words quoted above have caused men to stop, think and consider carefully actions and propositions of endless nature. The lesson in the words is clear and simple and if we but try, we understand that the value of any achievement or recognition is directly related to the manner in which it is accomplished.

Modern Christians should recall these words often. They may bring strength when strength is needed, when we may seem inclined to forget that the price of something we want is far more than we should be willing to pay.
